JAMES M. COX

Ohio Governor Nominated for the Presidency by Democratic Convention After One of the Longest Deadlocks in History of National Political Parties

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, was nominated for the presidency early this morning by the Democratic national convention in the breaking of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of national political parties.

It took 44 ballots to make the choice, and it was not until the 38th, when Attorney General Palmer withdrew from the race, that the long session of roll calls showed any definite trend.

In the turnover of the Palmer delegates, Cox gained the advantage over William G. McAdoo, his rival for first place since early in the balloting, and that advantage never was lost.

With its choice made, the convention adjourned to noon today to name a candidate for the vice presidency.

Favor Roosevelt For Second Place.

Should it be decided to give second place on the ticket to the East, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy, seemed to be a favorite, but if the nomination goes to the west, there are several possibilities talked about by the leaders.

Supporters of Governor Cox won a way to the nomination by persistent battling at the McAdoo and Palmer forces in many states throughout a long series of shifts.

As anticipated, Lowell's observance of Independence day this year was strictly of the safe and sane variety and not in many years has a Fourth passed into history with as little tumult and excitement as the 1920 anniversary.

It was a day of real enjoyment, minus the unhappy incidents that have invariably accompanied previous Fourth's when a noisier celebration has been undertaken. There wasn't a serious accident reported all day and although the observant person noted more drunkenness than on an ordinary prohibition era day, it was nothing in comparison.

ings and rallies which left now one and the other of the candidates in the lead.

On the opening ballot Friday, the Ohio governor was in third place. He soon passed Palmer, however, and on the 12th ballot went ahead of McAdoo. Then began a see-sawing between the Cox and McAdoo totals which at the end of the 39th roll call at midnight, found the two virtually the same.

Nomination Made Unanimous

On the 42nd ballot the negation of most of the Palmer strength to Cox put

On the 43rd he got a majority for the first time of all the votes cast and on the 44th he was plunging toward the required two-thirds when Colorado changed its vote to him and made the nomination obvious. It was made unanimous on motion of Sam R. Amidon of Kansas, vice chairman of the national committee and a leader of the McAdoo forces.

Of the 44 ballots two were taken last Friday night, 11 at the first session Saturday and six at the Saturday night session. There were 22 recorded yesterday, 14 at the all-day session and eight last night.

Cox Began With 131 Votes

Cox began the night with 131 on the first ballot and climbed steadily until the 15th, when he had 168. His lowest vote after that was on the 35th, the first taken at last night's session when it fell to 27.

A curious thing in the voting for McAdoo was that he received 255 on the first ballot, the lowest cast for him, and 265 on the last ballot, his high-water mark was 457 on the 40th ballot. At that time Cox had 420.

Palmer opened with 134 votes. His highest vote was 247½ on the seventh ballot.

Adoo and surged upward the McAdoo managers made a desperate fight to stop it in time. Their candidate twice had held the lead and lost it, however, and many delegates supporting him had given up hope that he ever could be nominated. On the last four ballots McAdoo lost steadily, several solid state delegations deserting his banner for that of the leader.

Stumped by Cox

Besides the scattering Palmer delegates, who at first had swung to McAdoo drifted over into the Cox camp in increasing numbers and the Ohio man began to take a commanding place in the balloting. Once he had more than a majority the fight was easy. At the end of another day of furious struggle, the convention stamped to Cox, dumping aside its rules and made his nomination unanimous with a roaring shout.

Terrific Unrest Follows Nomination

A terrific uproar followed. The whole mass of delegates threw themselves into a final wild demonstration, greater than any of the orgies of noise that had preceded, in the midst of the din, Chairman Robinson succeeded in restoring a semblance of order to get the adjournment until noon so that Governor Cox's wishes as to his terminable could be learned.

E. M. Moore of Youngstown, national committeeman from Ohio, and leader of the tireless and uphill fight that won the nomination for the Ohio governor said it had been made without promises.

46 Ballots at Baltimore in 1912

The struggle was exceeded in voting duration in democratic annals only by the fight at Baltimore in 1912 which gave the president his first nomination on the 46th ballot.

Fresh from an over Sunday study of the 22 ballots taken last week, the convention went to work Monday ap-

COX KISSES WIFE ON LEARNING RESULT

DAYTON, Ohio, July 6.—Governor James M. Cox, who was nominated for the presidency by the democratic convention early today, declined to make a statement regarding his victory until after he has received notification from the convention.

The governor received the news of his nomination in his newspaper office, the Dayton News, surrounded by fellow newspaper workers and a few relatives and intimate friends. When the Associated Press wires flashed the news of the nomination, his first act was to cross the room and kiss his wife.

He then left the building and walked a few blocks to the home of his closest personal friend, John A. McMahon, aged 57, dean of Dayton lawyers, to whom he wished personally to give the news.

Mrs. Cox was highly elated over the nomination of her husband, and immediately sent a telegram to her father, Thomas P. Blair, of Chicago.

Governor Cox planned to visit the graves of his mother this morning. His mother, Mrs. Gilbert Cox, died at the age of 85 several years ago. She lived to see him inaugurated governor for his first term.

Chairman Urges Speed

Leaders had no predictions to make, although they then thought Cox, with a lead of some 60 votes over McAdoo and more than 200 over Palmer on the 22nd roll call, which events proved to be just the half way point, had a decided advantage. Neither Palmer nor McAdoo supporters were daunted, however, and the 23rd roll call, first of the 22 more the convention was to go through during the day and night to follow, showed their forces relatively as strongly entrenched as ever. Time and again, the rival forces launched their noisy demonstrations in an effort to force the issue. The roll calls went through swiftly except for those interruptions. Chairman Robinson and his aides on the platform kept up constant pressure for speed. No noon recess was taken.

Galleries Again Jammed

The convention drove ahead through two new surges, one toward Palmer and the other toward McAdoo, neither of which produced any decided results. All three of the leaders were going strongly when a dinner recess gave opportunity for the final setting of lines on which the battle would be carried to a finish.

The galleries again were jammed and delegates were keyed up to a point where shouts and cheers greeted changes of single votes. A slight continued gain for McAdoo on the first night ballot sent his partisans off into a roaring, gesticulating parade about the hall in which western and southern state standards were prominent, but which no amount of shouting could induce New York or Pennsylvania to join. New York had reached a division of 20 for McAdoo and 10 for Cox, on which it stuck throughout, while Pennsylvania as steadily had voted 73 of its 76 delegates for Palmer.

With the 37th ballot, however, Palmer strength took another drop. Amidst wild jubilation by McAdoo supporters, Chairman Robinson fought for order and led former Representative Carlisle of Virginia, Palmer's manager,

Fate of Fishermen Unknown—Fire Believed to Have Been Set by Bolsheviks

TOKIO, July 6.—Fire has swept the entire fishing district on the western shore of the Sea of Okhotsk, which was leased to Japan under the treaty of Portsmouth, according to a wireless report. The financial loss is estimated at $4,000,000 and so far the fate of the fishermen along the coast is unknown.

The Hokkaido Fisheries company has asked the government to despatch warships to the scene to investigate the origin of the fire, which is believed to have been set by Bolsheviks.

WHY? Echo WHY!

IT has become known that a gang of false key workers, presumed to be followers in the train of Kingling, Thors, and Warren A. Bailey's circus, operated in Lowell last week. Valuables are missing in a number of apartments, Stable Door and the Horse. The door is still there but the horse is gone.

There are doubtless hundreds of living places in Lowell where people persist in hiding money or valuables.

That money or other articles are hidden, indicates that owners appreciate their danger, yet do not recognize their folly. There is but one safe place—that is a SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX. Robber's false key does not fit our kind of lock—our steel vaults do not fit the robber's business methods.

Mr. George N. Spyromenos, of this city and a Harvard College student, enters the employ of the Middlesex Trust Co. this present week. The rapid growth of the Greek population in Lowell and the attending increase of Greek bank business requires means, he made this step a necessity with us.

TO RETURN ALIEN ENEMY PROPERTY

WASHINGTON, July 6.—More than $150,000,000 of enemy property taken over by an alien property custodian during the war will be returned to its original owners under an amendment to the trading with the enemy act passed June 5.

This property is part of the more than a billion dollars worth of enemy property held by the alien property custodian. It includes the fortunes of many American heiresses who married foreign noblemen, property of the German embassy, enemy diplomats, all aliens interned, citizens of new nations and states, and women of allied or neutral countries who married enemy subjects.

Americans held in Germany on account of illness, or for other reasons, can now recover their property.

The amendment extends the privilege to pursue enemy debtors to creditors of allied and neutral nations where such nations will grant reciprocal rights to American creditors.

Secured by Local Legion

At the court house on Gorham street tomorrow morning, there will be a session of the naturalization court for the convenience of ex-service men and members of the American Legion. Clerk Dillingham will be assisted by four examiners and all ex-service men are invited to attend as this session is specially for their benefit.

Those who want assistance in making out their papers should call at the Legion rooms this evening where they will get all the assistance required. The Legion appealed to the court for this service in Lowell as they had been taking batches of members to Boston for naturalization, paying their fares and the expenses of bringing witnesses with them.

The officers of the Legion appeal for a large attendance of the ex-service men who are not yet naturalized.

GET MOTOR FUEL FROM MOLASSES

A substitute for gasoline has been found! Not an ordinary imitation, but a fuel that, its inventor claims, will be cheaper, more efficient and more plentiful than the gasoline used today.

The fuel is a "motor alcohol" extracted from molasses by a process invented by J. P. Foster, chemist on a sugar plantation on the island of Maui, in the Hawaiian group. The new fuel has stood the test and has given more power, increased mileage and greater speed per gallon than gasoline, reports say. Easier starting and freedom from carbon also are claimed for it.

Nearly 70 gallons of the fuel can be obtained from a ton of molasses, says Foster.

BEWARE RUSTY RIMS

Since iron rust eats into canvas quickly, rims should be examined and kept clean at all times. Rust should be removed by sandpapering, after which it should be coated with graphite or thin shellac. Stove polish will do.

AUTO TALK

Watching for a cop, while you know you're violating a traffic ordinance, may be easy in any city except Los Angeles. There, any passer-by may bring you to your doom. The mayor has organized a vigilance committee to watch for traffic lawbreakers. So, be careful when passing through Los Angeles.

WATCH THE NEW CAR

The new car should be watched closely and should be gone over after every trip. Every nut and bolt should be kept tight. The engine parts are most important for a defect here will result in mistaking and poor carburetion. Inspections should be made frequently for the first 1000 miles, until the car will have worn in somewhat.

Through the suggestion of a lawyer, motorists of Rochester, N. Y., have started a movement to help street car travellers and relieve the jams morning and evening. "Why wait? Ride with us," reads a sign on the windshield of each car whose driver has joined the movement—which is an invitation for waiting pedestrians to hop in and ride downtown. The lawyer who started this is John J. McInerney, counsel for the Rochester Auto club.

HOW TO KEEP AUTO IN GOOD CONDITION

To keep your automobile in good condition, the following things should be attended to regularly:

1. Storage battery inspected every two weeks.
2. Grease cups turned up every 1000 miles.
3. Springs oiled weekly.
4. Oil and gasoline connections inspected weekly.
5. Crank case drained and washed out every 500 miles.
6. Universal joints packed with grease or oil every 1000 miles.
7. Differential and transmission packed with grease or oil every 1000 miles.
8. Spark plugs cleaned every 1000 miles.
9. Carbon removed from cylinders twice a year.
10. Valves ground every 5000 miles.
11. New piston rings every 18 months.
12. Wheels aligned once a month.
13. Wheel bearings inspected monthly.
14. Carburetor cleaned monthly.
15. Self-starter inspected monthly.
16. Steering wheels and knuckles inspected weekly.

WHO SAID "PLEASURE?" ASK AUTO DEALERS

NEW YORK, July 3.—That automobiles should be classed as "pleasure cars" is more than local dealers here can tolerate. They voice their indignation at the government's classification in their bulletin, in the following terms:

"Once more it is necessary to bring to the attention of a few that the word 'pleasure' does not fit in as an adjective. It created havoc in many minds during the war, and only recently a Washington committee insisted on classifying the automobile business with silk shirts, cosmetics, imported perfumes, etc. An automobile compared to a sweet smell for usefulness!

"But the automobile representative came back with an unanswerable argument—to stop every automobile in the United States from running for a period of ten days—a test that immediately flattened all further thoughts along that line.

"The more we hammer home the utilitarian purposes of our products the further we convince the public of a proper realization of their necessity.

"Stop that word pleasure!"

Safe and Sane Fourth Here

with the spectacles that the streets presented every Fourth of July a few years back.

The weather man must be credited with the most patriotic of motives for never did he behave better than yesterday and Sunday. There were few vestiges of Saturday's storm left when the city woke up Sunday morning and everybody got "set" for two days of unalloyed enjoyment.

Sunday passed quietly enough until the few hours just before midnight when the enthusiastic spirits, able to stand the restraint no longer, started a barrage of fireworks that was destined to continue with more or less regularity until midnight last night.

Under the auspices of the city government a series of band concerts was given during the afternoon and evening, each of which attracted a large audience. The Lowell Military band entertained a large crowd on the South common from 3 to 5 p. m. under the direction of Edward A. Perry and from 5 to 10 o'clock the U. S. Cartridge Co. band, William Regan, conductor, played in the same place. The Lowell Cadet band, with Conductor J. J. Giblin handling the baton, entertained at the Chelmsford Street hospital from 6 to 8 p. m. and at the Highland club from 8 to 10 p. m. the U. S. Cartridge Co. band did duty. A rather high wind interfered a bit with some of the concerts, but on the whole, they were thoroughly enjoyed. The South common midway was the real nucleus of Monday's observance. All day Sunday it presented a more or less desultory appearance with only a few refreshment stands attempting to do business, but promptly at midnight the lid was blown off with a bang and things began to whirl.

The common attracted its usual thousands during the day and, despite the disappointment of a rainy Sunday afternoon, most of the stands reported a profitable week-end.

At sunrise, noon and sunset chimed

pealed out from various local churches in glad tidings. In the evening the outstanding feature of the municipal observance, the fireworks display on the South common, attracted thousands to the South common and entertained other thousands in all parts of the city who could easily see the brilliant rocket pieces sent whizzing into the air. It was easily one of the best exhibitions of its kind ever presented in Lowell and rarely has such perfect weather marked this annual feature of the Fourth's observance.

It was 9:15 before the exhibition got underway on the Highland street slope of the common. A large area had been roped off and a squad of policemen under the direction of Lieut. Martin Connors and Sergt. Hugh Maguire kept the crowd at a distance. Once the fireworks display got started and sparks began to fall, the crowd needed no other urging to keep back a safe distance.

The National Fireworks Co. had arranged a most pretentious display, and C. E. Hill, who had charge of setting off the pieces, did his work rapidly and without mishap. James J. Gallagher, local agent for the company, assisted.

The feature of the display was the "Solge of Verdun," a set piece endeavoring to reproduce the thrilling effect of that great bombardment, and succeeding with thundering effect. This piece seemed literally to shake the entire city. Other ground pieces included "The Blazing Sun," "Niagara Fall," serpentine representations and fortune wheels. The rockets soared high into the air in their usual brilliancy and were visible from every section of the city.

The first aid tents on the South common established by the municipal authorities were a brand new feature of Fourth of July observances and were eminently successful. From midnight Sunday until midnight Monday 81 people were treated, none of them seriously hurt but, nevertheless, in such a condition as to appreciate the convenience of the tents.

Lost children, a few Jamaica ginger imbibers, a heat prostration and a variety of other minor ills and mishaps were included in the day's work. The most serious case to come to the attention of the board of health nurses was that of a veteran of the world war who was suffering from a return of shell shock.

The doctors who did duty were Dr. Francis Flanagan, Dr. Edward Welch, Dr. George F. Calse and Dr. Thomas F. Carroll. They were assisted by the regular board of health nurses who worked in shifts of three hours each and by Napoleon Millot, a male nurse. Several residents of Summer street allowed their telephones to be used at any time to call the ambulance or for whatever other purpose the first aid authorities wished to use them. The younger element of the city's population got their full share of enjoyment from private stocks of fireworks and even the most residential section of the community was not free from reverberations produced by some penny firecracker set off by a young enthusiast.

The dual holiday and delightful weather attracted hundreds of Lowell people to nearby resorts and a heavy travel was reported by the railroad officials. Others simply remained at home and rested. It was a quiet holiday, but none the less successful.

"WILD BILL" ENDICOTT SMASHES RECORDS

BOSTON, July 6.—"Wild Bill" Endicott, dean of all dirt track drivers, marked his return to the automobile racing game yesterday by smashing the state record for half-mile tracks, incidentally he cleaned up all trophies and cash prizes at the first motor car races at Hingham, Mass.

He made two laps of the small Medford track in 1 minute 11 seconds. Under nerve and skill kept his front wheel from swinging through the guard rails at each turn. Some 3000 people within the park and an equal number of spectators on roof tops and surrounding hills cheered the gritty driver as he performed other spectacular feats against a field of veteran drivers.

The races were held under the rules of the New England Automobile Racing association. It was an experiment to test the practicability of holding similar contests on small dirt tracks throughout New England. Had the races been held on a paved track, would have been mishaps time and again. From the start the entire track was shrouded in dust and it was impossible to identify cars or drivers as they skidded around the turns.

"Wild Bill" is one of the oldest men in the racing game today, and he simply played with all other contestants. In the first race, he eliminated four cars in four minutes. Quinn, driving a Maxwell special, was the first overtaken. He had a quarter lap start. Penn, driving a Buick, was another quick starter. On the start, and he was disposed of in about a minute's time. The other driver, Allen, found his Mercer no match against the clever headwork of "Wild Bill" even though he had nearly a whole lap handicap.

Perhaps the prettiest race of all was the final Ajax Trophy event. Here Cunningham, in a Zip, and Endicott, in his high speed, raced neck and neck for 15 laps, with the latter a winner on the last straightaway. Quinn blew a tire in this race, and at a time when he was leading. In spite of the mishap he kept going for a whole lap on a bare rim. But as one after the other contestants passed him, he was forced to return to the pits.

Gauthier, in a Briscoe Special got third place in the trophy race. A large silver cup, donated by the Ajax Rubber company, was awarded to Endicott.

Another feature of the afternoon's motor sports was an exhibition race between Endicott and Miss Zenita Neville of New York. On the last lap of their mile race, the woman driver forced Endicott to the outside of the track, and in slowing down to avoid collision, Endicott was beaten in the final sport.

K. OF C. DEFEATS PITTS' SOUTH ENDS

The Knights of Columbus got a romp on Pitts' South Ends in the first of their five-game series for the semi-professional championship of the city at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon, defeating the South common bolt terrors, 2 to 1, before a good-sized holiday crowd.

The game was more or less nip-and-tuck until the sixth inning. Manager Lyons' men had scored in the first inning, but until the sixth it was anybody's game. In that inning the Knights touched the bases up for three singles that produced two runs. The Knights got another in the seventh on a base on balls and McVeys two-bagger.

Walter Foye was the luminary at the bat, with his three-bagger in the second and single in the sixth. Ed. Cawley pitched a big league game for the Knights while the exception of the sixth. Devin had the ball under great control. It was one of the best holiday games seen here for some time. The score:

LEONARD KNOCKS OUT WHITE IN NINTH

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., July 6.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, knocked out Charlie White of Chicago, in the ninth round of the scheduled 10-round championship fight before a capacity crowd here yesterday afternoon. White carried the fighting to the champion for seven rounds and a half, knocking and pushing the New Yorker through the ropes in the fifth round.

The Chicagoan, who had never been knocked out before, was floored five times in the ninth round and was counted out while lying on his back. A series of rights and left hooks to the chin finished the challenger. The men met at catchweights. Leonard scaled 137 1/2 and White 131 at 11 o'clock in the morning. Several thousand women were in the crowd.

There was a riot when the fight ended and the spectators scrambled over the seats into the ring, breaking down the press section and injuring several ringriders. None of them was seriously hurt.

Round 1.—Both danced around the ring a minute before Leonard hooked two light lefts to White's head. White kept backing away while Leonard tried to fight him out for an opening. White landed the first solid blow, a left hook to Leonard's jaw. Leonard put a light left to White's mouth and the Chicagoan clinched. The round was exceedingly tame, neither boxer landing a half dozen punches.

Round 2.—Leonard shot his right to White's head and the Chicagoan tried for a left hook. Leonard danced around the slow moving Chicagoan and landed two lefts to the stomach. Leonard traded with a right and White missed a left hook to the chin and hit Leonard's head. There were kisses from the crowd as the fighters went to their corners.

Round 4.—Leonard landed on White's back with a right hook and White missed a right swing. The Chicagoan missed Leonard to the ropes but was unable to begin. White left with his right and Leonard shot him with a right hook to the side of the face.

Round 5.—Leonard shot a left jab to White's nose and cracked him on the ribs with a right. White slammed Leonard on the ribs with a right and drew blood from the nose with a right.

Round 6.—After a right exchange, Leonard landed a right hander on the chin and White dropped in his hands and knees. White did not wait for the count and as he struggled to his feet, Leonard flew at him, dropping him again. White rose slowly at eight.

Round 7.—White made Leonard's head snap with a left to the nose and the champion retaliated with a solid left to the body. White knocked Leonard into the ropes and Leonard, returned with a hard blow to the body. The champion missed a right uppercut to the jaw and Leonard put a left jab to White's body.

COX NOMINATED

After a long and tiresome contest the democratic convention at San Francisco nominated for president of the United States, Governor James M. Cox of Ohio. The Cox forces won the victory on the 44th ballot after making a fight against the strong influence of Mr. McAdoo that has rarely been paralleled in national conventions.

On the whole, the instant verdict will be that the convention nominated their strongest candidate, Governor Cox comes from a strong republican state in which he is serving his third term as chief executive. He is the editor and publisher of two large and successful daily papers besides being a farmer and a business man of wide experience. In political matters he has proved himself to be a natural leader and a constructive statesman of great ability. It appears that he is the man for the present emergency to harmonize conflicting elements, to restore confidence in the democratic party and lead it to victory at the polls in November.

First elected governor in 1912, he has been twice re-elected over strong republican opposition so that there is little doubt of his ability to carry the state in the presidential contest with his opponent Senator Harding, the republican nominee. He has to his credit a long list of very important reforms in the state of Ohio and the readiness with which he has been able to meet every situation calling for unusual executive ability has marked him as a man capable to deal with affairs of the greatest national importance.

During his incumbency as governor he has had to deal with many labor conflicts in the mines and other industries of Ohio, but in no case has he allowed the conflicting elements to get away from the ordinary restraints of law. He has had the honor of maintaining law and order without the assistance of the military forces when it was supposed that outbreaks would occur and turbulent elements break out in mob violence. Governor Cox, proved equal to the occasion in every case restraining the radicals and bringing about agreements through conference of labor organizations with their employers and averting serious result.

In spite of the great influence exerted in behalf of Mr. McAdoo, it appears that the democratic convention exercised the best judgment possible in nominating Governor Cox. Had Mr. McAdoo been nominated, although he is a very able official, his connection with President Wilson and the cognomen of "Crown Prince" with which he has already been dubbed, would kill his chances. Those who looked to the democratic convention to destroy its chances of success by lack of harmony or lack of judgment have miscalculated in the present case. From first to last the convention was conducted more successfully and more in accordance with advanced ideas of political procedure than was the republican convention. The democrats have chosen a stronger standard bearer than have the republicans and they can now enter upon the campaign with most encouraging prospects of success.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Very few democrats believed that from such discordant elements could come such harmony as is represented in the platform of the democratic party. Throughout the proceedings, the convention was managed much better than the Chicago performance.

The platform is a remarkably strong declaration of policies and principles. Where the republican platform is weak and evasive, the democratic is strong, direct and positive. On the League of Nations the democratic party has taken a high moral ground which stands out in striking contrast with the republican plank on this great issue.

In passing over the prohibition question in silence the party turned aside a strong element that sought a plank favoring light beer and wines. On this question silence was golden.

The plank on Mexico is particularly clear and unambiguous of being misunderstood. When the new government shall have given proof of its ability to maintain law and order and of its willingness to meet its international obligations and treat American investors within her borders with full justice, then and not till then will the party favor the recognition of the Mexican republic.

On the matter of railroads the platform points out that the Esch-Cummings bill passed hurriedly in the closing hours of congress gave the president a choice between this measure and a chaotic condition in the railroad system. But it is held that the law should get a full and fair test so that the actual needs of the railroads may be accurately determined and provided for.

Thus, every subject touched—and none of importance was overlooked—is treated with sound judgment and in accord with the most progressive ideals of public policy. The party had not been appealing to the country for platform ideas—of these there was no scarcity—and yet each and all it touched was dealt with in a masterly manner.

The chief subject upon which the party can congratulate itself is, that the platform controversies were all thrashed out in a thoroughly democratic manner without leaving any sores that might rankle in the flesh to be felt in cutting down the party majority in November.

So far as the platform is concerned, the democratic party has far outdone the republican and can appeal to the people in November with confidence of victory. The outlook for success is much better than could have been assumed before the convention. In the past the party was twitted with making a mess of things but in this case it has steered safely through a stormy sea set with dangerous reefs and emerged without a jolt or scar.

WOMEN SHOULD REGISTER

It seems to be assured that the woman suffrage amendment will be ratified by the requisite number of states to make it a part of the constitution before the summer is over. The governor of Vermont has promised to call a special session of the legislature to act on the matter, and it is believed that there is not any question but that such action will be favorable. The governor of Tennessee has already called upon the legislators of his state to meet August 8 and it is said to be a foregone conclusion that they will vote for ratification.

There is now keen rivalry between the parties as to which will have the honor of furnishing the 36th state to complete the ratification of the 19th amendment. The democratic platform appeals to Florida and North Carolina as well as Tennessee on this point.

Unfortunately in some of the states, owing to the laws governing registration, women will not be permitted to vote for presidential electors next November despite a change in the federal constitution granting woman suffrage.

It is a cause for satisfaction, though, that in Massachusetts the election laws, as amended by the last legislature, are such that it is probable that no woman need miss an opportunity to express her preference for president and other elective officials this year, provided she will only take the trouble to see that her name is placed on the voting list.

Under the law, as it now reads, all women who are qualified to vote for school committee may register, and at the moment that the federal amendment is ratified, they will automatically become qualified to cast their ballots for all elective officers same as men.

It should not be necessary to urge upon women the importance of registering and taking a part in the affairs of government, now that the ballot is to be placed in their hands. Coming fresh to the polls, it would be admirable if they could start the custom of taking an active part in politics and shape the record of some of the male voters who, through laziness or lack of interest fail to vote.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

The city of Lowell is a big corporation. It holds a charter from the state the same as any other corporation. What might be termed its capital stock, its assets, and its expenditures run into many millions. It is its business to guard and protect property worth vast sums of money, to safeguard the lives of over a hundred thousand people, and to provide them with such public utilities as good streets, good schools and good water. Its business is vastly more extended and important than that of any of the corporations which it includes.

If we can get away from the idea that running the city government is irrevocably mixed up directly or indirectly with politics we shall probably have made a step toward greater efficiency than we now have. A big bill can be successfully operated only as a business proposition. The same is true of the municipality, but the business methods of the city are usually very lax.

It will be well if the new charter commission tackles the proposition that has been placed in its hands in the same way that its members would tackle a bad condition of affairs that existed in their own private business. If there is waste and inefficiency anywhere, it will be just as well to know it and the cause thereof before undertaking to tinker with the charter without knowing exactly what is wrong.

To get down to concrete facts, it is generally known that our city streets are, in many instances, in a deplorable condition. Is this due to the inefficiency, lack of technical training or wasteful methods of the present or past incumbents of the office? Is it due to lack of funds to keep the highways in proper repair? Is the cause to be found in some fundamental defect in our present charter as a result of which, under a commission form of government, our finances are not properly regulated and controlled?

These are some of the fundamental problems that the members of the charter commission may find it worth while to consider.

News comes of a party of federal agents searching for moonshine stills, getting lost in a wilderness and being obliged to tramp 15 miles through jungles and underbrush. No, this didn't happen in the mountain regions of the south, but within a comparatively short distance of Springfield, Massachusetts. They found the moonshine, however, which repaid them for their hardships.

Another record was established for Lowell when the first classes ever conducted in a textile factory, for the instruction of workers under the supervision of the public school authorities, ended their work for the year at the Massachusetts mills. Agent Mitchell deserves congratulations on being a leader in this work.

Charles Sumner Bird says that he doesn't want to run for the republican nomination for governor because he wishes to do all that he can to promote party harmony. Mr. Bird may remember what the republicans are in the habit of doing when former progressives seek election to office.

By all means gentlemen get that label "made in Lowell" on your manufactured goods. It may be all right for you to hide your own light under a bushel, if you wish to do so, but that is no reason why you shouldn't do your part to keep the city's light from being hidden there also.

"Monarchist" was the name of the horse that won the first race since the war at the famous German course at Ruhleben. When Herr Wilhelm Hohenzollern heard the news did he give those famous monstaches an extra upward twist?

Perhaps there may be some connection between reports of a shortage of school teachers and the fact that the number of June weddings this year has broken all previous records.

Lowell will miss James F. Savage—a good citizen, a faithful public official and, for thirty-four years, clerk of the city police court.

It is reported that the prices for "jakey" have been doubled, but police court records do not indicate that consumption has greatly fallen off.

We can envy the G. O. P. one of its assets—Albert Edmund Brown, its vociferous, vigorous and versatile song leader.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Some day a Lowell back or store is going to make itself solid with the public by introducing a machine for laundering money. At least we may hope so. But, methinks, I hear some doubting Thomas exclaim: "What is laundering money? Why, tress you there is nothing so very new about that. I have an acquaintance, a woman, no longer young, who, when over a piece of paper currency that was soiled has been preserved in her household, has immediately turned it over to her maid with the instructions,

SEEN AND HEARD

"One day in the country is worth a month in town."

It is getting so the length of a skirt doesn't signify any more than the degree of the wearer's nerve.

And so Harding is to interpret the platform in his speech of acceptance. It's a big job to handle in one short speech.

Peer Habbey!

With many sobs and repetitions, the good woman had told her tale of woe to the English clergyman.

It was full of "B. Sec" and "I says to him" but the clergyman listened patiently till she had finished.

"I'm sorry, my dear lady," he said sympathetically. "Certainly your husband does seem to treat you rather unkindly. But remember that you took him for better or for worse."

"Well, it's allus bin for wuss, s'far as I kin see," replied the visitor dabbling her eyes with what only politeness could call a pocket handkerchief.

"Have you tried to cure him with kindness?" pleaded the man. "Have you tried heaping coals of fire on his head?"

"No, I ain't, sir," replied the woman grateful for the new idea. "So far, I've only tried 'ot water."

Rest and Quiet

Now comes the time when many persons, worn by noise and confusion of the city, go to the country for rest and quiet. There, while they lie awake in bed at night:

Insects hum, buzz, zizz, zipp, trill, chirp, quaver, whirr, tick and click! Frogs croak!

A rooster crows. Another answers. The first crows back!

With daylight the noises rise to a chorus of clucking hens, quacking ducks, peeping horses, moaning cows, squealing and grunting pigs, bawling sheep, while early-rising humans make more noise than all the rest combined!

The point of it is that one becomes accustomed to any familiar sound, while unusual noises are disturbing.

The noisiest place to a stranger is likely to be some thin-walled hotel at a crowded summer resort.

There are plenty of persons with strong nerves who are not easily disturbed. One such wrote to a summer resort to which he went last summer. He wishes to return. But he insists that he must have a room in the main building.

"I don't want the room I had last summer in the annex," he wrote seriously. "I'm kind of funny that way I can't sleep over a howling alley!"

Grandma

Grandma, with her silvery hair, sitting quiet in her chair, calm and placid, prudent, wise, bright, fitted to advise and guide. Sober, venerable, sage. Showing plainly marks of age—That is what we used to see. That's what grandma used to be.

Grandma, active, up-to-date. Lively and lively, strong and straight. Bright ten inches from the ground. At the helm a scant yard round. Gay and giddy, active, bright. Not too old to dance all night. Not too old for pleasure, sport or play—That's what grandma is today!

Me a Little!

He a little bit, Did not know, and not to be taken too seriously. But this is the point: You lie to your friends, you lie to your trade, you lie to your rivals. Why not be fair to your family? Why not lie a little at home? When you dine at the Smiths, you have a need of advice for every dish from cocktails to coffee. Mrs. Smith doesn't believe you utterly.

But she is pleased just the same. Why not lie a little to friend wife over her everyday dinner? When the Browns make their little Jimmie play the violin, you applaud and beg him to play again. Old Brown knows you don't mean it. But he's your friend for life. Well, you cheer your hands a couple of times, when your own child wheezes at the mouth organ? Or do you yell at him to "cut it out?"

When the Jones girl comes back from college with a cigaret case and a bull pup, you compliment her upon her individuality.

Then you go home and bawl out your own bopper, who is trying on her one-piece bathing suit.

Why not tell her that she makes the front row of the Folies look like the first act of Six Hopkins?

Why not be a bad habit.

But if you must indulge in lying, why not play fair?

Why not share it with the family?—Edmund Vance Cooke. (Copyright, 1920 N.E.A.)

"Here, Margaret, wash that." A number of big stores and banks in Boston New York and other cities have been operating machines for a number of years in which every piece of currency that is not worn beyond redemption is thoroughly cleansed before being returned to circulation. The next time you make a trip to Boston just notice the paper currency that comes into your hands and see if you do not find a larger proportion of clean bills than you ordinarily do at home. The machines that clean the money are apparently quite simple in operation. The soiled bills are dumped in at one end and from the other slides out a continuous stream of currency that has been thoroughly scrubbed, dried and pressed. In most cases the washed bills will have all the appearance of being brand new.

Rarely has there come to my attention a more appealing than that furnished in the banquet room of the Richardson hotel last Friday evening when half a hundred men and women employed in the Massachusetts mills received certificates testifying that they had completed a preliminary course in English and civics. These people, all foreign born, had given up their noon hours and time after work to acquire a knowledge of the English tongue and it would be hard to forget the joyful picture presented when these ambitious workers stepped forward to receive their certificates. There was a gleam of real delight and pride in their eyes as the culmination of months of laborious effort was reached and it must have warmed the hearts of the teachers and others who made this so possible, to see how greatly their efforts were appreciated.

ADVICE FOR GARDENERS

BY COUNTY BUREAU

We must control the lice or they will "can" our vegetables for us. A previous story told the lice situation, but gardeners have not watched their gardens carefully and the result now is that the gardens in all too many cases are being eaten up by these little aphids or lice. It is very difficult to hit these insects with spray material when the foliage starts curling. One should spray the under surface of the foliage with a fine mist of nicotine sulphate and soap, just as soon as the lice first make their appearance. It has not been done yet, it should be done now upon many of the vegetables. Lice will be found on radishes, turnips, cucumbers, carrots, parsnips, lettuce and most of the other vegetables. Parsnips seem to be most badly infested this year.

Those gardeners who have a three-gallon tank would do well to have made an angle elbow for use on the end of their short extension rod so that they can stand up straight and still spray upwards, thus reaching the under surface of the foliage. Soap should always be added to Black Leaf 40 when it is used alone. The usual suggestion is to use 1 1/2 teaspoons of Black Leaf 40 and one cubic inch of soap to one gallon of water. The soap helps as a spreader and sticker for the material.

Fill in Vacancies

The writer has been visiting gardens in the eastern part of the county recently and finds that the majority of the gardeners have had trouble getting a good start this year; there are lots of skips in their rows. These should be filled in just as soon as discovered. It has cost about so much per square foot to prepare the soil and fertilize the soil for the crop which will be entirely lost if the garden is not planted to its maximum. It is not too late to put in string beans and an early variety of sweet corn can still be sown this week. Cabbage, Kohlrabi, cauliflower, winter beets also may be set or planted at this time.

Watch Out For Two Diseases

Cucumbers and muskmelons sometimes have mysterious complaints and get the dying habit without any apparent cause. The two commonest of these ailments are "wilt" and "downy mildew." The latter is the most destructive pest in the way of a plant disease that hits the cucurbits, as the members of the family are known. It is a fungus disease and Bordeaux mixture is the remedy. It is an excellent idea to be on the safe side and give the cukes and melons a good spraying with Bordeaux as soon as they start to run. It is much easier than attacking the disease after it appears.

The symptoms are angular spots on the leaves, which at first are not well defined but later assume distinct form, the older leaves turning yellow and the small leaves at the ends of the vine going last. The under side of the leaves will show a faint purplish covering on these spots. This pest often does not appear at all. Again it will raise havoc. It generally appears the latter half of the summer. It is a good plan to use a little preventive.

"Wilt," just as its name denotes, is a general droop of the foliage of the vine which dies without any apparent good reason. An insect carries this spore which causes the trouble by clogging the veins of the plant. Bordeaux with some arsenate in combination is the remedy for this trouble.

Leaf blight sometimes attacks muskmelons and makes short work of them. It appears in the shape of round spots which rapidly increase in size. Bordeaux spraying is the remedy.

A wise gardener will spray his melons and cucumbers once every ten days with Bordeaux mixture as soon as they begin to make vine. The young growth should be sprayed with care. Whole crops may be saved by this preventive work.

Stop Cutting Asparagus

Ordinary years, commercial gardeners as well as home gardeners do not cut their asparagus much later than the latter part of June. This year the season has been a little late and growers have planned to cut through the 4th of July demand. By the end of this week there will be practically no commercial growers who think anything of their asparagus plants, cutting. Home gardeners should follow this practice. It is well to add a liberal application of quickly available fertilizer, or else a lot of hen manure in order that the plants may recover from the strain placed upon them during the cutting season and grow a large root system for the coming year.

In one day, last May, 9,000,000 marks were placed as bets on races in Germany.

TEXTILE WORKERS

Plan to Raise $1,000,000 Between Now and Labor Day

John Hanley of this city, a member of the international executive board of the United Textile Workers of America has received a communication from international headquarters instructing him to bring to the attention of the Lowell Textile council the matter of the $1,000,000 fund, which the United Textile Workers are planning to raise between now and Labor Day, and the subject will be explained by Mr. Hanley at the next meeting of the council Friday night.

The movement for the raising of a $1,000,000 fund started at the last meeting of the executive board of the United Textile Workers, which was held in New York May 30 to June 2, when it was voted to instruct the various councils of the organization to organize a campaign in their respective cities, each council to be given a quota and to raise its ascribed amount through subscriptions from the textile workers and the public if necessary.

In a recent interview on this matter, International President John Golden said there will be no general strike in the textile industry unless on reopening mills, which are at present shut down attempts are made to reduce wages or lengthen working hours.

"There is undoubtedly a depression in the textile industry, in spite of all arguments to the contrary presented by those who refuse to admit that conditions are not as prosperous as they have been for the past few days," Mr. Golden declared. "The overall clubs and 'wear old clothes' movements have taken a strong hold of a great many people and their effect is actually being felt to no little extent by the manufacturers. I believe, however, that in the natural course of events conditions will right themselves, and the market will come back strong again."

Mr. Golden told of his own observations, which have convinced him that even many business men of means have determined to "wear what clothes they have as long as they can."

"I think the majority of the workers understand the situation," Mr. Golden declared. "They are willing to cooperate with the manufacturers as far as possible. The manufacturers, however, should see that wage reductions and reductions in the forces are not the proper ways to go about the solution of this problem. A far more equitable way would be to reduce production by working part time—three or four days a week—without reducing the number of employees. In this way, when activity in the market is resumed, the manufacturer will have his organization intact and will be able to increase his production in proportion to the demand, without any serious difficulties."

"For these reasons, I think this solution is the most advantageous to the manufacturer, and fairest to the worker. Since it imposes no severe hardship on anyone."

The $1,000,000 fund which the textile workers are raising will be used as a "last line of defense" in the event of an attempt on the part of employers to take from the workers such concessions in wages and hours as they have obtained and does not mean, Mr. Golden pointed out, that the union is planning any fight, "unless forced to it."

"The name of the fund is self-explanatory," Mr. Golden said. "The individual unions have their own 'strike funds.' This new fund will be to defend conditions and wages the workers have already obtained."

The fact that many mills are shut down, and strikes are in progress in several other places; the international president said, might mean that a percentage of the total of $1,000,000 could not be raised at this time, but it would not defer launching of the campaign for the fund.

VICTORY MEDALS

FOR THE MARINES

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—Victory medals in commemoration of the world war will be issued not later than October 1, according to an announcement made today by the major general commandant of the marine corps. Following the delay in securing the proper ribbon and dies it was found that the marine corps could not begin its distribution until the army's needs had been provided for.

In addition to the battle clasps and citation stars authorized by the war department a considerable proportion of the marines, having served with the navy both ashore and afloat, are entitled to other marks authorized for certain service by the navy department. Accurate lists of all men who are entitled to battle clasps, citation stars and to the insignia authorized by the navy department, will be issued as early as possible to all posts and recruiting stations of the marine corps. Men who are entitled only to the medal and ribbon will not be shown on these lists but will be issued the medal and ribbon on presentation of their discharge certificates at posts and recruiting stations. Marines who are entitled to both the medal and any of the insignia authorized by the war or navy department will be carefully accounted for on the lists.

As fast as received a liberal supply of medals, ribbons, battle clasps, citation stars and the navy insignia will be forwarded to posts and recruiting stations and advanced publicity will be given in due time. A preliminary order for 75,000 medals has already been placed. The issuance of medals and insignia will be endorsed on the discharge certificate of each man now out of service.

plained to Tingaling after everybody had chosen a footstool to sit on. (You see, Tommy had nothing but footstools.) "I haven't enough cupboards to keep all my shoes in, and they are dreadfully in the way," he said. "You just ought to see my bedroom! There are shoes everywhere; I even have them hanging on the gas jet, and sitting on the window sills, and the mantel-piece and the bureau.

"Why don't you keep them in the drawers?" asked Tingaling. He didn't wish to bother the Fairy Queen about more cupboards just now for her tenants in the Land-of-Deer-Knows-Where, when carpenters were getting paid like goldsmiths. So he tried to help Tommy to find another way out of his dilemma.

"Drawers!" exclaimed Tommy in disgust. "And where, pray, do you suppose I keep my socks? I've got so many socks that I never can keep them sorted as it is, and half the time I go out with golf stockings on some of my legs and fancy silk ones of every color on the others. And darned baskets! You've no notion of what my weekly earnings are!"

Everybody was quiet at that, for everybody was trying to imagine what Tommy's weekly earnings would be like. It took so much multiplying to count a thousand times seven baths a week (which means clean clothes, of course) with extra additions for parties. Everyone knows you can't wear the same stocking to a party, that you've been digging garden in! (Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

FEDERAL RETURN ON CAPITAL STOCK

Forms for the federal return on capital stock, and copies of the tax regulations have been mailed from the office of Internal Revenue Collector John J. Mitchell to 16,000 corporations in Massachusetts that filed returns last year. It is estimated by revenue officials that about 2000 more corporations will be added to the records this year.

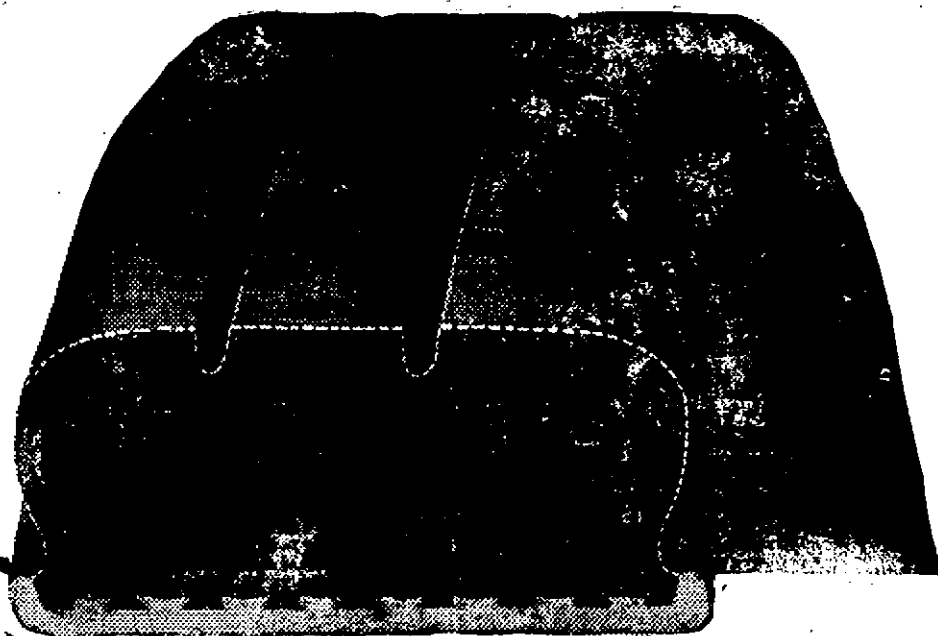

Every corporation that transacted any business prior to July 1, 1920, and was in business subsequent to that date, must file a capital stock return on or before July 31, 1920. The tax is based on the fair value of the stock as determined by three exhibits, (a) the asset value, which is a condensed balance sheet as of the closing date of the fiscal year; (b) quotations on outside sales prices on recognized stock exchanges or the New York curb; (c) capitalization of income.

Miller and Alfred Freitas and Chesler M. Gerrish sang. At the second recital Vennetta G. Anastaskos, Dorothy A. Brown, Evelyn M. Peterson, Ruth E. Gale, Araxie P. Kludjian and Mary E. Firestone Giant Cushion

This truck tire bridges the gap between Solids and Pneumatics, and, we believe, answers the problem of more truck users in more lines of business than any other heavy-duty truck tire built.

It combines great resiliency with long mileage. At a cost only slightly higher than that of Solid Tires of equal rated size.

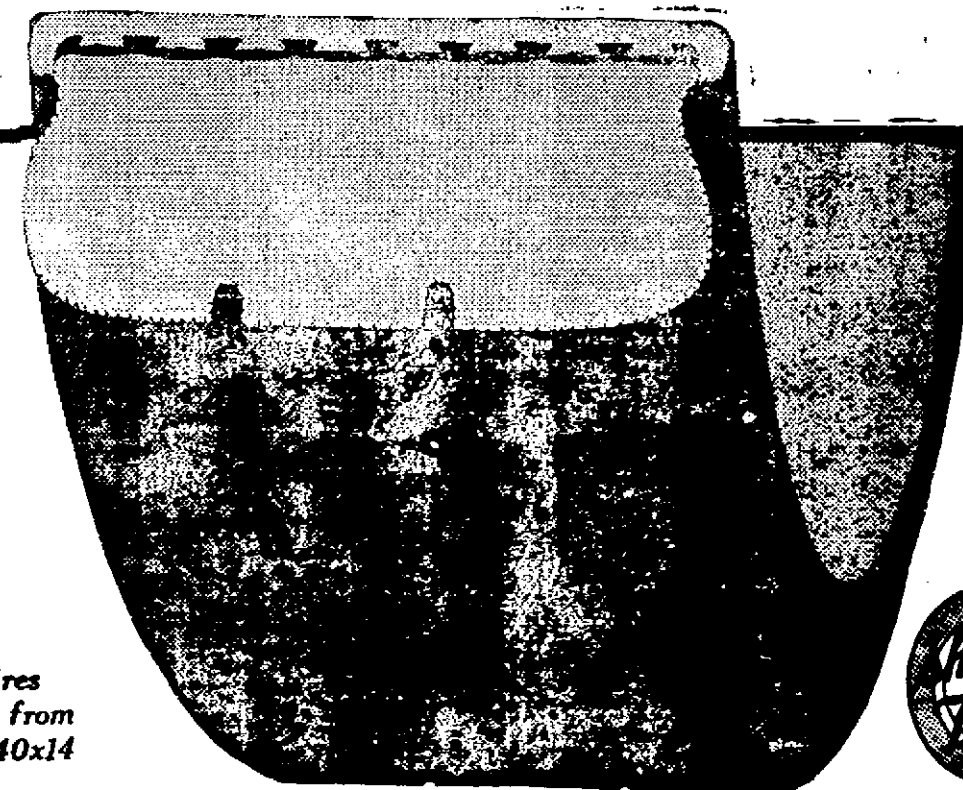

Its truck-mile cost and tire-mile cost in most instances is much lower even than solid equipment.

Note the contour of the cross section—the extra amount of rubber, width of tread. This gives broader road contact, more effective traction, greater cushioning to the load and longer life for tire and truck.

No wheel changes necessary. No change of gear ratio required. Fits any S.A.E. Base. Can be applied to any standard truck wheel without delay and without additional expense. Complies with highway laws—municipal, state or federal.

The Cushion Tire is Firestone's answer to the majority of truck needs today.

MARION PAYS TRIBUTE TO SEN. HARDING

MARION, Ohio, July 6.—Marion yesterday paid tribute to Senator Harding, the republican candidate for the presidency, upon his return, accompanied by Mrs. Harding, to his home here from Washington for the first time since his nomination. It was a big day for the little Ohio city and one that will go down in its history.

The celebration began early in the day and lasted until night when in the presence of a crowd of home folk that crowded the spacious lawn of the Harding residence and overflowed to the opposite side of the street, Senator Harding was officially welcomed by Mr. Crissinger, president of the Marion Civic Association. The senator replied in a brief speech in which he expressed one man government and urged the restoration of normal conditions as a steady force for civilization which he said has been "fer-

Red Pills and Female Weakness

When a woman complains of persistent pains and discomforts, one is safe in saying that she is troubled with a malady peculiar to her sex, and that she suffers from that disease, or agglomeration of diseases, which is generally called Female Weakness.

This disease is more frequently met in married women and women at the close of life, but still it also attacks young girls who have to work for their living. Female Weakness may be caused by various reasons, such as exposure to cold, lack of proper care, hard work, lack of nutrition, etc., but the main cause, and one which never fails to bring that disease on as a result, is Anemia.

Anemia will thin the blood, and lower the strength of its victim, and as soon as a woman becomes anemic, the various symptoms which are usually known as female weakness will make their appearance. These symptoms are pains in the stomach, kidneys, often headaches, and always a tired feeling, and seldom good digestion, always bearing-down pains, irregular and painful periods.

Walking, even the fact of remaining standing for a certain time, and the least exertion, will increase the symptoms. If these symptoms are let alone, and if nothing is done by the patient, they will rapidly increase, and are apt to bring on more serious trouble.

The best treatment for Anemia, and consequently for female weakness, which as a rule accompanies Anemia, are Red Pills for Pale and Weak Women, and all women ought to start taking them at the first symptoms of weakness, and not wait until their trouble becomes chronic, their health broken, and their constitution debilitated by nervous symptoms, stomach trouble, and irregularities of all kinds.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's, they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price. Trianco-American Chemical Company, Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision for over 30 years. Allow no one to deceive you in this. Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments, and endanger the health of Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Kind You Have Always Bought ered by the supreme upheaval of all the world.

"Let me say to you, friends and neighbors," said the republican nominee, "If I believed in one-man government, if I believed the superman were necessary to appeal to the sober sense of the republic and ask our people to plant their feet in secure and forward paths once more, I would not be here in the capacity which has inspired your greeting.

"Let us pledge ourselves anew one and all that this heritage handed to us through the heroism and sacrifices of the founding fathers shall be held sacred, unbridled and undimmed, the American nationality shall be the inspiration of the myriads of Americans of the future even as it stirs our hearts today.

Partisanship took no part in yesterday's celebration and both speakers carefully avoided any reference to politics. Mr. Crissinger in his speech paid a tribute to Mrs. Harding in connection with the success attained by the senator while Senator Harding in concluding introduced his wife as a "faithful friend who knows my faults, but has stuck to me."

Mrs. Harding blushingly acknowledged the tribute and bowed while the crowd cheered.

Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, manager in the pre-convention campaign, was also introduced by the senator as "one of the best scrappers in the world."

If the admonition of Mr. Crissinger, himself a democrat, comes true, Senator Harding will ride the democratic mule into the White House next November. "I admonish my fellow citizens," said Mr. Crissinger, "that he will ride the democratic mule into the White House in November as president of the United States."

Mr. Crissinger added that he knew "your enthusiasm and appreciation

TEN MILE RACE ON NORTH COMMON

Coutu won the 10-mile handicap race yesterday afternoon on the North Common. Crowe, who was leading, suffered with cramps in the final stages and was forced to yield in the eleventh lap. From this time on Coutu was sure of the race and finished in first place in 59 minutes and 45 seconds. Wells, a six-minute handicap man, broke the tape in 66 minutes and 30 seconds, the 22-year-old star, with a three minute handicap, trotted in third with the second best running time of 63 minutes and 55 seconds. Morse was fourth and Nell fifth.

Several thousand people witnessed the event and although the race was interesting from beginning to end, a winner could not be picked until the 14th lap.

Supt. Kernan and Mayor Thompson were the sponsors for the event and they were assisted by Commissioner Salmon and several others. Ten names were listed but the following took part: Coutu, started from scratch, Salmon, Crowe, Nell, Morse and Wells. Nell, Morse and Wells started with a six minute handicap and Salmon and Crowe started with a three minute handicap. Mat. McCann, the starter, sent the men off shortly after 2 o'clock. Through the first seven laps Wells held

TURKS HOLD BEICOS HAYES RUNS HUNDRED

Take Town Opposite Allied Headquarters—In Battle With British and Greeks

LONDON, July 6.—Turkish nationalist troops Monday occupied Beicos, on the Asiatic shore of the Bosphorus about 10 miles from Constantinople and opposite the allied headquarters on the European side, according to a despatch to the Mail from Constantinople. Fighting with British and Greek troops in the town followed the entry of the nationalists.

The British fleet, the report says, bombarded the Turkish positions. The nationalists, however, continue to hold Beicos, the allied troops having been withdrawn.

To Have Perfect Skin
Throughout the Summer

This is the season when she who would have a lily-white complexion should turn her thoughts to mercolized wax, the firm friend of the summer girl. Nothing so effectively overcomes the soiling effects of sun, wind, dust, and dirt. The wax literally absorbs the scorched, discolored, withered, and aged or coarsened scar skin, bringing forth a brand new skin, clear, soft and girlishly beautiful. It also unclogs the pores, removing blackheads and increasing the skin's breathing capacity. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, applied nightly like cold cream, and washed off mornings, will gradually improve even the worst complexion. There is nothing better for the removal of tan, freckles or blotches.—Advt.

YARDS IN 9 4-5 SEC.

WORCESTER, July 6.—Boston athletes made a clean-up of the track meet in the Greendale Fair grounds yesterday of the Alhambra council. Knights of Columbus. The feature event was the high hurdle, in which J. J. Sullivan of the B.A.A., starting with a six-yard handicap, breasted the tape about an inch ahead of E. J. Thomson, the Dartmouth champion. Some of the officials thought it was a dead heat, but the judges gave the place to Sullivan.

In the 100 yards open, W. D. Hayes, from scratch, won in a spectacular spring in 9 4-5, the fastest century ever run on the track.

McAdoo Leader Jumps to Feet During 44th Ballot and Moves That Nomination of Cox be Made Unanimous—Proposal Greeted With Cheers and Applause and Completion of Voting Was Swept Away as Unnecessary—To Name Vice-Presidential Candidate This Afternoon

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—James
M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, was nominated for the presidency early this morning by the Democratic national convention in the breakup of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of national political parties.It took 44 ballots to make the choice, and it was not until the 38th, when Attorney General Palmer withdrew from the race, that the long session of roll calls showed any definite trend.In the turnover of the Palmer delegates, Cox gained the advantage over William G. McAdoo, his rival for first place since early in the balloting, and that advantage never was lost.With its choice made, the convention adjourned to noon today to name a candidate for the vice presidency.

Favor Roosevelt For Second Place

Should it be decided to give second place on the ticket to the East, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy, seemed to be a favorite, but if the nomination goes to the west, there are several possibilities talked about by the leaders.Supporters of Governor Cox won a way to the nomination by per-sistent battering at the McAdoo and Palmer forces in many statesPRESIDENT WILSON
CONGRATULATES COXCOLUMBUS, O., July 6.—Congratulations from President
Wilson were received by Governor
Cox this morning upon his nomination. The message from the White House received at the governor's office in Columbus, this morning, and transmitted to his home at Dayton, read:"Please accept my hearty congratulations and cordial best wishes.

(Signed),

"WOODROW WILSON."

President Wilson's telegram of congratulation was among the first of 100 or more received this morning at the executive offices.One from W. J. Coghlan, director of publicity for the national committee at San Francisco read:
"The magnificent way in which your nomination was won in good tempered contest presages great victory in November."Another from the state democratic central union of California pledged "enthusiastic support" and promised
"California for Cox in November."throughout a long series of shift-ings and rallies which left now one and then the other of the candidates in the lead.HARDING SAYS

Message of Congratulation to Democratic CandidateDeclares Result Will Not Change Republican Campaign Plans in OhioMARION, Ohio, July 6.—Senator Harding, the republican presidential nominee, in a statement today said Governor Cox deserved the democratic presidential nomination, but added that his selection would not change the republican plans in Ohio in any way.Senator Harding had no engagements for today, but planned to devote himself exclusively to clearing away a great mass of correspondence and other work that had accumulated since he left Washington Saturday to motor home. Despite a strenuous day through which he passed yesterday in connection with the welcoming celebration in honor of his home coming, the senator was up early and resumed his work with enthusiasm.
During the next few days Senator Harding plans to devote much of his time in the quietude of his residence to the actual preparation of his speech of acceptance. Ever since his nomination he has been accumulating material for this purpose and now has it in such shape that he needs only to put his ideas on paper.The senator sent Governor Cox a telegram congratulating him on his success. It was not given out here, but was left for the democratic nominee to make public if he so desired.
"Governor Cox's nomination," Senator Harding said, "is an added consideration shown to our great state of Ohio, for which I am glad, and gives reasonable assurance that finally a newspaperman is to be made the nation's chief executive. Ohio has accorded Governor Cox very unusual distinction and he deserved his notable victory at San Francisco. His nomination will not change our activities in any way in Ohio. It is a great party contest before us, to be fought on great principles involved, and neither place of residence nor personality will have any marked influence on the result."LOWELL DELEGATES STOOD BY COXReports of the balloting at San Francisco indicate that Messrs. O'Sullivan and Donahue voted for Cox very steadily during the long struggle, although many of the Massachusetts delegates were for McAdoo.

Under a guard of several armed policemen the men were taken to the New Haven council jail.

Three men were arrested in connection with the finding on Saturday in a clump of bushes of a bomb with an 11-inch fuse. Experts claimed that the bomb, if detonated, might have done great property damage. The men are said to have admitted hiding the bomb.

The manager of the Hobson & Lawler baseball team will say that the defeat that the Saunders market team handed his team last Thursday was a disappointment to him. up to the speaker's stand. The crowd hushed. It recognized Carlin and knew that his appearance forecast only one thing, the release of the Palmer delegates and a break up in the long deadlock. Men halted there they stood in the aisles to listen. Corridors poured back hundreds of loungers to the floor to pack the doorways and jam even the entrances to the galleries. An electric feeling of expectancy was in the air.

Carlin briefly stated that Attorney General Palmer was not willing longer to delay a nomination and authorized the complete and unconditional release of his delegates. A shout went up only to be quickly stifled, while Chairman Robinson announced a 20-minute recess so that delegations might be polled for new alignments and the change in the situation be

WALTER E. GUYETTE, Auctioneer

Office, 53 Central St., Lowell, Mass. Telephone 2415

At Nos. 208-210 High Street, Belvidere

THE OWNER OF THIS TWO AND ONE-HALF STORY TWO-FAMILY DWELLING, AND ABOUT 4500 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, HAS INSTRUCTED THE AUCTIONEER TO SELL AT UNRESTRICTED PUBLIC SALE TO WHOMSOEVER WILL BID THE MOST, ON

Saturday, the 10th Day of July, 1920, at 4 O'Clock P. M.

On the premises regardless of any condition of the weather, we will sell to whomsoever will bid the most, this very desirable home and investment property, comprising a dwelling of two apartments, situated within eight minutes' actual and comfortable walk of Merrimack Square, and directly on the High Street line of electric, and within two minutes' walk of the Andover street and Oakland and Boston-Leading line.

The house is a full two and one-half story structure, of the double family type, containing six and seven rooms to each, respectively. The tenement at No. 203 has seven rooms. On the first floor are kitchen, dining room, parlor and living room. On the second floor are three chambers and toilet, and an unfinished attic on the floor above. In the basement, the cellar has toilet and sink and bulkhead. The tenement is well supplied with closet room and is rented, the present tenant having occupied the premises for the past six years, at a rental of $15 per month or $125 per year. The tenement at No. 210 has six rooms, kitchen, dining room and parlor on the first floor, and three chambers and toilet on the second floor, and an unfinished attic on the floor above, has good cellar and bulkhead, and is supplied with furnace heat, and is rented at a sum of $15 per month or $125 per year. The premises have a total income of $24 per month or $288 per year.

The building is in very good order, has front and side entrances, and it being of the double house plan makes it very desirable, as the tenements are entirely apart from each other.

The lot has a total area of about 4500 square feet, with a frontage on High street of about 50 feet, is fenced on either side, has concrete walks to side entrances and splendid garden space in the rear, has sewer, gas and city water connections.

In the offering of the above described, the opportunity is here given to purchase at open competition a home and investment property, where the owner could occupy one tenement and rent the other, and the income received would pay the entire running expenses of both. The house could, owing to its plan, easily be converted with a comparatively small outlay, into a dwelling of either four or six apartments, and the owner would be assured of an immediate rental, as the property is in one of the best renting locations in the city. It being within close proximity to the principal industries and also to churches of different denominations, schools, etc.

Terms—$500 must be deposited with the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale.

By Order of GERTRUDE G. PARKER.

McAdoo and Cox Forces on Jump

While the recess was on the galleries sat tense, staring down into the great pit below where delegates scrambled and tumbled through the aisles conferring to appraise the situation before determining their course. McAdoo and Cox workers worked up to the maximum effort to take advantage of the break. The floor hummed like the stock exchange on a panicky day. Great clusters of Cox and McAdoo workers gathered about the Palmer groups, struggling for attention and to enlist under their own standard the army about to be disbanded.

Break Up of Palmer Vote

Back in their seats again under the hanging urge of the gavel, the delegates awaited the 39th roll call. The effect of Mr. Palmer's release was noticeable at once. By twos and threes and larger groups, delegates previously voting unchanging for him went to other candidates, each change that brought gain to McAdoo or Cox let loose a new roar. The faithful Pennsylvanians insisting on casting one more vote for Palmer as a final tribute to him. The delegation chairman's statement went unheeded for the most part and the great block of votes went down for Palmer amid a surprised hush.

The announcement of the whole ballot, however, started another tumult, led by Cox adherents. It showed he had outstripped McAdoo in the race for Palmer delegates and again reached the lead.

Cox Forces Seize Victory

The Cox forces seized victory right there. The Cox band trooped into the gallery and hurled the strains of the Cox battle song, "Ohio, Ohio," down into the din below. Again time was required to get quiet enough to start a new roll call.

When Pennsylvania was reached the delegation asked for a poll. One by one a big McAdoo majority in the Pennsylvania ranks was disclosed and the Cox supporters looked a little disturbed. The drift to the Ohio standard was on, however, and even the more than two score Palmer men who joined from the Pennsylvania forces could not push McAdoo back into the lead.

Fight to Adjourn Falls

A fight to adjourn for the night was started by McAdoo supporters against shouts of "No, no" all over the floor. The motion went down on a vote that left no doubt of the convention's determination to fight it out then and there. The 41st ballot was started.

Both McAdoo and Cox gained ground and McAdoo supporters dug themselves in grimly determined on a last ditch fight. The 42d roll call was started. It showed new drifts to Cox as the votes were shouted back to the platform from the unsuppressible murmur among the delegates no regardless of the fatigue of the prolonged fight, although the great galleries above them were by then almost vacant. Great blocks of empty seats showed where worn out spectators had given it up by midnight and gone home expecting another day.

Georgia Deserts McAdoo

When Georgia was reached the delegation chairman leaped to his feet and shouted that his state, formerly in McAdoo ranks, would join hands to Ohio "to name the next president." He cast the solid Georgia vote for Cox and the shout that, followed seemed to rock the building.

McAdoo followers were still holding grimly. Again the Texas block of 10 votes went in for him. The western states which led the way in his drives, stuck hard, and even the fact that Cox had swept beyond the first majority vote recorded for any candidate did not shake them loose.

Roll of Noises at 43d Roll Call

The 43d roll call began in a riot of noise that made the roll audible only as the surges of sound paused to let the figures reach the clerks.

Little by little the drift to the Cox column continued gaining momentum as it ran. "Get into the wagon," roared a man in the galleries and the Cox rosters took it up. Votes for other candidates than Cox or McAdoo brought yells to "Come out of it" and "Wake up."

In the New York delegation a challenge for a poll sent a dozen men scurrying to argue with the challenger. He was the center of a fire of argument and abjection he could not resist. Finally, after a new move by McAdoo supporters to adjourn in a last desperate effort to stave off defeat had been roared down, the last ballot, the 44th, began.

The Final Ballot

The result was forecast with the first vote. Alabama swung solid to Cox. State by state, delegations who had stuck out for McAdoo with divided delegations followed suit. The slide had set in and there was no stopping it. "The convention had its mind set to nominate on that ballot. Up and up mounted the Ohioans' total of votes. As it passed the 700 mark, with the necessary two-thirds just ahead, his tumult increased minute by minute until the last votes were heard only vaguely on the platform. Pennsylvania went over and the Colorado chairman leaped to his chair to change the vote of his state to Cox. Half a dozen other chairmen were waving for recognition to make similar announcements.

Nomination Made Unanimous

Chairman Robinson hurried to his desk with Sam B. Amidon of Kansas, a McAdoo man whom he presented only after a furious assault with the gavel forced a partial lull in the cheering. Through a continuous racket Amidon moved that the rules be suspended and the nomination be made unanimous. All over the great hall men climbed up on chairs to wave their arms for silence and then stand poised like college yell leaders to signal the answer to the question.

Banging his gavel in a final thump, Chairman Robinson put the question, and the answer roared back at him with all the volume of a thousand voices. In shouting the tremendous "Aye" that made Governor Cox the democratic nominee.

Ballot Not Completed

The 44th ballot never was completed. In the chorus of affirmation it was swept away as unnecessary. Many of the changes which would have been made had the vote been carried through were never recorded, and on the face of that ballot Governor Cox received officially 702½ votes, but these were never tallied, for he was nominated by the unanimous voice of the convention.

The nomination of Governor Cox

means that the two great parties not only have gone into the same state for their candidates, but have picked men who for years have been associated more or less closely in the same profession. Like Senator Harding, Governor Cox is a newspaperman and their home towns in Ohio are not far apart.

BRIEF SKETCH OF GOV. COX

James Middleton Cox was three times governor of Ohio—an honor enjoyed by only one other Ohioan, Ruford B. Hayes.

Born on a farm, educated in the public schools, a printer's devil, a school teacher, a newspaper reporter, a private secretary to a congressman, owner, manager and proprietor of two newspapers, member of congress for three years and three times governor of his state is his record to date.

Business success paralleled his political achievements and through his own efforts Cox has amassed a fortune. Mr. Cox became the leader of the democratic party in Ohio in 1913 when he was nominated for governor. As one who had brought radical changes in the state constitution, he took the field in his behalf. His first term as governor was devoted chiefly to forwarding the enactment of laws to put the new state constitution into effect.

But Ohio evidently was not prepared to assimilate all the new laws for Cox was defeated for re-election. But his party renominated him in 1915 and he was re-elected for a third term in 1915, being the only democrat to win in Ohio.

Legislation for which Governor Cox is best known includes a model workmen's compensation law and a child labor law which have been extensively copied by other states. Educated in the country say the Ohio school code enacted under Governor Cox's direction will live as a monument to his achievements.

Mr. Cox was born in Butler county, Ohio, in 1870. He attended district school and held his first position as a teacher of the school in which he took his first lessons. He spent evenings and holidays in a printing office. In a few years he received his first assignment on the editorial staff of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

After 10 years with the Enquirer, he went to Washington as a private secretary to Congressman Paul Sore of Ohio. At the close of this service, he purchased the Dayton Daily News, borrowing most of the money to pay for it. Later he purchased the Springfield Daily News. He was first elected to congress in 1908.

He recently purchased the farm near Jacksonburg upon which he was born, and is making it into a modern farm home where he expects to live on retirement from public office. He married and has four children.

Davis Congratulates Winner

LONDON, July 6.—Ambassador John W. Davis, which informed of the nomination of James M. Cox of Ohio by the democratic national convention at San Francisco, this morning sent the following message to Governor Cox: "My hearty congratulations upon your nomination. You can and will lead the party to a well deserved victory."

Mr. Davis was informed of the result at San Francisco by the Associated Press at 11:15 o'clock this morning. He had just completed the delivery of an address at the opening meeting of the conference of American and British professors.

Delighted, Says McAdoo

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 6.—When William G. McAdoo was informed upon this morning that Governor James M. Cox of Ohio had been nominated as the democratic candidate for the presidency, his only comment was "I am relieved and delighted that the call did not come to me."

Mr. McAdoo showed every evidence that he was pleased, and explained he would make a statement later in the day. Mrs. McAdoo, who was by her husband's side, said: "That's great!" Before leaving for his office in Manhattan, Mr. McAdoo called the newspaper men and said: "Will you say this for me: I'm eternally grateful to my friends for their support."

TWO WOMEN VOTED FOR AT CONVENTION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The first vote to be cast for a woman for the democratic presidential nomination came yesterday when a Kentucky delegate on the 31st ballot, voted for Miss Laura Clay of Lexington, Ky. It was the first vote cast for a woman in the conventions of either of the two great parties, though 26 years ago, in August, 1844, the Equal Rights party nominated Belva Lockwood for president at its convention held in San Francisco.

When on the 36th ballot another

Kentucky delegate wanted a ballot for Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart for president there was introduced to the country another "professor in politics." Mrs. Stewart is a Kentucky school teacher.

Special Naturalization Court Here Tomorrow Morning Secured by Local Legion

GET MOTOR FUEL FROM MOLASSES

A substitute for gasoline has been found! Not an ordinary imitation, but a fuel that, its inventor claims, will be cheaper, more efficient and more plentiful than the gasoline used today.

The fuel is a "motor alcohol" extracted from molasses by a process invented by J. P. Foster, chemist on a sugar plantation on the island of Maui, in the Hawaiian group. The new fuel has stood the test and has given more power, increased mileage and greater speed per gallon than gasoline, reports say. Easier starting and freedom from carbon also are claimed for it.

Nearly 70 gallons of the fuel can be obtained from a ton of molasses, says Foster.

BEWARE RUSTY RIMS

Since iron rust eats into canvas quickly, rims should be examined and kept clean at all times. Rust should be removed by sandpapering, after which it should be coated with graphite or thin shellac. Stove polish will do.

AUTOTALK

Watching for a cop, while you know you're violating a traffic ordinance, may be easy in any city except Los Angeles. There, any passer-by may bring you to your doom. The mayor has organized a vigilance committee to watch for traffic lawbreakers. So, be careful when passing through Los Angeles.

WATCH THE NEW CAR

The new car should be watched closely and should be gone over after every trip. Every nut and bolt should be kept tight. The engine parts are most important for a defect here will result in misfiring and poor carburetion. Inspections should be made frequently for the first 1000 miles, until the car will have worn in somewhat.

Through the suggestion of a lawyer, motorists of Rochester, N. Y., have started a movement to help street car travellers and relieve the jams morning and evening. "Why wait? Ride with us," reads a sign on the windshield of each car whose driver has joined the movement—which is an invitation for waiting pedestrians to hop in and ride downtown. The lawyer who started this is John J. McInerney, counsel for the Rochester Auto Club.

HOW TO KEEP AUTO IN GOOD CONDITION

To keep your automobile in good condition, the following things should be attended to regularly:

1. Storage battery inspected every two weeks.
2. Grease cups turned up every 1000 miles.

4. Oil and gasoline connections inspected weekly.

WHO SAID "PLEASURE?" ASK AUTO DEALERS

NEW YORK, July 3.—That automobiles should be classed as "pleasure cars" is more than local dealers here can tolerate. They voice their indignation at the government's classification, in their bulletin, in the following terms:

imported perfumes, etc. An automobile compared to a sweet smell for usefulness!

"But the automobile representative came back with an unanswerable argument—to stop every automobile in the United States from running for a period of ten days—a test that immediately flattened all further thoughts along that line."

"The more we hammer home the utilitarian purposes of our products the further we convince the public of a proper realization of their necessity."

"Stop that word pleasure!"

Give them lovelier colors than ever before

At last you can make your chemises, your vests and knickers just the colors you want.

You wash them in Twink and they are a softer pink or lavender, a lovelier yellow than you have ever been able to get before.

Twink is made by a new method for producing colors that makes it possible to get more exquisite shades than have ever before been obtained.

The Twink flakes whip up into a lather in boiling hot water. You put in your faded chemise, your yellowed knickers. And when you take them out of the bright suds the chemise is a delicate lavender—the knickers have all their fresh pink color again.

The Twink colors always turn out right, clear and even, and so fast you can wash your chemise several times before it has to be Twinked again.

Safe and Sane Fourth Here

with the spectacles that the streets presented every Fourth of July a few years back.

The weather man must be credited with the most patriotic of motives for never did he behave better than yesterday and Sunday. There were few vestiges of Saturday's storm left when the city woke up Sunday morning and everybody got "set" for two days of unalloyed enjoyment.

Sunday passed quietly enough until the few hours just before midnight when the enthusiastic spirits, able to stand the restraint no longer, started a barrage of fireworks that was destined to continue with more or less regularity until midnight last night.

Under the auspices of the city government a series of band concerts was given during the afternoon and evening, each of which attracted a large audience. The Lowell Military band entertained a large crowd on the South common from 3 to 5 p. m. under the direction of Edward A. Perry and from 8 to 10 o'clock the U. S. Cartridge Co. band, William Regan, conductor, played in the same place. The Lowell Cadet band, with Conductor J. J. Giblin handling the baton, entertained at the Chelmsford Street hospital from 5 to 8 p. m. and at the Highland club from 1 to 6 p. m. the U. S. Cartridge Co. band did duty. A rather high wind interfered a bit with some of the concerts, but on the whole, they were thoroughly enjoyed.

The South common midway was the real nucleus of Monday's observance. All day Sunday it presented a more or less desultory appearance with only a few refreshment stands attempting to do business, but promptly at midnight the lid was blown off with a bang and things began to whirl.

The common attracted its usual thousands during the day and, despite the disappointment of a rainy Sunday afternoon, most of the stands reported a profitable week-end.

At sunrise, noon and sunset chimes

pealed out from various local churches in glad tidings. In the evening the outstanding feature of the municipal observance, the fireworks display on the South common, attracted thousands to the South common and entertained other thousands in all parts of the city who could easily see the brilliant rocket pieces sent whirling into the air. It was easily one of the best exhibitions of its kind ever presented in Lowell and rarely has such perfect weather marked this annual feature of the Fourth's observance.

It was 9:15 before the exhibition got underway on the Highland street slope of the common. A large area had been roped off and a squad of policemen under the direction of Lieut. Martin Connors and Sergt. Hugh Maguire kept the crowd at a distance. Once the fireworks display got started and sparks began to fall, the crowd needed no other urging to keep back a safe distance.

The National Fireworks Co. had arranged a most pretentious display, and C. E. Hill, who had charge of setting off the pieces, did his work rapidly and without mishap. James J. Gallagher, local agent for the company, assisted.

The feature of the display was the "Seige of Verdun," a set piece endeavoring to reproduce the thrilling effect of that great bombardment, and succeeding with thundering effect. This piece seemed literally to shake the entire city. Other ground pieces included "The Blazing Sun," "Niagara Falls," serpentine representations and fortune wheels. The rockets soared high into the air in their usual brilliancy and were visible from every section of the city.

The first aid tents on the South common established by the municipal authorities were a brand new feature of Fourth of July observances and were eminently successful. From midnight Sunday until midnight Monday 51 people were treated, none of them seriously hurt but, nevertheless, in such a condition as to appreciate the convenience of the tents.

Lost children, a few Jamaica ginger imbibers, a heat prostration and a variety of other minor ills and mishaps were included in the day's work. The most serious case to come to the attention of the board of health nurses was that of a veteran of the world war who was suffering from a return of shell shock.

The doctors who did duty were Dr. Francis Finnegan, Dr. Edward Welch, Dr. George F. Caisse and Dr. Thomas F. Carroll. They were assisted by the regular board of health nurses who worked in shifts of three hours each and by Napoleon Mitot, a nurse. Several residents of Summer street allowed their telephones to be used at any time to call the ambulance or for whatever other purpose the first aid authorities wished to use them. The younger element of the city's population got their full share of enjoyment from private stocks of fireworks and even the most residential section of the community was not free from reverberations produced by some penny firecracker set off by a young enthusiast.

The dual holiday and delightful weather attracted hundreds of Lowell people to nearby resorts and a heavy travel was reported by the railroad officials. Others simply remained at home and rested. It was a quiet holiday, but none the less successful.

COX NOMINATED

After a long and tiresome contest the democratic convention at San Francisco nominated for president of the United States, Governor James M. Cox of Ohio. The Cox forces won the victory on the 44th ballot after making a fight against the strong influence of Mr. McAdoo that has rarely been paralleled in national conventions.

On the whole, the instant verdict will be that the convention nominated their strongest candidate. Governor Cox comes from a strong republican state in which he is serving his third term as chief executive. He is the editor and publisher of two large and successful daily papers besides being a farmer and a business man of wide experience. In political matters he has proved himself to be a natural leader and a constructive statesman of great ability. It appears that he is the man for the present emergency—to harmonize conflicting elements, to restore confidence in the democratic party and lead it to victory at the polls in November.

First elected governor in 1912, he has been twice re-elected over strong republican opposition so that there is little doubt of his ability to carry the state in the presidential contest with his opponent Senator Harding, the republican nominee. He has to his credit a long list of very important reforms in the state of Ohio and the readiness with which he has been able to meet every situation calling for unusual executive ability has marked him as a man capable to deal with affairs of the greatest national importance.

During his incumbency as governor he has had to deal with many labor conflicts in the mines and other industries of Ohio, but in no case has he allowed the conflicting elements to get away from the ordinary restraints of law. He has had the honor of maintaining law and order without the assistance of the military forces when it was supposed that outbreaks would occur and turbulent elements break out in mob violence. Governor Cox, proved equal to the occasion in every case restraining the radicals and bringing about agreements through conference of labor organizations with their employers and averting serious result.

In spite of the great influence exerted in behalf of Mr. McAdoo, it appears that the democratic convention exercised the best judgment possible in nominating Governor Cox. Had Mr. McAdoo been nominated, although he is a very able official, his connection with President Wilson and the cognomen of "Crown Prince" with which he has already been dubbed, would kill his chances. Those who looked to the democratic convention to destroy its chances of success by lack of harmony or lack of judgment have miscalculated in the present case. From first to last the convention was conducted more successfully and more in accordance with advanced ideas of political procedure than was the republican convention. The democrats have chosen a stronger standard bearer than have the republicans and they can now enter upon the campaign with most encouraging prospects of success.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Very few democrats believed that from such discordant elements could come such harmony as is represented in the platform of the democratic party. Throughout the proceedings, the convention was managed much better than the Chicago performance.

The platform is a remarkably strong declaration of policies and principles. Where the republican platform is weak and evasive, the democratic is strong, direct and positive. On the League of Nations the democratic party has taken high moral ground which stands out in striking contrast with the republican plank on this great issue.

In passing over the prohibition question in silence the party turned aside a strong element that sought a plank favoring light beer and wines. On this question silence was golden.

The plank on Mexico is particularly clear and unambiguous of being misunderstood. When the new government shall have given proof of its ability to maintain law and order and of its willingness to meet its international obligations and treat American investors within her borders with full justice, then and not till then will the party favor the recognition of the Mexican republic.

WOMEN SHOULD REGISTER

It seems to be assured that the woman suffrage amendment will be ratified by the requisite number of states to make it a part of the constitution before the summer is over. The governor of Vermont has promised to call a special session of the legislature to act on the matter, and it is believed that there is not any question but that such action will be favorable. The governor of Tennessee has already called upon the legislators of his state to meet August 8 and it is said to be a foregone conclusion that they will vote for ratification.

There is now keen rivalry between the parties as to which will have the honor of furnishing the 36th state to complete the ratification of the 19th amendment. The democratic platform appeals to Florida and North Carolina as well as Tennessee on this point.

Unfortunately in some of the states, owing to the laws governing registration, women will not be permitted to vote for presidential electors next November despite a change in the federal constitution granting woman suffrage.

It is a cause for satisfaction, though, that in Massachusetts the election laws, as amended by the last legislature, are such that it is probable that no woman need miss an opportunity to express her preference for president and other elective officials this year, provided she will only take the trouble to see that her name is placed on the voting list.

Under the law, as it now reads, all women who are qualified to vote for school committee may register, and at the moment that the federal amendment is ratified, they will automatically become qualified to cast their ballots for all elective officers some as men.

It should not be necessary to urge upon women the importance of registering and taking a part in the affairs of government, now that the ballot is to be placed in their hands. Coming fresh to the polls, it would be admirable if they could start the custom of taking an active part in politics and share the record of some of the men voters who, through laziness or lack of interest fail to vote.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

The city of Lowell is a big corporation. It holds a charter from the state the same as any other corporation. What might be termed its capital stock, its assets, and its expenditures run into many millions. It is its business to guard and protect property worth vast sums of money, to safeguard the lives of over a hundred thousand people, and to provide them with such public utilities as good streets, good schools and good water. Its business is vastly more extended and important than that of any of the corporations which it includes.

SEEN AND HEARD

"One day in the country is worth a month in town."

It is getting so the length of a skirt doesn't signify any more than the degree of the wearer's nerve.

And so Harding is to interpret the platform in his speech of acceptance. It's a big job to handle in one short speech.

Four Mables: With many robs and repetitions, the good woman had told her tale of woe to the English clergyman.

"It was full of 'E' and 'I' says to him," but the clergyman listened patiently till she had finished.

"I'm sorry, my dear lady," he said sympathetically. "Certainly your husband does seem to treat you rather unkindly. But remember that you took him for better or for worse."

"Well, it's allus bin for worse, s'far as I kin see," replied the visitor, dabbing her eyes with what only politeness could call a pocket handkerchief.

"Have you tried to cure him with kindness?" pleaded the man. "Have you tried heaping coals of fire on his head?"

"No, I ain't, sir," replied the woman gratefully for the new idea. "So far, I've only tried 'ot water'."

Rest and Quiet

Now comes the time when many persons, worn by noise and confusion of the city, go to the country for rest and quiet. There, while they lie awake in bed at night:

Insects hum, buzz, tizz, zipp, trill, chirp, quaver, whirr, tick and click! Frogs croak!

A rooster crows. Another answers. The first crows back!

With daylight the noises rise to a chorus of clucking hens, quacking ducks, neighing horses, meowing cats, squealing and grunting pigs, baaing sheep, while early-rising humans make more noise than all the rest combined!

The point of it is that one becomes accustomed to any familiar sound, while unusual noises are disturbing.

The noisiest place to a stranger is likely to be some thin-walled hotel at a crowded summer resort.

There are plenty of persons with strong nerves who are not easily disturbed. One such wrote to a summer resort to which he went last summer. He wishes to return. But he insists that he must have a room in the main building.

"I don't want the room I had last summer in the annex," he wrote seriously. "I'm kind of funny that way I can't sleep over a howling alley!"

Grandma

Grandma, with her silvery hair, sitting quiet in her chair, calm and lively, prudent, wise, finely attired to advise. Sober, venerable, sage. Showing plainly marks of age—That is what we dance to at night. That's what grandma used to be.

Grandma, active, up-to-date. Liking and loving, strong and straight. Liking ten inches from the ground. At the hem a scant yard round. Gay and giddy, active, bright. Not too old to dance at night. Prompt for pleasure, sport or play—That's what grandma is today!

Life a Little!

Is a little bit. Dangerous advice and not to be taken too strenuously. But this is the point: You lie to your friends. Or you tell your truth to your rivals. Why not be fair to your family? Why not be a little at home? When you dine at the Smiths, you have a word of praise for every dish from cocktails to coffee. Mrs. Smith doesn't believe you uttered a word of flattery. But she is pleased just the same. Why not lie a little to friend wife over her everyday dinner? When the Browns make their little Jimmie play the violin, you applaud and beg him to play again. Oh Brown knows you don't mean it. But he's your friend for life. Well, do you clap your hands a couple of times, when your own child wheezes at the mouth organ? Or do you yell at him to "cut it out?" When the Jones girl comes back from college with a cigaret case and a bull pen, do you compliment her upon her individuality? Jones is heartened considerably. Then you go home and bowl out your own daughter who is trying on her one-piece bathing suit. Why not tell her that she makes the front row of the Polles look like the first act of his Hopkins? Lying is a bad habit. But if you must indulge in lying, why not play fair? Why not share it with the family?—Edmund Vance Cooke (Copyright, 1920 N.E.A.)

"Here, Margaret, wash that." A number of big stores and banks in Boston New York and other cities have been operating machines for a number of years in which every piece of currency that is not worn beyond redemption is thoroughly cleansed before being returned to circulation. The next time you make a trip to Boston just notice the paper currency that comes into your hands and see if you do not find a larger proportion of clean bills than you ordinarily do at home. The machines that clean the money are apparently quite simple in operation. The soiled bills are dumped in at one end and from the other slides out a continuous stream of currency that has been thoroughly scrubbed, dried and brewed. In most cases the washed bills will have all the appearance of being brand new.

Edmund Vance Cooke

There has been some talk lately about a scene more appealing than that furnished in the banquet room of the Richardson hotel last Friday evening when half a hundred men and women employed in the Massachusetts mills received certificates testifying that they had completed a preliminary course in English and civics. These people, all foreign born, had given up their noon hours and time after work to acquire a knowledge of the English tongue and it would be hard to forget the joyful picture presented when these ambitious workers stepped forward to receive their certificates. There was a gleam of real delight and pride in their eyes as the culmination of months of laborious effort was reached and it must have warmed the hearts of the teachers and others who made this scene possible, to see how greatly their efforts were appreciated.

ADVICE FOR GARDENERS BY COUNTY BUREAU

We must control the lice or they will "can" our vegetables for us. A previous story told the lice situation, but gardeners have not watched their gardens carefully and the result now is that the gardens in all too many cases are being eaten up by these little aphids or lice. It is very difficult to hit these insects with spray material when the foliage starts curling. One should spray the under surface of the foliage with a fine mist of nicotine sulphate and soap, just as soon as the lice first make their appearance. If this has not been done yet, it should be done now upon many of the vegetables. Lice will be found on radishes, turnips, cucumbers, carrots, parsnips, lettuce and most of the other vegetables. Parsnips seem to be most badly infested this year.

Those gardeners who have a three-gallon tank would do well to have made an angle elbow for use on the end of their short extension rod so that they can stand up straight and still spray upwards, thus reaching the under surface of the foliage. Soap should always be added to Black Leaf 40 when it is used alone. The usual suggestion is to use 1½ teaspoons of soap to one gallon of water. The soap helps as a spreader and stickler for the material.

Wash Out For Two Diseases

Cucumbers and muskmelons sometimes have mysterious complaints and get the dying habit without any apparent cause. The two commonest of these ailments are "wilt" and "downy mildew." The latter is the most destructive pest in the way of a plant disease that hits the cucumbers, as the members of the family are known. It is a fungus disease and Bordeaux mixture is the remedy. It is an excellent idea to be on the safe side and give the cukes and melons a good spraying with Bordeaux as soon as they start to run. It is much easier than attacking the disease after it appears.

The symptoms are angular spots on the leaves, which at first are not well defined but later assume distinct form, the older leaves turning yellow and the small leaves at the ends of the vines going black. The under side of the leaves will show a faint purplish covering on these spots. This pest often does not appear at all. Again it will raise havoc. It generally appears the latter half of the summer. It is a good plan to use a little preventive.

"Wilt" just as its name denotes, is a general droop of the foliage of the vine which dies without any apparent good reason. An insect carries this spore which causes the trouble by clogging the veins of the plant. Bordeaux with some arsenate in combination is the remedy for this trouble.

Leaf blight sometimes attacks muskmelons and makes short work of them. It appears in the shape of round spots which rapidly increase in size. Bordeaux spraying is the remedy.

A wise gardener will spray his melons and cucumbers once every ten days with Bordeaux mixture as soon as they begin to make vine. The young growth should be sprayed with care. Whole crops may be saved by this preventive work.

Stop Ceiling Asparagus

Ordinary years, commercial gardeners as well as home gardeners do not cut their asparagus much later than the latter part of June. This year the season has been a little late and growers have planned to cut through the 4th of July demand. By the end of this week there will be practically no commercial growers who think anything of their asparagus plants, cutting. Home gardeners should follow this practice. It is well to add a liberal application of quickly available fertilizer, or else a lot of hen manure in order that the plants may recover from the strain placed upon them during the cutting season and grow a large root system for the coming year.

TEXTILE WORKERS Plan to Raise $1,000,000 Between Now and Labor Day

John Hanley of this city, a member of the international executive board of the United Textile Workers of America has received a communication from international headquarters instructing him to bring to the attention of the Lowell Textile council the matter of the $1,000,000 fund, which the United Textile Workers are planning to raise between now and Labor Day, and the subject will be explained by Mr. Hanley at the next meeting of the council Friday night.

The movement for the raising of a $1,000,000 fund started at the last meeting of the executive board of the United Textile Workers, which was held in New York May 30 to June 2, when it was voted to instruct the various councils of the organization to organize a campaign in their respective cities, each council to be given a quota and to raise its ascribed amount through subscriptions from the textile workers and the public if necessary.

In a recent interview on this matter, International President John Golden said there will be no general strike in the textile industry unless on reopening mills, which are at present shut down attempts are made to reduce wages or lengthen working hours.

"There is undoubtedly a depression in the textile industry, in spite of all arguments to the contrary presented by those who refuse to admit that conditions are not as prosperous as they have been for the past few days," Mr. Golden declared. "The overall clubs and 'wear old clothes' movements have taken a strong hold of a great many people and their effect is actually being felt to no little extent by the manufacturers. I believe, however, that in the natural course of events conditions will right themselves, and the market will come back strong again."

Mr. Golden told of his own observations, which have convinced him that even many business men of means have determined to "wear what clothes they have as long as they can."

"I think the majority of the workers understand the situation," Mr. Golden declared. "They are willing to co-operate with the manufacturers as far as possible. The manufacturers, however, should see that wage reductions and reductions in the forces are not the proper ways to go about the solution of this problem. A far more equitable way would be to reduce production by working part time—three or four days a week—without reducing the number of employees. In this way, when activity in the market is resumed, the manufacturer will have his organization intact and will be able to increase his production in proportion to the demand, without any serious difficulties."

"For these reasons, I think this solution is the most advantageous to the manufacturer, and fairest to the worker, since it imposes no severe hardship on anyone."

The $1,000,000 fund which the textile workers are raising will be used as a "last line of defense" in the event of an attempt on the part of employers to take from the workers such concessions in wages and hours as they have obtained and does not mean, Mr. Golden pointed out, that the union is planning any fight, "unless forced to it."

"The name of the fund is self-explanatory," Mr. Golden said. "The individual unions have their own 'strike funds.' This new fund will be to defend conditions and wages the workers have already obtained."

The fact that many mills are shut down, and strikes are in progress in several other places; the international president said, might mean that a percentage of the total of $1,000,000 could not be raised at this time, but it would not defer launching of the campaign for the fund.

VICTORY MEDALS FOR THE MARINES

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4.—Victory medals in commemoration of the world war will be issued not later than October 1, according to an announcement made today by the major general commandant of the marine corps. Following the delay in securing the proper ribbon and dies it was found that the marine corps could not begin its distribution until the army's needs had been provided for.

In addition to the battle clasps and citation stars authorized by the war department a considerable proportion of the marines, having served with the navy both ashore and afloat, are entitled to other marks authorized for certain service by the navy department. Accurate lists of all men who are entitled to battle clasps, citation stars and to the insignia authorized by the navy department, will be issued as early as possible to all posts and recruiting stations of the marine corps. Men who are entitled only to the medal and ribbon will not be shown on these lists but will be issued the medal and ribbon on presentation of their discharge certificates at posts and recruiting stations of the marine corps. Men who are entitled only to the medal and ribbon will not be shown on these lists but will be issued the medal and ribbon on presentation of their discharge certificates at posts and recruiting stations of the marine corps. Men who are entitled only to the medal and ribbon will not be shown on these lists but will be issued the medal and ribbon on presentation of their discharge certificates at posts and recruiting stations of the marine corps.

A preliminary order for 75,000 medals has already been placed. The issuance of medals and insignia will be endorsed on the discharge certificate of each man now out of service.

Women as well as men are made miserable by kidney and bladder trouble. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney medicine, is highly recommended by thousands. plained to Tingaling after everybody had chosen a footstool to sit on. (You see, Tommy had nothing but footstools.) "I haven't enough cupboards to keep all my shoes in, and they are dreadfully in the way," he said. "You just ought to see my bedroom! There are shoes everywhere; I even have them hanging on the gas jet, and sitting on the window sills, and the mantel-piece and the bureau.

"Why don't you keep them in the drawers?" asked Tingaling. He didn't wish to bother the Fairy Queen about more cupboards just now for her tenants in the Land-of-Dear-Know-Where, when carpenters were getting paid like goldsmiths. So he tried to help Tommy to find another way out of his dilemma.

"Drawers?" exclaimed Tommy in disgust. "And where, pray, do you suppose I keep my socks? I've got so many socks that I never can keep them sorted as it is, and half the time I go out with golf stockings on some of my legs and fancy silk ones of every color on the others. And darned baskets! You've no notion of what my weekly earnings are!"

Everybody was quiet at that, for everybody was trying to imagine what Tommy's weekly earnings would be like. It took so much multiplying to count a thousand times seven baths a week (which means clean clothes, of course) with extra additions for parties. Everyone knows you can't wear the same stocking to a party, that you've been digging garden in!

FEDERAL RETURN ON CAPITAL STOCK

Forms for the federal return on capital stock, and copies of the tax regulations have been mailed from the office of Internal Revenue Collector John J. Mitchell to 16,000 corporations in Massachusetts that filed returns last year. It is estimated by revenue officials that about 2000 more corporations will be added to the records this year.

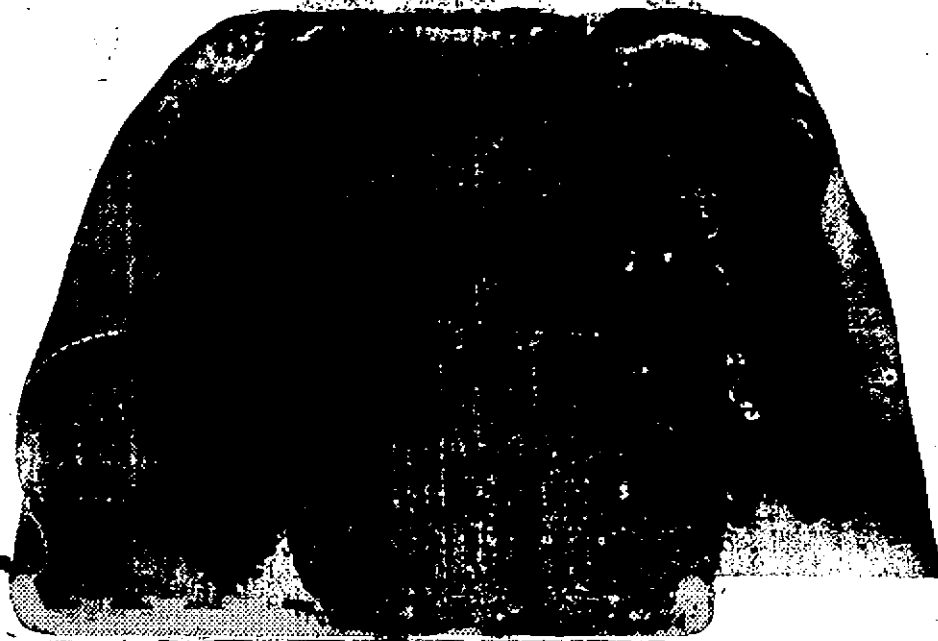

Every corporation that transacted any business prior to July 1, 1920, and was in business subsequent to that date, must file a capital stock return on or before July 31, 1920. The tax is based on the fair value of the stock as determined by three exhibits, (a) the asset value, which is a condensed balance sheet as of the closing date of the fiscal year; (b) quotations on outside sales prices on recognized stock exchanges or the New York curb; (c) capitalization of income.

Firestone Giant Cushion

This truck tire bridges the gap between Solids and Pneumatics, and, we believe, answers the problem of more truck users in more lines of business than any other heavy-duty truck tire built.

It combines great resiliency with long mileage. At a cost only slightly higher than that of Solid Tires of equal rated size.

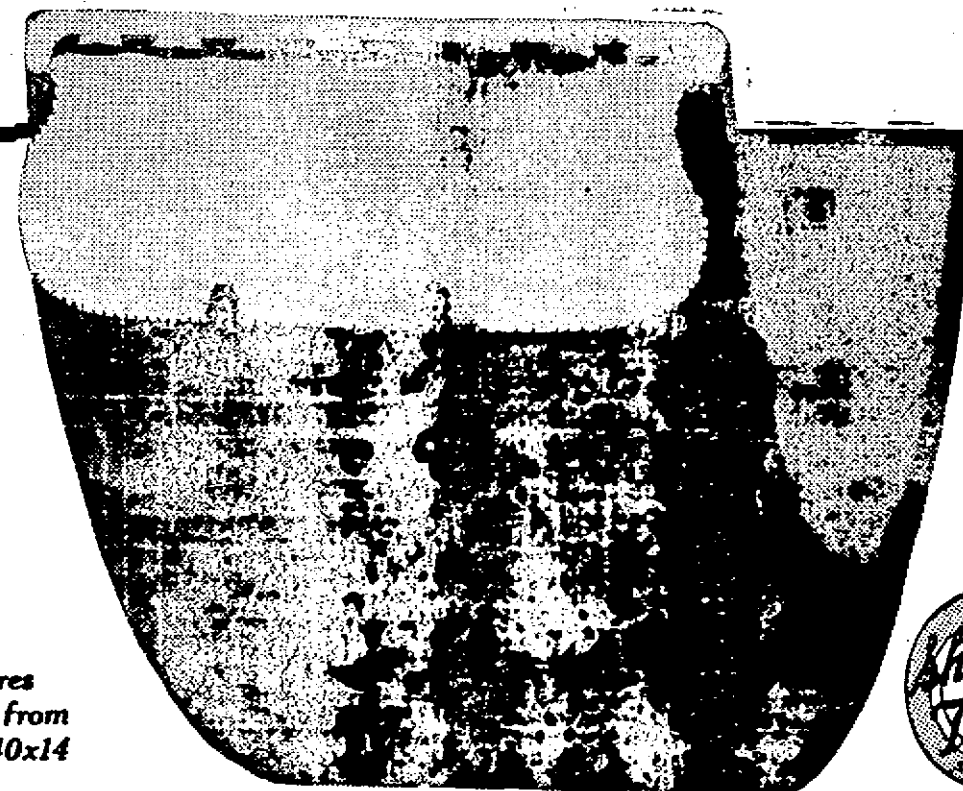

Its truck-mile cost and tire-mile cost in most instances is much lower even than solid equipment.

Note the contour of the cross section—the extra amount of rubber, width of tread. This gives broader road contact, more effective traction, greater cushioning to the load and longer life for tire and truck.

No wheel changes necessary. No change of gear ratio required. Fits any S.A.E. Base. Can be applied to any standard truck wheel without delay and without additional expense. Complies with highway laws—municipal, state or federal.

The Cushion Tire is Firestone's answer to the majority of truck needs today.

MARION PAYS TRIBUTE TO SEN. HARDING

MARION, Ohio, July 6.—Marion yesterday paid tribute to Senator Harding, the republican candidate for the presidency, upon his return, accompanied by Mrs. Harding, to his home here from Washington for the first time since his nomination. It was a big day for the little Ohio city and one that will go down in its history.

The celebration began early in the day and lasted until night when in the presence of a crowd of home folk that crowded the spacious lawn of the Harding residence and overflowed to the opposite side of the street, Senator Harding was officially welcomed by Mr. Crissinger, president of the Marion Civic association. The senator replied in a brief speech in which he expressed his appreciation of the Marion Civic association and the restoration of normal conditions as a steady force for civilization, which he said has been "ev-

Red Pills and Female Weakness

When a woman complains of persistent pains and discomforts, one is safe in saying that she is troubled with a malady peculiar to her sex, and that she suffers from that disease, or agglomeration of diseases, which is generally called Female Weakness.

This disease is more frequently met in married women and women at the change of life, but still it also attacks young girls who have to work for their living. Female Weakness may be caused by various reasons, such as exposure to cold, lack of proper care, hard work, lack of nutrition, etc., but the main cause, and one which never fails to bring that disease on as a result, is Anaemia.

Anaemia will thin the blood, and lower the strength of its victim, and as soon as a woman becomes anaemic, the various symptoms which are usually known as female weakness will make their appearance. These symptoms are pains in the stomach, kidneys, often headaches, and always a tired feeling, and seldom good digestion, always bearing-down pains, irregular and painful periods.

Walking, even the fact of remaining standing for a certain time, and the least exertion, will increase the symptoms. If these symptoms are left alone, and if nothing is done by the patient, they will rapidly increase, and are apt to bring on more serious trouble.

The best treatment for Anaemia, and consequently for female weakness, which is a real accompaniment of Anaemia, are Red Pills for Pale and Weak Women, and all women ought to start taking them at the first symptoms of weakness, and not wait until their trouble becomes chronic, their health broken, and their constitution debilitated by nervous symptoms, stomach trouble, and irregularity of all kinds.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's, they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price. Franco-American Chemical Company, Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.

"Let me say to you, friends and neighbors," said the republican nominee, "if I believed in one-man government, if I believed the superman were necessary to appeal to the sober sense of the republic and ask our people to plant their feet in secure and forward paths once more, I would not be here in the capacity which has inspired your greeting."

"Let us pledge ourselves anew one and all that this heritage handed to us through the heroism and sacrifices of the founding fathers shall be held sacred, unbridled and undimmed, the American nationality shall be the inspiration of the myriads of Americans of the future even as it stirs our hearts today."

Partisanship took no part in yesterday's celebration and both speakers carefully avoided any reference to politics. Mr. Crissinger in his speech paid a tribute to Mrs. Harding in connection with the success attained by the senator while Senator Harding in concluding introduced his wife as a "faithful friend who knows my faults, but has stuck to me."

Mrs. Harding blushingly acknowledged the tribute and bowed while the crowd cheered.

Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, manager in the pre-convention campaign, was also introduced by the senator as "one of the best scrappers in the world."

If the admonition of Mr. Crissinger, himself a democrat, comes true, Senator Harding will ride the democratic mule into the White House next November. "I admonish my fellow citizens," said Mr. Crissinger, "that he will ride the democratic mule into the White House in November as president of the United States."

TEN MILE RACE ON NORTH COMMON

Coutu won the 10-mile handicap race yesterday afternoon on the North common. Coutu, who was leading, suffered with cramps in the final stages and was forced to yield in the eleventh lap. From this time on Coutu was sure of the race and finished in first place in 59 minutes and 45 seconds. Wells, a six-minute handicap man, broke the tape in 65 minutes, and Salmon, the 12-year-old star, with a three minute handicap, trotted in third with the second best running time of 53 minutes and 55 seconds. Morse was fourth and Nell fifth.

Several thousand people witnessed the event and although the race was interesting from beginning to end, a winner could not be picked until the 11th lap.

Supt. Kernan and Mayor Thompson were the sponsors for the event and they were assisted by Commissioner Salmon and several others. Ten names were listed but the following took part: Coutu, started from scratch, Salmon, Coutu, Nell, Morse and Wells. Nell, Morse and Wells started with a six minute handicap and Salmon and Coutu started with a three minute handicap. Mat. McCann, the starter, sent the men off shortly after 3 o'clock. Through the first seven laps Wells held

SEVERE DEFEAT FOR POLISH FORCES

LONDON, July 6.—Polish forces between the Beresina and Pripiet rivers have been defeated along the entire front by the Russian Bolsheviks, according to an official statement issued at Moscow yesterday and received here by wireless.

Northeast of Rovno, the Poles, the statement says, have been flung back behind the line from Beresina to Kostopol. Further south, near Ostroga, the Bolsheviks have driven the Poles from their positions and have inflicted heavy losses. In the direction of Proskirov, further south, the soviet forces are pursuing the Poles, the statement declares.

Take Town Opposite Allied Headquarters—In Battle With British and Greeks

LONDON, July 6.—Turkish nationalist troops Monday occupied Beicos, on the Asiatic shore of the Bosphorus about 10 miles from Constantinople and opposite the allied headquarters on the European side, according to a despatch to the Mail from Constantinople. Fighting with British and Greek troops in the town followed the entry of the nationalists.

The British fleet, the report says, bombarded the Turkish positions. The nationalists, however, continue to hold Beicos, the allied troops having been withdrawn.

To Have Perfect Skin
Throughout the Summer

This is the season when she who would have a lily-white complexion should turn her thoughts to mercolized wax, the firm friend of the summer girl. Nothing so effectually overcomes the soiling effects of sun, wind, dust and dirt. The wax literally absorbs the scorched, discolored, withered, or hardened skin, bringing forth a brand new skin, clear, soft and girlishly beautiful. It also unclogs the pores, removing blackheads and increasing the skin's breathing capacity. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, applied nightly like cold cream, and washed off mornings, will gradually improve even the worst complexion. There is nothing better for the removal of tan, freckles or blotches.—Adv.

WORCESTER, July 6.—Boston athletes made a clean-up of the track meet in the Greendale Fair grounds yesterday of the Alhambra council, Knights of Columbus. The feature event was the high hurdle, in which J. J. Sullivan of the B.A.A., starting with a six-yard handicap, breasted the age about an inch ahead of E. J. Thomson, the Dartmouth champion. Some of the officials thought it was a dead heat, but the judges gave the place to Sullivan.

In the 100 yards open, W. D. Hayes, from scratch, won in a spectacular spring in 9 4-5s, the fastest century ever run on the track.

STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

Penn. R. R. Union Officials Declare Public Bigger Than Principals at Issue

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—The strike of shopmen of the Pennsylvania system, set for yesterday, has been deferred indefinitely, according to an announcement made by Harry S. Jeffery, leader of the six local allied shopcrafts. Decision to call off the walk-out was reached after conference of labor leaders with government officials and W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Jeffery said he and other leaders had decided that the public is a bigger factor than the principals at issue between the railroads and the shopmen and that they have placed their case before Gen. Atterbury, confident he will review it impartially and adjust the grievances to the satisfaction of all concerned.

A committee, named at the conference Friday, visited Gen. Atterbury Saturday. The general received a list of the men's grievances and he gave assurance that he would make immediate investigation. Before the Pittsburgh conference Jeffery and some of his colleagues went to Washington, where officials of the department of justice urged them not to take any drastic action at this time.

A mass meeting of Pennsylvania shopmen will be held this week. Leaders will explain to the men the reasons for not ordering a cessation of work.

The strike of the yardmen continues. Railroads maintain that the men who have taken the places of the strikers are doing their work so efficiently that the "vacationists" are not missed.

ALLIES AND GERMANS IN CONFERENCE

SPA, Belgium, July 6.—Allied and German delegates to the conference to be held here this week met yesterday morning for their first session, which lasted only twenty minutes. Adjournment was then taken until two o'clock this afternoon.

Konstantin Febrbach, German chancellor and head of that country's delegation, kept the allied premiers waiting for 10 minutes, being late in reaching Villa Fainesse, where the conference is being held. Premier Millerand of France was prompt as usual, being the first to arrive. Count Storza, Italian foreign minister, was next to arrive, being followed by Viscount Chinda, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain. Premier Lloyd George was the last of the allied representatives to reach the villa. He wore a shiny silk hat, but Premier Millerand appeared wearing the democratic felt hat familiar to those who know him.

When Herr Febrbach's car rolled up the winding hill road to the beautiful Louis XVI. villa, the allied delegates were all assembled—three from each delegation—and an army of photographers waited. When the German chancellor alighted from the car he smilingly consented to be photographed and then entered the villa with alert step. He was followed by two of his colleagues, after which the session was declared opened by M. Delacroix, the Belgian premier, who presided.

M. Delacroix read the order of business as follows: First, procedure; second, disarmament; third, reparations; and fourth, those guilty of war crimes. Herr Febrbach signified approval of the order of business and procedure and said he was glad of this opportunity to meet and talk with the allies.

The German chancellor declared he had come to the conference with the intention of executing the treaty of Versailles. M. Delacroix then referred to the notes regarding disarmament presented by the allies to Germany, and asked what reply the Germans had to make.

Herr Febrbach said that the war minister and Major-General Von Seeckt, chief of the German general staff, who were expected to attend the conference had not yet arrived. He suggested that in their absence Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, be permitted to make some observations on the subject.

Premiers Millerand, Lloyd George and Delacroix retired for a private conference on this question, after which Mr. Lloyd George said the allies saw no object in discussing disarmament with anyone excepting those who were responsible. He proposed that the conference adjourn until these two delegates should arrive, and it was decided to suspend the session until 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

ALL NIGHT ON RAFT WITH HIS DEAD SON

PROVIDENCE, July 6.—After having held onto the body of his dead son, Lawrence, whom he had been unable to get safely to a U. S. Navy target raft when their boat capsized shortly after 6:30 o'clock Sunday night, Frank Chapman, 65 Atlantic ave., superintendent of the N. W. Dunton Company, was rescued yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock by a tug and taken to Bristol, whence he came to his home here.

Mr. Chapman, his son, Lawrence, aged 20, a member of the class of '22 of Brown University, and George Walcott, 20, of Fruit Hill, went to Newport in a catboat Sunday. When returning their boat was struck by a squall and upset in the vicinity of Conanicut Island.

They hung to the upturned boat for two hours. When they reached a point between Conanicut and Prudence Island they saw the navy raft, and as Lawrence Chapman, who had been sailing the catboat all day, was weakening, it was decided that the best thing to do was to swim to the raft.

Mr. Chapman added his son, but before the raft had been reached Lawrence began to go under. His father still clung to his son and, with the assistance of Walcott, lifted him to the raft, where it was found he was dead.

Without means of signalling any passing craft, Mr. Chapman and Walcott were forced to await daylight, and it was not until 8:30 o'clock that a tug discovered their plight and took them aboard.

The ex-mayor has a fractured kneecap, as well as had lacerations of the muscles of both legs. An operation will be necessary in a few days and it will be six or seven weeks before he will be around, and a longer time before he is about again with anything approximating his old-time activity.

Owing to the general excitement at the field when the ex-mayor was injured, there was some confusion regarding as to just how the accident happened.

The ex-mayor, who has two sons, Jack, pitcher, and Tom, third base, playing with the Bay Side nine, attends all its games. Because of his tireless activity and the fact that the younger boys will obey his wishes at all times while the play is in progress, Sunday he acts as sort of a special policeman, as usual, he was all over the field.

SHAKY NERVES

Unless you are well advanced in years, your hand should be steady. If your hand, your thumb or foot trembles when you try to hold it still, if the lines are shaky when you write, if you have tremors of your lips or chin, your nerves need strengthening.

These signs often precede a serious nervous breakdown. In meeting this condition, it is necessary to exercise care in the diet and take a nervous tonic. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain ingredients that build up the nerves at the same time that they tone up the system in general, and their value in preventing nervous disorders from developing can not be disputed.

They are especially recommended for nervous, run-down people because they are a non-alcoholic tonic.

If you have any nervous troubles write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for their little book "Diseases of the Nervous System." It gives methods of home treatment and directions regarding hygiene that every one should have.

their away when the auto truck, driven by John J. Craig of Quincy, ran onto the field, out of control of the driver.

There were shouts of warning almost simultaneously with the truck reaching the crowd, but the ex-mayor, whose back was to the oncoming truck, was knocked down the truck passing over his legs.

AUTO HIT CYCLE ON E. MERRIMACK ST.

At the corner of East Merrimack and Fayette streets Sunday forenoon an auto driven by Mr. William Hiltz of Berkeley avenue struck a motorcycle and side car driven by Albert Grant of Fayette street. Grant was driving out of Fayette street and Hiltz was approaching the corner at a fair gait, going outward. He struck the motorcycle with considerable force, sending it careening to the other side of the street. Mr. Grant was thrown out, but beyond some scratches and bruises, he did not seem to be seriously injured. He had a fortunate escape. That corner is very dangerous and many accidents have occurred there.

BOSTON, July 6.—Fifteen thousand men, women and children were thrown into the wildest sort of panic at Lincoln park, Somerville, last night, when ten were seriously injured and scores more trampled on and burned when a mammoth set piece of fireworks went wrong and hurled high explosives into the crowd.

Dynamite bombs threw flames and great pieces of wood into the crowd. Other sections of the huge display piece shot ball after ball of fire among the women and children who fought to escape from the field.

Screams of the injured and terrified women and youngsters sounded even above the crash of the exploding fireworks—the "volcano eruption" scheduled as the last of the display of the evening.

$4,000,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE

Entire Fishing District on Shore of Sea of Okhotsk Destroyed

Fate of Fishermen Unknown —Fire Believed to Have Been Set by Bolsheviks

TOKIO, July 6.—Fire has swept the entire fishing district on the western shore of the Sea of Okhotsk, which was leased to Japan under the treaty of Portsmouth, according to a wireless report. The financial loss is estimated at $4,000,000 and so far the fate of the fishermen along the coast is unknown.

The Hokkaido Fisheries company has asked the government to dispatch warships to the scene to investigate the origin of the fire, which is believed to have been set by Bolsheviks.

arms for silence and then stand poised like college yell leaders to signal the answer to the question.

Ballot Not Completed

The 41st ballot never was completed. In the chorus of affirmation it was swept away as unnecessary. Many of the changes which would have been made had the vote been carried through were never recorded, and on the face of that ballot Governor Cox received officially 70% votes, but these were never totaled, for he was nominated by the unanimous voice of the convention.

The nomination of Governor Cox means that the two great parties not only have gone into the same state for their candidates, but have picked men who for years have been associated more or less closely in the same profession. Like Senator Harding, Governor Cox is a newspaperman and their home towns in Ohio are not far apart.

Dislodged Keystone

The release of Attorney General Palmer's delegates after the 38th ballot dislodged the keystone of the convention jam, although for a time it appeared that the deadlock between McAdoo and Cox would continue indefinitely. With 211 Palmer delegates, on the 38th call, turned loose, McAdoo gained 34 1/2 votes on the 39th ballot and Cox, 35, with one Louisiana and 73 Pennsylvania delegates staying by the attorney general. On that call McAdoo made his principal gain in taking Georgia's 28 from the Palmer column, while Cox gained 19 from Massachusetts, giving him 23 of her 36 with others scattering from other Palmer sources.

On the next, the 40th ballot, Cox climbed from 46 1/2 to 49 and McAdoo from 46 to 47, while Palmer divided to 19, including 18 stragglers from his home state and then one Louisiana. McAdoo held the Georgia block, but Cox scooped up scattering McAdoo delegates from Illinois, Washington and other high spots of the McAdoo organization. Both sides watched in vain for Tennessee to swing her 21 votes from Davis; they remained in the ambassador's column until the last.

The 41st ballot showed a net gain of seven and one-half votes for Cox and a loss of seven for McAdoo, who took four more Pennsylvanians. In the first break of Pennsylvania from Palmer, McAdoo got 42 to Cox's 12, but both got a few more later.

Both Under 500 on First

Both leaders were under the 500 mark on the 41st ballot at midnight, with each sniping into the other's camp and the Davis voters holding fast. On the succeeding ballot, Cox made his first big gain which portended the finale. Closing with 47 1/2 votes on the 41st, Cox rose on the next to 54 1/2, or only 7 1/2 less than a majority of the convention, while McAdoo dropped from 160 to 127. Then Georgia started the slide toward Cox by swinging 25 solid from McAdoo. Cox picked up more scattering votes, including four Davis delegates in Michigan.

McAdoo, however, still held the bulk of the Pennsylvanians. Cox shot 26 over a majority on the 42nd ballot, setting 565 as against 540 1/2 on the previous roll. McAdoo dropped 15 on the 43rd, going from 127 to 112. Cox's principal gains were a solid vote from Louisiana taking a half dozen from McAdoo, and 10 1/2 from Virginia, which previously had been returned to Senator Glass. On that ballot also Cox drew away numerous scattering votes from McAdoo.

The final ballot began at 1:15 o'clock. Almost from the start Cox began taking single and double votes from the McAdoo delegations. The real break-up developed when three Florida delegates who had stood fast for McAdoo for many ballots, swung over and gave Cox a solid 12. Cox held Georgia intact, gained four more Pennsylvanians from McAdoo, and then Tom Taggart announced a solid block of 20 from Indiana for Cox, taking 10 from McAdoo. Kentucky likewise gave up three McAdoo votes and made it 26 solid for Cox.

Louisiana gave another unbroken block. Maryland followed after, giving McAdoo 5 1/2 and Cox 8 1/2. Massachusetts then rolled up 35 of her 36 votes to Cox, who also gained six more from Missouri, while five of Nebraska's seven who had been enrolling for McAdoo for many ballots also turned to the Ohioan.

Pennsylvania then cast 65, leaving but four to McAdoo, as compared to 47 on the preceding ballot. Vermont, which had been split even, gave all eight to Cox. Virginia gave eight more, Wisconsin turned in 16 more, while the Alaska, Hawaii, Philippines and Porto Rico delegations, which had been dividing their votes, went in a bunch to the nominee.

Awaiting a call after the territories were Maryland and Michigan, which had been passed, possibly to watch the results of the final ballot.

With the Cox tide in flood, the Colorado change was announced and the long battle ended with the motion for a unanimous choice.

The West Virginia 16 stood steadfast for Davis during the entire battle. Also the score of Oklahomans instructed for Senator Owen and nine Nebraskans, controlled by Bryan and voting almost from the first for Owen never wavered.

Edwards Sends Message

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 6.—Gov. Edwards, defeated candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, sent a message of congratulation to the victor today. The message read:

"Sincere congratulations. Your nomination is well deserved and spells success."

BRIEF SKETCH OF GOV. COX

James Middleton Cox was three times governor of Ohio—an honor enjoyed by only one other Ohioan, Rufus B. Hayes.

Born on a farm, educated in the public schools, a printer's devil, a school teacher, a newspaper reporter, a private secretary to a congressman, owner, manager and proprietor of two newspapers, member of congress for three years and three times governor of his state is his record to date.

Business success paralleled his political achievements and through his own efforts Cox has amassed a fortune. Mr. Cox became the leader of the democratic party in Ohio in 1912 when he was nominated for governor. As one who had brought radical changes in the state constitution, he took the field in its behalf. His first term as governor was devoted chiefly to forwarding the enactment of laws to put the new state constitution into effect.

But Ohio evidently was not prepared to assimilate all the new laws for Cox was defeated for re-election. But his party renominated him in 1916 and he was re-elected for a third term in 1918, being the only democrat to win in Ohio.

Legislation for which Governor Cox is best known includes a model workmen's compensation law and a child labor law which have been extensively copied by other states. Educators of the country say the Ohio school code, enacted under Governor Cox's direction, will live as a monument to his achievements.

Mr. Cox was born in Butler county, Ohio, in 1870. He attended district school and held his first position as a teacher of the school in which he took his first lessons. He spent evenings and holidays in a printing office. In a few years he received his first assignment on the editorial staff of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

After 10 years with the Enquirer, he went to Washington as a private secretary to Congressman Paul Sore of Ohio. At the close of this service, he purchased the Dayton Daily News, borrowing most of the money to pay for it. Later he purchased the Springfield Daily News. He was first elected to congress in 1908.

He recently purchased the farm near Jacksonburg upon which he was born, and is making it into a modern farm home where he expects to live on retirement from public office. He married and has four children.

Davis Congratulates Winner

LONDON, July 6.—Ambassador John W. Davis, when informed of the nomination of James M. Cox of Ohio by the democratic national convention at San Francisco, this morning sent the following message to Governor Cox: "My hearty congratulations upon your nomination. You can and will lead the party to a well deserved victory."

Mr. Davis was informed of the result at San Francisco by the Associated Press at 11:15 o'clock this morning. He had just completed the delivery of an address at the opening meeting of the conference of American and British professors.

Delighted, Says McAdoo

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 6.—When William G. McAdoo was informed upon rising this morning that Governor James M. Cox of Ohio had been nominated as the democratic candidate for the presidency, his only comment was, "I am relieved and delighted that the call did not come to me."

Mr. McAdoo showed every evidence that he was pleased, and explained he would make a statement later in the day. Mrs. McAdoo, who was by her husband's side, said: "That's great!"

Before leaving for his office in Manhattan, Mr. McAdoo called the newspaper men and said: "Will you say this for me: I'm eternally grateful to my friends for their support."

TWO WOMEN VOTED FOR AT CONVENTION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The first vote to be cast for a woman for the democratic presidential nomination came yesterday when a Kentucky delegate on the 36th ballot, voted for Miss Laura Clay of Lexington, Ky.

It was the first vote cast for a woman in the conventions of either of the two great parties, though 36 years ago, in August, 1884, the Equal Rights party nominated Belva Lockwood for president at its convention held in San Francisco.

When on the 36th ballot another Kentucky delegate wasted a ballot for Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart for president there was introduced to the country another "professor in politics." Mrs. Stewart is a Kentucky school teacher.

MILLS WILL RUN

Silk Hosiery Mills to Run on Full Time

Word has been received from Altoona, Pa., that the mills that manufacture the Try-on silk hosiery will run on full time. The growth and popularity of this $1.25 silk stocking in three years' time has been phenomenal.

In 1917, 15,963 pairs were sold; in 1918, 13,123 pairs were sold; in 1919, 26,206 pairs were sold. Nineteen hundred and twenty promises to be a much larger year as the Try-on guaranteed silk hose is being advertised everywhere, and the basement of the store in Merrimack square is being devoted to filling mail orders.

The growth is due to the fact that a new pair is given if they go wrong, which is a strong guarantee on a silk stocking; but the quality is there and they are sold direct from the mill to you.

All through the high prices Try-on silk hosiery never changed and never will. Every mail that brings an order for these guaranteed stockings exclaims, "I can't buy stockings like you offer at home," and mail comes from cities that one would think could compete.

At present the middle west is being covered with advertising. A woman wrote from Detroit to send her a dozen pairs, that she had bought some when her husband was stationed at Camp Devens. "This only goes to prove that a good article is always remembered."

LOWELL MEN HONORED AT LAWRENCE

At the meeting of the Merrimack Valley chapter of the Men's legion the second degree was conferred on a class of 165 candidates, including 22 from this city, and at the close of the meeting those who received the degree

ONE KILLED, THREE INJURED IN RIOT

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., July 6.—One man was killed and three are known to have been wounded in a fight late Sunday at Roderfeld, details of which began drifting into Williamson yesterday morning, but which at noon were far from complete.

According to the stories told to the authorities, the miners at Roderfeld formed a union organization on Friday, and Sunday afternoon were holding a meeting in the open air when they were fired upon from the brush on the mountain side. Many of the miners who were armed sought cover, the shooting lasting for some time. It has not yet been made clear just who made up the attacking party.

A company of the state constabulary which was on duty here during the sessions of the special grand jury which inquired into the Matewan shooting, in which 10 men lost their lives, and which made its report Saturday night, left here for its home station at Beckley, and should have been in the neighborhood of Roderfeld soon after the shooting. It was reported that this company had taken charge of the situation at Roderfeld. Telegraph and telephone wires through that section were put out of order Friday by a series of storms and until communication is restored the authorities say they will know little of the details.

When the news of the Roderfeld battle reached here, the authorities were notified that a party of men were preparing to march to Roderfeld. B. R. Page, said to be a union organizer, was arrested, as was a deputy sheriff, and quiet was restored.

LAWRENCE STREET BRIDGE QUESTION

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department has received a reply from Lewis E. Moore, engineering expert of the state department of public utilities, to a letter forwarded Mr. Moore about a week and a half ago asking him to assist in having the Lawrence street bridge during its reconstruction this summer.

Since that time, the railway company through its engineer, Mr. Walker, has agreed to give service during the rebuilding of the bridge and consequently Mr. Moore's efforts have not been required. In his letter to Commissioner Murphy, however, Mr. Moore offers him whatever further assistance he may be able to give in connection with the reconstruction of the bridge.

GETTING BIG PUMP IN SHAPE AGAIN

The large Allen-Chalmers pump at the West Sixth street pumping station which broke more than a month ago and seriously threatened the city's water supply, is rapidly being put in shape for use again, according to Commissioner John F. Salmon. The commissioner is eager to have the big machine pounding away as the cost of maintaining the Cuck wells is eating rapidly into the finances of the department. A corps of engineers and firemen has to be kept on the job keeping these emergency wells in operation and considerable coal is being used.

The new cross-compound pump recently delivered here is also being erected rapidly at the West Sixth street station under the direction of an engineer from the Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE

The manager of the Hobson & Lawler baseball team will say that the defeat that the Saunders Market team handed his team last Thursday was a disappointment to him. When his team gets up against the market boys he will have a lineup a little stronger and will probably have Ted Hoson on the mound for he wants the next game and is bound that his team will bring home the title. The Hobson & Lawler team will play the Market team on the North common next Thursday afternoon at 5.30 o'clock.

On the first floor are kitchen, dining room, parlor and living room. On the second floor are three chambers and toilet, and an unfinished attic on the floor above. In the basement, the cellar has toilet and sink and bulkhead. The tenement at No. 210 has six rooms, kitchen, dining room and parlor on the first floor, and three chambers and toilet on the second floor, and an unfinished attic on the floor above, has good cellar and bulkhead, and is supplied with furnace heat, and is rented at a sum of $15 per month or $126 per year. The premises have a total income of $30 per month or $432 per year.

The building is in very good order, has front and side entrances, and it being of the double house plan makes it very desirable, as the tenements are entirely apart from each other.

The lot has a total area of about 4500 square feet, with a frontage on High street of about 50 feet, is fenced on either side, has concrete walks to side entrances and splendid garden space in the rear, has sewer, gas and city water connections.

In the offering of the above described, the opportunity is here given to purchase at once, competition a home and investment property, where the owner could occupy one tenement and rent the other, and the income received would pay the entire running expenses of both. The house could, owing to its plan, easily be converted with a comparatively small outlay into a dwelling of either four or six apartments, and the owner would be assured of an immediate rental, as the property is in one of the best renting locations in the city, it being within close proximity to the principal industries and also to churches of different denominations, schools, etc.

ANOTHER DEFEAT FOR MILITARISTS

PEKIN, July 5.—Militarist elements received another defeat late last night when General Hsu Chu-Cheng, resident commissioner of Inner Mongolia and commander on the northwestern frontier, was relieved of those posts. The mandate by which he was retired from his duties announced that he had been made a retired generalissimo, and will receive a pension of 1090 taels monthly, but this is considered here as a step intended only to "save the face" of the general.

The dramatic dismissal of Hsu Chu-Cheng startled Pekin and gave rise to apprehension of an uprising by troops under his command who are still in the city. Many people have hurriedly deposited their valuables in foreign banks, and there is a feeling akin to panic. Officials, however, are not perturbed.

Kisses Wife and Goes to Tell Veteran Lawyer of His Victory

DAYTON, Ohio, July 6.—Governor James M. Cox, who was nominated for the presidency by the democratic convention early today, declined to make a statement regarding his victory until after he has received notification from the convention.

The governor received the news of his nomination in his newspaper office, the Dayton News, surrounded by fellow newspaper workers and a few relatives and intimate friends.

When the Associated Press wires flashed the news of the nomination, his first act was to cross the room and kiss his wife.

He then left the building and walked a few blocks to the home of his closest personal friend, John A. McMahon, aged 57, dean of Dayton lawyers, to whom he wished personally to give the news.

Mrs. Cox was highly elated over the nomination of her husband, and immediately sent a telegram to her father, Thomas P. Blain, of Chicago.

Gov. Cox planned to visit the grave of his mother this morning. His mother, Mrs. Gilbert Cox, died at the age of 85 several years ago. She lived to see him inaugurated governor for his first term.

During the morning, meetings were held by officials of the Dayton chamber of commerce who let it become known that they were planning a huge jollification meeting at which the city of Dayton would extend congratulations to Governor Cox.

Printers Congratulate Cox

When the governor returned to his office he was presented with resolutions of congratulation from the union printers working on the paper. The resolutions pledged united support and continued:

"We recognize the fact that you have come from the ranks of the workers and, therefore, are in every way able to understand the needs and requirements of the man who toils."

In the composing room congratulations were extended by the printers following their noon hour. Other employees of the News extended formal congratulations through an editorial appearing in today's issue.

Before leaving for home in the early morning after the convention adjourned, the governor shook hands with each employee about the office.

Governor Cox will go to Middletown, Ohio, tonight, to receive the congratulations of "home folks" there, with whom he attended school and worked when a young man.

HARDING MAY VISIT MAINE

PORTLAND, Me., July 6.—Senator Harding, the republican nominee for president, will visit Maine whose state election is held in September, if he changes his plans not to make a tour of the country.

Senator Frederick Hale was assured by him at Washington recently, that, if he departed from the program he has laid out and made a number of campaign speeches, he would include Maine in his itinerary.

As anticipated, Lowell's observance of Independence day this year was strictly of the safe and sane variety and not in many years has a Fourth passed into history with little tumult and excitement as the 1920 anniversary.

It was a day of real enjoyment, minus the unhappy incidents that have invariably accompanied previous Fourth's when a noisier celebration has been undertaken. There wasn't a serious accident reported all day and although the observant person noted more drunkenness than on an ordinary prohibition era day, it was nothing in comparison.

JAMES M. COX

McAdoo Leader Jumps to Feet During 44th Ballot and Moves That Nomination of Cox be Made Unanimous—Proposal Greeted With Cheers and Applause and Completion of Voting Was Swept Away as Unnecessary—To Name Vice-Presidential Candidate This Afternoon

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—James M. Cox, (three times governor of Ohio, was nominated for the presidency early this morning by the Democratic national convention in the breakup of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of national political parties.

It took 44 ballots to make the choice, and it was not until the 38th, when Attorney General Palmer withdrew from the race, that the long session of roll calls showed any definite trend.

In the turnover of the Palmer delegates, Cox gained the advantage over William G. McAdoo, his rival for first place since early in the balloting, and that advantage never was lost.

With its choice made, the convention adjourned to noon today to name a candidate for the vice presidency.

Favor Roosevelt For Second Place

Should it be decided to give second place on the ticket to the East, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy, seemed to be a favorite, but if the nomination goes to the west, there are several possibilities talked about by the leaders.

Supporters of Governor Cox won a way to the nomination by persistent battering at the McAdoo and Palmer forces in many states throughout a long series of shift-ings and rallies which left now one and then the other of the candidates in the lead.

CONGRATULATES COX

COLUMBUS, O., July 6.—Congratulations from President Wilson were received by Governor Cox this morning upon his nomination. The message from the White House received at the governor's office in Columbus this morning, and transmitted to his home at Dayton, read:

"Please accept my hearty congratulations and cordial best wishes.

(Signed),
"WOODROW WILSON."

President Wilson's telegram of congratulation was among the first of ten or more received this morning at the executive offices. One from W. J. Coghlan, director of publicity for the national committee at San Francisco read:

"The magnificent way in which your nomination was won in good temper and without any great victory in November."

roll call at midnight, found the two virtually the same.

Nomination Made Unanimous

On the 42nd ballot the accession of most of the Palmer strength to Cox put him well ahead and after that great and little state delegations went in to the Cox column in a procession. On the 43rd he got a majority for the first time of all the votes cast and on the 44th he was plunging toward the required two-thirds when Colorado changed its vote to him and made the nomination obvious. It was made unanimous on motion of Sam B. Amidon of Kansas, vice chairman of the national committee, and a leader of the McAdoo forces.

Of the 44 ballots two were taken last Friday night, 14 at the first session Saturday and six at the Saturday

HARDING SAYS
COX DESERVED IT

Republican Nominee Sends
to Democratic Candidate

Declares Result Will Not Change Republican Campaign Plans in Ohio

MARION, Ohio, July 6.—Senator Harding, the republican presidential nominee, in a statement today said Governor Cox deserved the democratic presidential nomination, but added that his selection would not change the republican plans in Ohio in any way.

Senator Harding had no engagements for today, but planned to devote himself exclusively to clearing away a great mass of correspondence and other work that had accumulated since he left Washington Saturday to motor home. Despite a strenuous day through which he passed yesterday in connection with the welcoming celebration in honor of his home coming, the senator was up early and resumed his work with enthusiasm.

During the next few days Senator Harding plans to devote much of his time in the quietude of his residence to the actual preparation of his speech of acceptance. Ever since his nomination he has been accumulating material for this purpose and now has it in such shape that he needs only to put his ideas on paper.

The senator sent Governor Cox a telegram congratulating him on his success. It was not given out here, but was left for the democratic nominee to make public if he so desired.

"Governor Cox's nomination," Senator Harding said, "is an added consideration shown to our great state of Ohio, for which I am glad, and gives reasonable assurance that finally a newspaperman is to be made the nation's chief executive. Ohio has accorded Governor Cox very unusual distinction and he deserves his notable victory at San Francisco. His nomination will not change our activities in any way in Ohio. It is a great party contest before us, to be fought on great principles involved, and neither place of residence nor personality will have any marked influence on the result."

The telegram sent by Senator Harding to Governor Cox read:

"I recall a much remarked cartoon which portrayed you and me as newspapermen contesting for the White House delivery. It seems to have been prophetic. As an Ohioan and a fellow-publisher, I congratulate you on your notable victory."

MAN KILLED AT THE WATERHEAD MILLS

Max Domersick, a resident of Gorham street and employed at the Waterhead mill, was instantly killed this afternoon when he was wound around a shaft while at his work. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Underlakers Higgins Bros.

Domersick was employed in the finishing room of the mill and this afternoon while attempting to throw on a three-inch belt his clothing was caught, and he was wound around the main shaft. He was badly mangled. Deceased, who was 19 years of age, had been employed at the mill for some time and was considered a valued operative.

REPUBLICANS MAKING CAMPAIGN PLANS

CHICAGO, July 6.—With Senator Harding's opponent in the November presidential race picked, republican leaders who gathered here today from coast to coast prepared to launch a campaign which they declared would take the democratic followers by surprise and gain a start of days if not weeks, before Governor Cox's democratic forces can take the field.

From a republican standpoint, the leaders professed to be well satisfied with the democratic choice, Captain Victor Heintz of Cincinnati, in the home state of both presidential nominees, predicted Senator Harding would sweep Ohio.

Chairman Will Hays arrived at noon and following an informal luncheon, the campaign leaders began consideration of plans for the coming fight.

Besides Hays the leaders here include Clarence Miller, secretary of the national committee; Victor Heintz, central regional director; Ray Benjamin of the Pacific coast region; Fred Carroll, director at Denver for the Rocky Mountain states; Harry M. Daugherty, Senator Harding's campaign manager; A. T. Hert, national committeeman from Kentucky, who led the break to Harding in the convention; Joe Keating, national committeeman from Indiana; Scott Bone, director of publicity of the national committee; A. C. Remmel, Arkansas state chairman, and Rush Holland, state chairman of Colorado.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Governor Cox will be asked immediately to exert his influence to bring about ratification of the suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature, it was announced today by the National Woman's party.

COX ACCEPTS AND
THANKS DELEGATES

DAYTON, Ohio, July 6.—Governor James M. Cox today sent a telegram to the democratic national convention at San Francisco announcing that he would accept the presidential nomination and thanking the delegates for their action.

WHY? Echo WHY!

IT has become known that a gang of burglars, who were supposed to be following in the trail of Kingling Bros. and Bureau & Bailey's cleaners, operated in Lowell last week. Valuables are missing in a number of apartments, and the door and the floor of the door is still there but the house is gone.

There are doubtless hundreds of living places in Lowell where people persist in hiding money or valuables.

That money or other articles are hidden, indicates that owners appreciate their dangers, yet do not recognize their folly. There is but one safe place—that is a SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX. Robbers' false key does not fit our kind of locks—our steel vaults do not fit the Robbers' business methods.

Mr. George N. Sprague, of this city and a Harvard College student, enters the employ of the Middlesex Trust Co., the present week. The rapid growth of the Greek bank business requirements, has made this step a necessity with us.

Noted "Stunt Flyer" Falls to Death

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Leaving Bolling field here yesterday to participate in a Fourth of July celebration at Baltimore, Lieut. Pat Logan, said by aviation officers here to have been one of the best "stunt flyers" in the country, fell 2000 feet at Dundalk field. A fractured skull caused his death an hour later. He formerly lived in Detroit.

TO RETURN ALIEN

ENEMY PROPERTY

WASHINGTON, July 6.—More than $150,000,000 of enemy property taken over by an alien property custodian during the war will be returned to its original owners under an amendment to the trading with the enemy act passed June 5.

This property is part of the more than a billion dollars worth of enemy property held by the alien property custodian. It includes the fortunes of many American heiresses who married foreign noblemen, property of the German embassy, enemy diplomats, all aliens interned, citizens of new nations and states, and women of allied or neutral countries who married enemy subjects.

Americans held in Germany on account of illness, or for other reasons, can now recover their property.

The amendment extends the privilege to pursue enemy debtors to creditors of allied and neutral nations where such nations will grant reciprocal rights to American creditors.

Special Naturalization Court Here Tomorrow Morning

Secured by Local Legion

At the court house on Gorham street tomorrow morning, there will be a session of the naturalization court for the convenience of ex-service men and members of the American Legion. Clerk Dillingham will be assisted by four examiners and all ex-service men are invited to attend at this session is specially for their benefit.

Those who want assistance in making out their papers should call at the Legion rooms this evening where they will get all the assistance required. The Legion appealed to the court for this service in Lowell as they had been taking batches of members to Boston for naturalization, paying their fares and the expenses of bringing witnesses with them.

The officers of the Legion appeal for a large attendance of the ex-service men who are not yet naturalized.

GET MOTOR FUEL FROM MOLASSES

A substitute for gasoline has been found! Not an ordinary imitation, but a fuel that, its inventor claims, will be cheaper, more efficient and more plentiful than the gasoline used today.

The fuel is a "motor alcohol" extracted from molasses by a process invented by J. P. Foster, chemist on a sugar plantation on the island of Maui, in the Hawaiian group. The new fuel has stood the test and has given more power, increased mileage and greater speed per gallon than gasoline, reports say. Easier starting and freedom from carbon also are claimed for it.

Nearly 70 gallons of the fuel can be obtained from a ton of molasses, says Foster.

Beware Rusty Rims

Since iron rust eats into canvas quickly, rims should be examined and kept clean at all times. Rust should be removed by sandpapering, after which it should be coated with graphite or thin shellac. Stove polish will do.

AUTO TALK

Watching for a cop, while you know you're violating a traffic ordinance, may be easy in any city except Los Angeles. There, any passer-by may bring you to your doom. The mayor has organized a vigilance committee to watch for traffic lawbreakers. So, be careful when passing through Los Angeles.

WATCH THE NEW CAR

The new car should be watched closely and should be gone over after every trip. Every nut and bolt should be kept tight. The engine parts are most important for a defect here will result in misfiring and poor carburetion. Inspections should be made frequently for the first 1000 miles, until the car will have worn in somewhat.

Through the suggestion of a lawyer, motorists of Rochester, N. Y., have started a movement to help street car travellers and relieve the jams morning and evening. "Why wait? Ride with us," reads a sign on the windshield of each car whose driver has joined the movement—which is an invitation for waiting pedestrians to hop in and ride downtown. The lawyer who started this is John J. McInerney, counsel for the Rochester Auto club.

HOW TO KEEP AUTO IN GOOD CONDITION

To keep your automobile in good condition, the following things should be attended to regularly:

1. Storage battery inspected every two weeks.
2. Grease cups turned up every 1000 miles.
3. Springs oiled weekly.
4. Oil and gasoline connections inspected weekly.
5. Crank case drained and washed out every 500 miles.
6. Universal joints packed with grease or oil every 1000 miles.
7. Differential and transmission packed with grease or oil every 1000 miles.
8. Spark plugs cleaned every 1000 miles.
9. Carbon removed from cylinders twice a year.
10. Valves ground every 5000 miles.
11. New piston rings every 18 months.
12. Wheels aligned once a month.

WHO SAID "PLEASURE?" ASK AUTO DEALERS

NEW YORK, July 3.—That automobiles should be classed as "pleasure machines" is more than local dealers here can tolerate. They voice their indignation at the government's classification, in their pollin, in the following terms:

"Once more it is necessary to bring to the attention of a few that the word 'pleasure' does not fit in as an adjective. It created havoc in many minds during the war, and only recently a Washington committee insisted on classifying the automobile business with silk shirts, cosmetics, imported perfumes, etc. An automobile compared to a sweet smell for usefulness!

"But the automobile representative came back with an unanswerable argument—to stop every automobile in the United States from running for a period of ten days—a test that immediately flattened all further thoughts along that line.

"The more we hammer home the utilitarian purposes of our products the further we convince the public of a proper realization of their necessity."

"Stop that word pleasure!"

Give them lovelier colors than ever before

At last you can make your chemises, your vests and knickers just the colors you want.

You wash them in Twink and they are a softer pink or lavender, a lovelier yellow than you have ever been able to get before.

Twink is made by a new method for producing colors that makes it possible to get more exquisite shades than have ever before been obtained.

The Twink flakes whip up into a lather in boiling hot water. You put in your faded camisole, your yellowed knickers. And when you take them out of the bright suds the camisole is a delicate lavender—the knickers have all their fresh pink color again.

The Twink colors always turn out right, clear and even, and so fast you can wash your camisole several times before it has to be Twinked again.

Your druggist, the department stores, and the 5 & 10-cent stores have Twink. Twink won't hurt anything that water alone won't hurt. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

For restoring color and for giving these new exquisite colors Twink is as perfect as Lux is for fine laundering.

Flesh Pink Baby Blue Light Green
Zink Copenhagen Dark Green
Coral Turquoise Light Gray
Peach Navy Blue Taupe
Old Rose Yellow Eisque

You use some of the Twink colors like Lux. Others require boiling water and salt. Read directions both outside and inside the package before using.

with the spectacles that the streets presented every Fourth of July a few years back.

The weather man must be credited with the most patriotic of motives for never did he behave better than yesterday and Sunday. There were few vestiges of Saturday's storm left when the city woke up Sunday morning and everybody got "set" for two days of unalloyed enjoyment.

Sunday passed quietly enough until the few hours just before midnight when the enthusiastic spirits, able to stand the restraint no longer, started a barrage of fireworks that was destined to continue with more or less regularity until midnight last night.

Under the auspices of the city government a series of band concerts was given during the afternoon and evening, each of which attracted a large audience. The Lowell Military band entertained a large crowd on the South common from 3 to 5 p. m. under the direction of Edward A. Perry and from 5 to 10 o'clock the U. S. Cartridge Co. band, William Regan, conductor, played in the same place. The Lowell Cadet band, with Conductor J. J. Giblin handling the baton, entertained at the Chelmsford Street hospital from 6 to 8 p. m. and at the Highland club from 4 to 5 p. m. A rather high wind interfered a bit with some of the concerts, but on the whole, they were thoroughly enjoyed.

The South common midway was the real nucleus of Monday's observance. All day Sunday it presented a more or less desultory appearance with only a few refreshment stands attempting to do business, but promptly at midnight the lid was blown off with a bang and things began to whirl.

The common attracted its usual thousands during the day and, despite the disappointment of a rainy Sunday afternoon, most of the stands reported a profitable week-end.

At sunrise, noon and sunset chimes

pealed out from various local churches in glad tidings. In the evening the outstanding feature of the municipal observance, the fireworks display on the South common, attracted thousands to the South common and entertained other thousands in all parts of the city who could easily see the brilliant rocket pieces sent whirling into the air. It was easily one of the best exhibitions of its kind ever presented in Lowell and rarely has such perfect weather marked this annual feature of the Fourth's observance.

It was 9:15 before the exhibition got underway on the Highland Street slope of the common. A large area had been roped off and a squad of policemen under the direction of Lieut. Martin Connors and Sergt. Hugh Maguire kept the crowd at a distance. Once the fireworks display got started and sparks began to fall, the crowd needed no other urging to keep back a safe distance.

The National Fireworks Co. had arranged a most pretentious display, and C. E. Hill, who had charge of setting off the pieces, did his work rapidly and without mishap. James J. Gallagher, local agent for the company, assisted.

The feature of the display was the "Serge of Verdun," a set piece endeavoring to reproduce the thrilling effect of that great bombardment, and succeeding with (hundreds of effect. This piece seemed literally to shake the entire city. Other ground pieces included "The Blazing Sun," "Niagara Fall," serpentine representations and fortune wheels. The rockets soared high into the air in their usual brilliancy and were visible from every section of the city.

The first aid tents on the South common established by the municipal authorities were a brand new feature of Fourth of July observances and were eminently successful. From midnight Sunday until midnight Monday 51 people were treated, none of them seriously hurt but, nevertheless, in such a condition as to appreciate the convenience of the tents.

Lost children, a few Jamaica ginger lubbers, a heat prostration and a variety of other minor ills and mishaps were included in the day's work. The most serious case to come to the attention of the board of health nurses was that of a veteran of the world war who was suffering from a return of shell shock.

The doctors who did duty were Dr. Francis Finnegan, Dr. Edward Welch, Dr. George F. Caisse and Dr. Thomas F. Carroll. They were assisted by the regular board of health nurses who worked in shifts of three hours each and by Napoleon Milot, a male nurse.

Several residents of Summer street allowed their telephones to be used at any time to call the ambulance or for whatever other purpose the first aid authorities wished to use them.

The younger element of the city's population got their full share of enjoyment from private stocks of fireworks and even the most residential section of the community was not free from reverberations produced by some penny firecracker set off by a young enthusiast.

The dual holiday and delightful weather attracted hundreds of Lowell people to nearby resorts and a heavy travel was reported by the railroad officials. Others simply remained at home and rested. It was a quiet holiday, but none the less successful.

COX NOMINATED

After a long and tiresome contest the democratic convention at San Francisco nominated for president of the United States, Governor James M. Cox of Ohio. The Cox forces won the victory on the 44th ballot after making a fight against the strong influence of Mr. McAdoo that has rarely been paralleled in national conventions.

On the whole, the instant verdict will be that the convention nominated their strongest candidate. Governor Cox comes from a strong republican state in which he is serving his third term as chief executive. He is the editor and publisher of two large and successful daily papers besides being a farmer and a business man of wide experience. In political matters he has proved himself to be a natural leader and a constructive statesman of great ability. It appears that he is the man for the present emergency to harmonize conflicting elements, to restore confidence in the democratic party and lead it to victory at the polls in November.

First elected governor in 1912, he has been twice re-elected over strong republican opposition so that there is little doubt of his ability to carry the state in the presidential contest with his opponent Senator Harding, the republican nominee. He has to his credit a long list of very important reforms in the state of Ohio and the readiness with which he has been able to meet every situation calling for unusual executive ability has marked him as a man capable to deal with affairs of the greatest national importance.

During his incumbency as governor he has had to deal with many labor conflicts in the mines and other industries of Ohio, but in no case has he allowed the conflicting elements to get away from the ordinary restraints of law. He has had the honor of maintaining law and order without the assistance of the military forces when it was supposed that outbreaks would occur and turbulent elements break out in mob violence. Governor Cox, proved equal to the occasion in every case restraining the radicals and bringing about agreements through conference of labor organizations with their employers and averting serious result.

In spite of the great influence exerted in behalf of Mr. McAdoo, it appears that the democratic convention exercised the best judgment possible in nominating Governor Cox. Had Mr. McAdoo been nominated, although he is a very able official, his connection with President Wilson and the cognomen of "Crown Prince" with which he has already been dubbed, would kill his chances. Those who looked to the democratic convention to destroy its chances of success by lack of harmony or lack of judgment have miscalculated in the present case. From first to last the convention was conducted more successfully and more in accordance with advanced ideas of political procedure than was the republican convention. The democrats have chosen a stronger standard bearer than have the republicans and they can now enter upon the campaign with most encouraging prospects of success.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Very few democrats believed that from such discordant elements could come such harmony as is represented in the platform of the democratic party. Throughout the proceedings, the convention was managed much better than the Chicago performance.

The platform is a remarkably strong declaration of policies and principles. Where the republican platform is weak and evasive, the democratic is strong, direct and positive. On the League of Nations the democratic party has taken a high moral ground which stands out in striking contrast with the republican plank on this great issue.

In passing over the prohibition question in silence the party turned aside a strong element that sought a plank favoring light beer and wines. On this question silence was golden.

The plank on Mexico is particularly clear and unambiguous of being misunderstood. When the new government shall have given proof of its ability to maintain law and order and of its willingness to meet its international obligations and treat American investors within her barders with full justice, then and not till then will the party favor the recognition of the Mexican republic.

On the matter of railroads the platform points out that the Esch-Cummings bill passed hurriedly in the closing hours of congress gave the president a choice between this measure and a chaotic condition in the railroad system. But it is held that the law should get a full and fair test so that the actual needs of the railroads may be accurately determined and provided for.

Thus every subject touched—and none of importance was overlooked—is treated with sound judgment and in accord with the most progressive ideals of public policy. The party had not been appealing to the country for platform ideas—of these there was no scarcity—and yet each and all it touched was dealt with in a masterly manner.

The chief subject upon which the party can congratulate itself is, that the platform controversies were all threshed out in a thoroughly democratic manner without leaving any sores that might rankle in the flesh to be felt in cutting down the party majority in November.

So far as the platform is concerned, the democratic party has far outdone the republican and can appeal to the people in November with confidence of victory. The outlook for success is much better than could have been assumed before the convention. In the past the party was twitted with making a mess of things but in this case it has steered safely through a stormy sea set with dangerous reefs and emerged without a jolt or scar.

WOMEN SHOULD REGISTER

It seems to be assured that the woman suffrage amendment will be ratified by the requisite number of states to make it a part of the constitution before the summer is over. The governor of Vermont has promised to call a special session of the legislature to act on the matter, and it is believed that there is not any question but that such action will be favorable. The governor of Tennessee has already called upon the legislators of his state to meet August 8 and it is said to be a foregone conclusion that they will vote for ratification.

There is now keen rivalry between the parties as to which will have the honor of furnishing the 36th state to complete the ratification of the 19th amendment. The democratic platform appeals to Florida and North Carolina as well as Tennessee on this point.

Unfortunately in some of the states, owing to the laws governing registration, women will not be permitted to vote for presidential electors next November despite a change in the federal constitution granting woman suffrage.

It is a cause for satisfaction, though, that in Massachusetts the election laws, as amended by the last legislature, are such that it is probable that no woman need miss an opportunity to express her preference for president and other elective officials this year, provided she will only take the trouble to see that her name is placed on the voting list.

Under the law, as it now reads, all women who are qualified to vote for school committee may register, and at the moment that the federal amendment is ratified, they will automatically become qualified to cast their ballots for all elective officers same as men.

It should not be necessary to urge upon women the importance of registering and taking a part in the affairs of government, now that the ballot is to be placed in their hands. Coming fresh to the polls, it would be admirable if they could start the custom of taking an active part in politics and change the record of some of the fair voters who, through laziness or lack of interest fail to vote.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

The city of Lowell is a big corporation. It holds a charter from the state the same as any other corporation. What might be termed its capital stock, its assets and its expenditures run into many millions. It is its business to guard and protect property worth vast sums of money, to safeguard the lives of over a hundred thousand people, and to provide them with such public utilities as good streets, good schools and good water. Its business is vastly more extended and important than that of any of the corporations which it includes.

business is vastly more extended and important than that of any of the corporations which it includes.

If we can get away from the idea that running the city government is irrevocably mixed up directly or indirectly with politics we shall probably have made a step toward greater efficiency than we now have. A big mill can be successfully operated only as a business proposition. The same is true of the municipality, but the business methods of the city are usually very lax.

It will be well if the new charter commission tackles the proposition that has been placed in its hands in the same way that its members would tackle a bad condition of affairs that existed in their own private business. If there is waste and inefficiency anywhere, it will be just as well to know it and the cause thereof before undertaking to tinker with the charter without knowing exactly what is wrong.

To get down to concrete facts, it is generally known that our city streets are, in many instances, in a deplorable condition. Is this due to the inefficiency, lack of technical training or wasteful methods of the present or past incumbents of the office? Is it due to lack of funds to keep the highways in proper repair? Is the cause to be found in some fundamental defect in our present charter as a result of which, under a commission form of government, our finances are not properly regulated and controlled?

These are some of the fundamental problems that the members of the charter commission may find it worth while to consider.

News comes of a party of federal agents searching for moonshine stills, getting lost in a wilderness and being obliged to tramp 15 miles through jungles and underbrush. No, this didn't happen in the mountain regions of the south, but within a comparatively short distance of Springfield, Massachusetts. They found the moonshine, however, which repaid them for their hardships.

Another record was established for Lowell when the first classes ever conducted in a textile factory, for the instruction of workers under the supervision of the public school authorities, ended their work for the year at the Massachusetts mills. Agent Mitchell deserves congratulations on being a leader in this work.

Charles Sumner Bird says that he doesn't want to run for the republican nomination for governor because he wishes to do all that he can to promote party harmony. Mr. Bird may remember what the republicans are in the habit of doing when former progressives seek election to office.

By all means gentlemen get that label "made in Lowell" on your manufactured goods. It may be all right for you to hide your own light under a bushel, if you wish to do so, but that is no reason why you shouldn't do your part to keep the city's light from being hidden there also.

"Monarchist" was the name of the horse that won the first race since the war at the famous German course at Ruhleben. When Herr Wilhelm Hohenzollern heard the news did he give those famous moustaches an extra upward twist?

Perhaps there may be some connection between reports of a shortage of school teachers and the fact that the number of June weddings this year has broken all previous records.

Lowell will miss James F. Savage—a good citizen, a faithful public official and, for thirty-four years, clerk of the city police court.

It is reported that the prices for "jacky" have been doubled, but police court records do not indicate that consumption has greatly fallen off.

We can only the G. O. P. one of its assets, Albert Edmund Brown, its vigorous, vigorous and versatile song leader.

MAN ABOUT-TOWN

Some day a Lowell bank or store is likely to make itself solid with the city by introducing a machine for pumping money. At least we may hope that the machine, I have heard, is being introduced. "What," you may say, "does it do?" "Why," it says, "it pumps out very new about-town money, so that you can have a reputation, a manly body, no longer young, who, when a good deal of paper currency that has been received in her bank, has been immediately turned in to the bank with the instructions,

SEEN AND HEARD

"One day in the country is worth a month in town."

It is getting so the length of a skirt doesn't signify any more than the degree of the wearer's nerve.

And so Harding is to interpret the platform in his speech of acceptance. It's a big job to handle in one short speech.

Fear Hubby!

With many sobs and repetitions, the good woman had told her tale of woe to the English clergyman.

It was full of "B's" and "I's" to him, but the clergyman listened patiently till she had finished.

"I'm sorry, my dear lady," he said sympathetically. "Certainly your husband does seem to treat you rather unkindly. But remember that you took him for better or for worse."

"Well, it's all his fault for woe, 's far as I kin see," replied the visitor, dabbing her eyes with what only politeness could call a pocket handkerchief.

"Have you tried to cure him with kindness?" pleaded the man. "Have you tried heaping coals of fire on his head?"

"No, I ain't, sir," replied the woman grateful for the new idea. "So far, I've only tried 'ot water'."

Rest and Quiet

Now comes the time when many persons, worn by noise and confusion of the city, go to the country for rest and quiet. There, while they are awake in bed at night,

Insects hum, buzz, zizz, zipp, trill, chirp, quaver, whirr, tick and click! Frogs croak!

A small dog yelps, yarrs, yaws and goes "wuff! wuff!"

A windmill squeaks! A rooster crows. Another answers. The first crows back!

With daylight the noises rise to a chorus of clucking hens, quacking ducks, neighing horses, moaning cows, squealing and grunting pigs, bawling sheep, while early-rising humans make more noise than all the rest combined.

The point of it is that one becomes accustomed to any familiar sound, while unusual noises are disturbing.

The noisiest place to a stranger is likely to be some thin-walled hotel at a crowded summer resort.

There are plenty of persons with strong nerves who are not easily disturbed. One such wrote to a summer resort to which he went last summer. He wishes to return. But he insists that he must have a room in the main building.

"I don't want the room I had last summer in the annex," he wrote seriously. "I'm kind of funny that way. I can't sleep over a bowling alley!"

Grandma

Grandma, with her silvery hair, sitting under a big old tree, calm and placid, prudent, wise, finely fitted to advise.

Say and gladly, active, bright, gay and gleefully, mature of age—That is what we used to see. That's what grandma used to be.

Grandma, active, up-to-date, lithe and lively, strong and straight. Skirt ten inches from the ground. At the hem a scant yard 'round. She was a little old maid, but not too old to dance all night. Prompt for pleasure, sport or play—That's what grandma is today!

Life a Little!

Life a little bit. Dangerous advice and not to be taken too strenuously. But this is the point: You lie to your friends, to your trade, to your rivals.

Why not lie to your family? Why not lie to your friends? When you dine at the Smiths, you have a word of praise for every dish shown you at the mouth of Mrs. Smith doesn't believe you utterly.

But she is pleased just the same. Why not lie a little to friend with over her everyday dinner? When the Browns make their little dinner play the violin, you applaud and urge him to play again.

Oh, Brown, know you don't mean it. But he's your friend for life. Well, do you clap your hands a couple of times, when your own child wiggles at the mouth of Mrs. Brown? Or do you yell at him to "cut it out?"

When the Jones girl comes back from college with a clear case and a blue pup, you compliment her upon her individuality.

Jones is heartened considerably. Then you go to her and bawl out your own flapper, who is trying on her one-piece bathing suit.

By not tell her that she makes the front view of the Ebbles look like the first act of St. Hopkins?

Lying is a bad habit. But if you must indulge in lying, why not say it with the family?—Edmund Vance Cook. (Copyright, 1920 N.E.A.)

"Here, Margaret, wash that." A number of big stores and banks in Boston New York and other cities have been operating machines for a number of years in which every piece of currency that is not worn beyond redemption is thoroughly cleaned before being returned to circulation. The next time you make a trip to Boston just notice the paper currency that comes into your hands and see if you do not find a larger proportion of clean bills than you ordinarily do at home. The machines that clean the money are apparently quite simple in operation. The soiled bills are dumped in at one end and from the other glide out a continuous stream of currency that has been thoroughly scrubbed, dried and ironed. In most cases the washed bills will have all the appearance of being a brand new.

Barely has there come to my attention a scene more appealing than that furnished in the banquet room of the Richardson hotel last Friday evening when half a hundred men and women employed in the Massachusetts mills received certificates testifying that they had completed a preliminary course in English and civics. These people, all foreign born, had given up their noon hours and time after work to acquire a knowledge of the English tongue and it would be hard to forget the joyful expressions presented when these ambitious workers stepped forward to receive their certificates. There was a gleam of real delight and pride in their eyes as the culmination of months of laborious effort was reached and it must have warmed the hearts of the teachers and others who made this scene possible, to see how greatly their efforts were appreciated.

ADVICE FOR GARDENERS BY COUNTY BUREAU

We must control the lice or they will "eat" our vegetables for us. A previous story told the lice situation, but gardeners have not watched their gardens carefully and the result now is that the gardens in all too many cases are being eaten up by these little aphids or lice. It is very difficult to hit these insects with spray material when the foliage starts curling. One should spray the under surface of the foliage with a fine mist of nicotine sulphate and soap, just as soon as the lice first make their appearance. If this has not been done yet, it should be done now upon many of the vegetables. Lice will be found on radishes, turnips, cucumbers, carrots, parsnips, lettuce and most of the other vegetables. Parsnips seem to be most badly infested this year.

Those gardeners who have a three-gallon tank would do well to have made an angle elbow for use on the end of their short extension rod so that they can stand up straight and still spray upwards, thus reaching the under surface of the foliage. Soap should always be added to Black Leaf 40 when it is used alone. The usual suggestion is to use 1½ teaspoons of Black Leaf 40 and one cubic inch of soap to one gallon of water. The soap helps as a spreader and sticker for the material.

FBI in Yucca

The writer has been visiting gardens in the eastern part of the county recently and finds that the majority of the gardeners have had trouble getting a good start this year; there are lots of skips in their rows. These should be filled in just as soon as discovered. It has cost about so much per square foot to prepare the soil and fertilize the soil for the crop which will be entirely lost if the garden is not planted to its maximum. It is not too late to put in string beans and an early variety of sweet corn can still be successfully planted this week. Cabbage, Kohlrabi, cauliflower, winter beets also may be set or planted at this time.

Watch Out For Two Diseases

Cucumbers and muskmelons sometimes have mysterious complaints and get the dying habit without any apparent cause. The two commonest of these ailments are "wilt" and "downy mildew." The latter is the most destructive pest in the way of a plant disease that hits the cucurbits, as the members of the family are known. It is a fungus disease and Bordeaux mixture is the remedy. It is an excellent idea to be on the safe side and give the cukes and melons a good spraying with Bordeaux as soon as they start to run. It is much easier than attacking the disease after it appears.

The symptoms are angular spots on the leaves, which at first are not well defined but later assume distinct form, the older leaves turning yellow and the small leaves at the ends of the vine going last. The under side of the leaves will show a faint purplish color on these spots. This pest often does not appear at all. Again it will raise havoc. It generally appears the latter half of the summer. It is a good plan to use a little preventive.

"Wilt," just as its name denotes, is a general droop of the foliage of the vine which dies without any apparent good reason. An insect carries this spore which causes the trouble by clogging the veins of the plant. Bordeaux with some arsenate in combination is the remedy for this trouble.

Leaf blight sometimes attacks muskmelons and makes short work of them. It appears in the shape of round spots which rapidly increase in size. Bordeaux spraying is the remedy.

A wise gardener will spray his melons and cucumbers once every ten days with Bordeaux mixture as soon as they begin to make vine. The young growth should be sprayed with care. Whole crops may be saved by this preventive work.

Stop Cutting Asparagus

Ordinary years, commercial gardeners as well as home gardeners do not cut their asparagus much later than the latter part of June. This year the season has been a little late and growers have planned to cut through the 4th of July demand. By the end of this week there will be practically no commercial growers who think anything of their asparagus plants, cutting: home gardeners should follow this practice. It is well to add a liberal application of quickly available fertilizer, or else a lot of hen manure in order that the plants may recover from the strain placed upon them during the cutting season and grow a large root system for the coming year.

In one day, last May, 3,050,000 marks were placed as bets on races in Germany.

TEXTILE WORKERS

Plan to Raise $1,000,000 Between Now and Labor Day

John Hanley of this city, a member of the international executive board of the United Textile Workers of America has received a communication from international headquarters instructing him to bring to the attention of the Lowell Textile council the matter of the $1,000,000 fund, which the United Textile Workers are planning to raise between now and Labor day, and the subject will be explained by Mr. Hanley at the next meeting of the council Friday night.

The movement for the raising of a $1,000,000 fund started at the last meeting of the executive board of the United Textile Workers, which was held in New York May 30 to June 2, when it was voted to instruct the various councils of the organization to organize a campaign in their respective cities, each council to be given a quota and to raise its ascribed amount through subscriptions from the textile workers and the public if necessary.

In a recent interview on this matter, International President John Golden said there will be no general strike in the textile industry unless on reopening mills, which are at present shut down attempts are made to reduce wages or lengthen working hours.

"There is undoubtedly a depression in the textile industry, in spite of all arguments to the contrary presented by those who refuse to admit that conditions are not as prosperous as they have been for the past few days," Mr. Golden declared. "The overall picture and 'wear old clothes' movements have taken a strong hold of a great many people and their effect is actually being felt to no little extent by the manufacturers. I believe, however, that in the natural course of events conditions will right themselves, and the market will come back strong again."

Mr. Golden told of his own observations, which have convinced him that even many business men of means have determined to "wear what clothes they have as long as they can."

"I think the majority of the workers understand the situation," Mr. Golden declared. "They are willing to cooperate with the manufacturers as far as possible. The manufacturers, however, should see that wage reductions and reductions in the forces are not the proper ways to go about the solution of this problem. A far more equitable way would be to reduce production by working part time—three or four days a week—without reducing the number of employees. In this way, when activity in the market is resumed, the manufacturer will have his organization intact and will be able to increase his production in proportion to the demand, without any serious difficulties."

"For these reasons, I think this solution is the most advantageous to the manufacturer, and fairest to the worker, since it imposes no severe hardship on anyone."

The $1,000,000 fund which the textile workers are raising will be used as a "last line of defense" in the event of an attempt on the part of employers to take from the workers such concessions in wages and hours as they have obtained and does not mean, Mr. Golden pointed out, that the union is planning any fight, "unless forced to it."

"The name of the fund is self-explanatory," Mr. Golden said. "The individual unions have their own 'strike' funds. This new fund will be to defend conditions and wages the workers have already obtained."

The fact that many mills are shut down, and strikes are in progress in several other places; the international president said, might mean that a percentage of the total of $1,000,000 could not be raised at this time, but it would not defer launching of the campaign for the fund.

VICTORY MEDALS FOR THE MARINES

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—Victory medals in commemoration of the world war will be issued not later than October 1, according to an announcement made today by the major general commandant of the marine corps. Following the delay in securing the proper ribbon and dies it was found that the marine corps could not begin its distribution until the army's needs had been provided for.

In addition to the battle clasps and citation stars authorized by the war department a considerable proportion of the medals, having served with the navy both ashore and afloat, are entitled to other marks authorized for certain service by the navy department. Accurate lists of all men who are entitled to battle clasps, citation stars and to the insignia authorized by the navy department will be issued as early as possible to all posts and recruiting stations of the marine corps. Men who are entitled only to the medal and ribbon will not be shown on these lists but will be issued the medal and ribbon on presentation of their discharge certificates at posts and recruiting stations. Marines who are entitled to both the medal and any of the insignia authorized by the war or navy department will be carefully accounted for on the lists.

As fast as received a liberal supply of medals, ribbons, battle clasps, citation stars and the navy insignia will be forwarded to posts and recruiting stations and advanced publicity will be given in due time. A preliminary order for 75,000 medals has already been placed. The issuance of medals and insignia will be endorsed on the discharge certificate of each man now out of service.

Women as well as men are made miserable by kidney and bladder trouble. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney medicine, is highly recommended by thousands. Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that so many people say it has proved to be just the remedy needed in thousands of even the most distressing cases.

plained to Tingaling after everybody had chosen a footstool to sit on. (You see, Tommy had nothing but footstools.) "I haven't enough cupboards to keep all my shoes in, and they are dreadful in the way," he said. "You just ought to see my bedroom! There are shoes everywhere; I even have them hanging on the gas jet, and sitting on the window sills, and the mantel-piece and the bureau.

"Why don't you keep them in the drawers?" asked Tingaling. He didn't wish to bother the Fairy Queen about more cupboards just now for her tenants in the Land-of-Deer-Knows-Where, when carpenters were getting paid like goldsmiths. So he tried to help Tommy to find another way out of his dilemma.

"Drawers?" exclaimed Tommy in disgust. "And where, pray, do you suppose I keep my socks? I've got so many socks that I never can keep them sorted as it is, and half the time I go out with golf stockings on some of my legs and fancy silk ones of every color on the others. And darned baskets! You've no notion of what my weekly darnings are!"

Everybody was quiet at that, for everybody was trying to imagine what Tommy's weekly darnings would be like. It took so much multiplying to count a thousand times seven baths a week (which means clean clothes, of course) with extra additions for parties. Everyone knows you can't wear the same stocking to a party, that you've been digging garden in!

FEDERAL RETURN ON CAPITAL STOCK

Forms for the federal return on capital stock, and copies of the tax regulations have been mailed from the office of Internal Revenue Collector John J. Mitchell to 15,000 corporations in Massachusetts that filed returns last year. It is estimated by revenue officials that about 2000 more corporations will be added to the records this year.

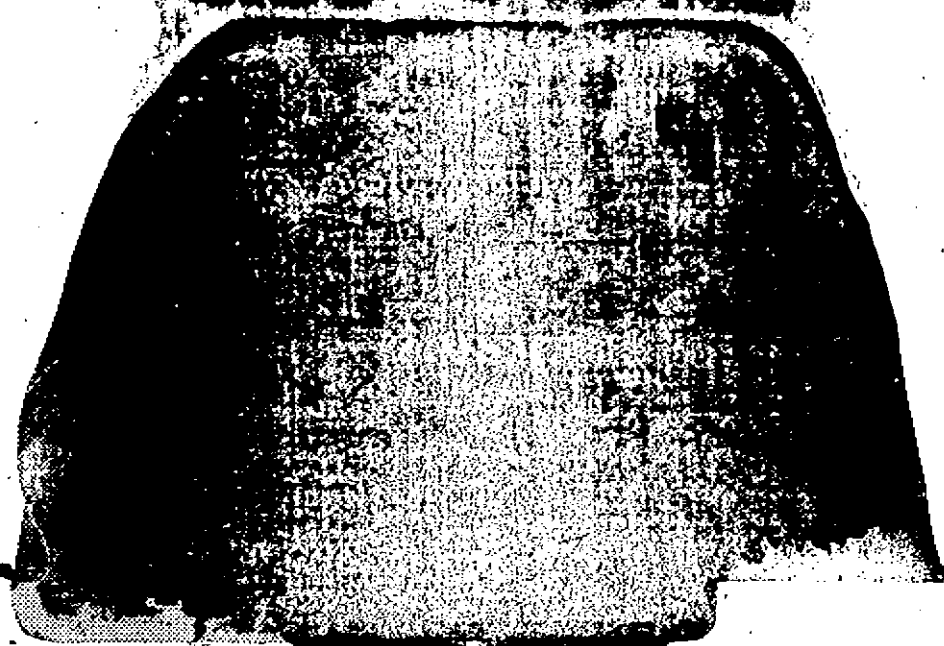

Every corporation that transacted any business prior to July 1, 1920, and was in business subsequent to that date, must file a capital stock return on or before July 31, 1920. The tax is based on the fair value of the stock as determined by three exhibits, (a) the asset value, which is a condensed balance sheet as of the closing date of the fiscal year; (b) quotations on outside sales prices on recognized stock exchanges or the New York curb; (c) capitalization of income.

Firestone Giant Cushion

This truck tire bridges the gap between Solids and Pneumatics, and, we believe, answers the problem of more truck users in more lines of business than any other heavy-duty truck tire built.

It combines great resiliency with long mileage. At a cost only slightly higher than that of Solid Tires of equal rated size.

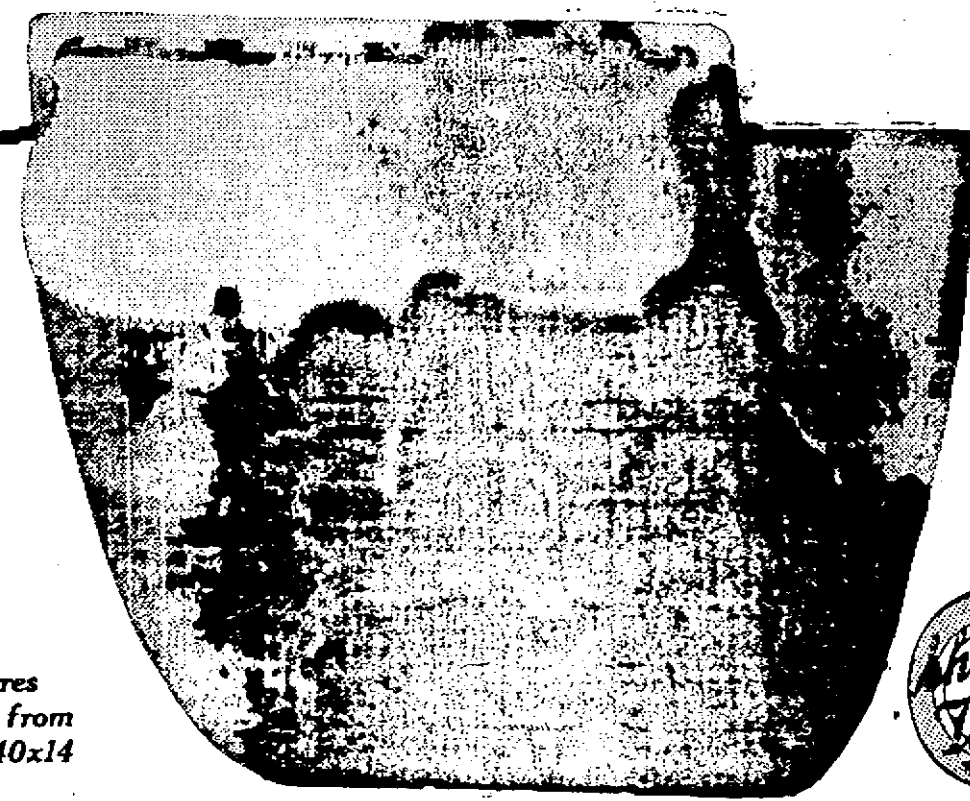

Its truck-mile cost and tire-mile cost in most instances is much lower even than solid equipment.

Note the contour of the cross section—the extra amount of rubber, width of tread. This gives broader road contact, more effective traction, greater cushioning to the load and longer life for tire and truck.

No wheel changes necessary. No change of gear ratio required. Fits any S.A.E. Base. Can be applied to any standard truck wheel without delay and without additional expense. Complies with highway laws—municipal, state or federal.

The Cushion Tire is Firestone's answer to the majority of truck needs today.

MARION PAYS TRIBUTE TO SEN. HARDING

MARION, Ohio, July 6.—Marion yesterday paid tribute to Senator Harding, the republican candidate for the presidency, upon his return, accompanied by Mrs. Harding, to his home here from Washington for the first time since his nomination. It was a big day for the little Ohio city and one that will go down in its history.

The celebration began early in the day and lasted until night when in the presence of a crowd of home folk that crowded the spacious town of the Harding residence and overflowed to the opposite side of the street, Senator Harding was officially welcomed by Mr. Crissinger, president of the Marion Civic Association. The senator replied in a brief speech in which he expressed one man government and urged the restoration of normal conditions as a steady force for civilization, which he said has been "rev-

Red Pills and Female Weakness

When a woman complains of persistent pains and discomforts, one is safe in saying that she is troubled with a malady peculiar to her sex, and that she suffers from that disease, or aggregation of diseases, which is generally called Female Weakness.

This disease is more frequently met in married women and women at the change of life, but still it also attacks young girls who have to work for their living. Female Weakness may be caused by various reasons, such as exposure to cold, lack of proper care, hard work, lack of nutrition, etc., etc., but the main cause, and one which never fails to bring that disease on as a result, is Anemia.

Anemia will thin the blood, and lower the strength of its victim, and as soon as a woman becomes anemic, the various symptoms which are usually known as female weakness will make their appearance. These symptoms are pains in the stomach, kidneys, often headaches, and always a tired feeling, and seldom good digestion, always bearing-down pains, irregular and painful periods.

Walking, even the fact of remaining standing for a certain time, and the least exertion, will increase the symptoms. If these symptoms are let alone, and if nothing is done by the patient, they will rapidly increase, and are apt to bring on more serious trouble.

The best treatment for Anemia, and consequently for female weakness, which as a rule accompanies Anemia, are Red Pills for Pale and Weak Women, and all women ought to start taking them at the first symptoms of weakness, and not wait until their trouble becomes chronic, their health broken, and their constitution debilitated by nervous symptoms, stomach trouble, and irregularities of all kinds.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's, they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price. Franco-American Chemical Company, Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.

ered by the supreme upheaval of all the world.

"Let me say to you, friends and neighbors," said the republican nominee, "if I believed in one-man government, if I believed the superman were necessary to appeal to the sober sense of the republic and ask our people to plant their feet in secure and forward paths once more, I would not be here in the capacity which has inspired your greeting.

"Let us pledge ourselves anew one and all that this heritage handed to us through the heroism and sacrifices of the founding fathers shall be held sacred, unbridled and undimmed, the American nationality shall be the inspiration of the myriads of Americans of the future even as it stirs our hearts today."

Partisanship took no part in yesterday's celebration and both speakers carefully avoided any reference to politics. Mr. Crissinger in his speech paid a tribute to Mrs. Harding in connection with the success attained by the senator while Senator Harding in concluding introduced his wife as a "faithful friend who knows my faults, but has stuck to me."

Mrs. Harding blushingly acknowledged the tribute and bowed while the crowd cheered.

Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, manager in the pre-convention campaign, was also introduced by the senator as "one of the best scrappers in the world."

If the admonition of Mr. Crissinger, himself a democrat, comes true, Senator Harding will ride the democratic mule into the White House next November. "I admonish my fellow citizens," said Mr. Crissinger, "that he will ride the democratic mule into the White House in November as president of the United States."

Mr. Crissinger added that he knew "your enthusiasm and appreciation will prompt your votes to be cast irrespective of party ties so as to make it possible for each of you to extend the right hand of fellowship to Florence Harding as the first lady of the land and to Warren G. Harding as the president of the United States."

Following a recital of Senator Harding's early life, from barefoot country lad, Mr. Crissinger declared the senator "is neither too proud to fight nor too proud to work," that he is no "silk stocking" business man but a "real fellow, a man who thoroughly knows his business and does it, and the printer's rule which he always carries in his rabbit foot."

But Senator Harding did not receive all the tribute. He was compelled to share it about 50-50 with Mrs. Harding in the welcoming ceremonies. How she had shared in the trials and triumphs of her husband were related

TEN MILE RACE ON NORTH COMMON

Coutu won the 10-mile handicap race yesterday afternoon on the North common. Crowe, who was leading, suffered with cramps in the final stages and was forced to yield in the eleventh lap. From this time on Coutu was sure of the race and finished in first place in 59 minutes and 45 seconds. Wells, a six-minute handicap man, broke the tape in 56 minutes, and Salmon, the 82-year-old star, with a three minute handicap, trotted in third with the second best running time of 63 minutes and 55 seconds. Morse was fourth and Neil fifth.

Several thousand people witnessed the event and although the race was interesting from beginning to end, a winner could not be picked until the 15th lap.

Supt. Kernan and Mayor Thompson were the sponsors for the event and they were assisted by Commissioner Salmon and several others. Ten names were listed but the following took part: Coutu, started from scratch, Salmon, Crowe, Neil, Morse and Wells. Neil, Morse and Wells started with a six minute handicap and Salmon and Crowe started with a three minute handicap. Mat. McCann, the starter, sent the men off shortly after 2 o'clock. Through the first seven laps Wells held

LONDON, July 6.—Turkish nationalist troops Monday occupied Beicos, on the Asiatic shore of the Bosphorus about 10 miles from Constantinople and opposite the allied headquarters on the European side, according to a despatch to the Mail from Constantinople. Fighting with British and Greek troops in the town followed the entry of the nationalists.

The British fleet, the report says, bombarded the Turkish positions. The nationalists, however, continue to hold Beicos, the allied troops having been withdrawn.

To Have Perfect Skin
Throughout the Summer

This is the season when she who would have a lily-white complexion should turn her thoughts to mercellized wax. The firm friend of the summer girl. Nothing so effectively overcomes the scorching effects of sun, wind, dust, and dirt. The wax literally absorbs the scorched, discolored, withered, or coarsened skin, bringing forth a brand new skin, clean, soft and pitifully beautiful. It also unclogs the pores, removing blackheads and increasing the skin's breathing capacity. An ounce of mercellized wax, obtainable at any drug store, applied nightly like cold cream, and washed off mornings, will gradually improve even the worst complexion. There is nothing better for the removal of tan, freckles or blotches.—Adv.

YARDS IN 9 4-5 SEC.

WORCESTER, July 6.—Boston athletes made a clean-up of the track meet in the Greendale Fair grounds yesterday of the Alhambra council. Knights of Columbus. The feature event was the high hurdle, in which J. J. Sullivan of the B.A.A., starting with a six-yard handicap, breasted the tape about an inch ahead of E. J. Thomson, the Dartmouth champion. Some of the officials thought it was a dead heat, but the judges gave the place to Sullivan.

In the 100 yards open, W. D. Hayes, from scratch, won in a spectacular spring in 9 4-5s, the fastest century ever run on the track.

The crowd was also thrilled with aeroplane stunts by Lieut. Mills Averill and entertained with a mule race, won by Richard Kane, and a horse race, won by J. B. Brown's George Muscovite.

These requirements stipulate that the first aid room must contain not less than 200 square feet of floor space and be provided with a partition setting off one portion of the room so that injured or sick persons may be treated in privacy. The room must be so located as to receive ventilation directly from the outside air and so as to guarantee a maximum of quiet and privacy, as well as accessibility to those requiring treatment, the regulations provide.

Declare Public Bigger Than Principals at Issue

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—The strike of shopmen of the Pennsylvania system, set for yesterday, has been deferred indefinitely, according to an announcement made by Harry S. Jeffery, leader of the six local allied shopcrafts. Decision to call off the walk-out was reached after conference of labor leaders with government officials and W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Jeffery said he and other leaders had decided that the public is a bigger factor than the principals at issue between the railroad and the shopmen and that they have placed their case before Gen. Atterbury, confident he will review it impartially and adjust the grievances to the satisfaction of all concerned.

A committee, named at the conference Friday, visited Gen. Atterbury Saturday. The general received a list of the men's grievances and he gave assurance that he would make immediate investigation. Before the Pittsburgh conference Jeffery and some of his colleagues went to Washington, where officials of the department of justice urged them not to take any drastic action at this time. A mass meeting of Pennsylvania shopmen will be held this week. Leaders will explain to the men the reasons for not ordering a cessation of work.

The strike of the yardmen continues. Railroaders maintain that the men who have taken the places of the strikers are doing their work so efficiently that the "vacationists" are not missed.

ALLIES AND GERMANS IN CONFERENCE

SPA, Belgium, July 6.—Allied and German delegates to the conference to be held here this week met yesterday morning for their first session, which lasted only twenty minutes. Adjournment was then taken until two o'clock this afternoon.

Konstantin Febrbach, German chancellor and head of that country's delegation, kept the allied premiers waiting for 10 minutes, being late in reaching Villa Fraincuse, where the conference is being held. Premier Millerand of France was prompt as usual, being the first to arrive. Count Storza, Italian foreign minister, was next to arrive, being followed by Viscount Chinda, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain; Premier Lloyd George was the last of the allied representatives to reach the villa. He wore a shiny silk hat, but Premier Millerand appeared wearing the democratic felt hat familiar to those who know him.

When Herr Febrbach's car rolled up the winding hill road to the beautiful Louis XVI villa, the allied delegates were all assembled—three from each delegation—and an army of photographers waited. When the German chancellor alighted from the car he smilingly consented to be photographed and then entered the villa with alert step. He was followed by two of his colleagues, after which the session was declared opened by M. Delacroix, the Belgian premier, who presided.

M. Delacroix read the order of business as follows: First, procedure; second, disarmament; third, reparations; and fourth, those guilty of war crimes.

Herr Febrbach signified approval of the order of business and procedure and said he was glad of this opportunity to meet and talk with the allies.

The German chancellor declared he had come to the conference with the intention of executing the treaty of Versailles. M. Delacroix then referred to the notes regarding disarmament presented by the allies to Germany, and asked what reply the Germans had to make.

Herr Febrbach said that the war minister and Major-General Von Seeckt, chief of the German general staff, who were expected to attend the conference had not yet arrived. He suggested that in their absence Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, be permitted to make some observations on the subject.

Premiers Millerand, Lloyd George and Delacroix retired for a private conference on this question, after which Mr. Lloyd George said the allies saw no object in discussing disarmament with anyone excepting those who were responsible. He proposed that the conference adjourn until these two delegates should arrive, and it was decided to suspend the session until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

They hung to the overturned boat for two hours. When they reached a point between Conanicut and Prudence island they saw the navy raft, and as Lawrence Chapman, who had been sailing the catboat all day, was weakening, it was decided that the best thing to do was to swim to the raft.

Mr. Chapman aided his son, but before the raft had been reached Lawrence began to go under. His father still clung to his son and, with the assistance of Walcott, lifted him to the raft, where it was found he was dead.

Without means of signalling any passing craft, Mr. Chapman and Walcott were forced to await daylight, and it was not until 5:30 o'clock that a tug discovered their plight and took them aboard.

FITZGERALD WILL BE LAID UP FOR WEEKS

BOSTON, July 6.—Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald was overwhelmed with messages of sympathy yesterday. They came by telephone, by personal calls at his summer home at Weymouth, and even some by telegraph from distant friends who were concerned in the extent of the injuries he received when he was run over by an auto truck at the Saturday baseball game at Weymouth.

The ex-mayor has a fractured kneecap, as well as bad lacerations of the muscles of both legs. An operation will be necessary in a few days and it will be six or seven weeks before he will be around, and a longer time before he is about again with anything approximating his old-time activity.

Owing to the general excitement at the field when the ex-Mayor was injured, there was some confusion regarding as to just how the accident happened.

The ex-mayor, who has two sons, Jack, pitcher, and Tom, third base, playing with the Bayside nine, attends all its games. Because of his tireless activity and the fact that the younger boys will obey his wishes at all times while the play is in progress, Sunday he acts as sort of a special policeman, as usual, he was all over the field.

When some youngsters began to encroach on the playing field at first base he went over to them and was shoofing ted to make some observations on the subject.

ALL NIGHT ON RAFT WITH HIS DEAD SON

PROVIDENCE, July 6.—After having held onto the body of his dead son, Lawrence, whom he had been unable to get safely to a U. S. Navy target raft when their boat capsized shortly after 6:30 o'clock Sunday night, Frank Chapman, 45 Atlantic ave., superintendent of the N. W. Duntion Company, was rescued yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock by a tug and taken to Bristol, whence he came to his home here.

Mr. Chapman, his son, Lawrence, aged 20, a member of the class of '11 of Brown University, and George Walcott, 20, of Fruit Hill, went to Newport in a catboat Sunday. When returning their boat was struck by a squall and upset in the vicinity of Conanicut island.

They hung to the overturned boat for two hours. When they reached a point between Conanicut and Prudence island they saw the navy raft, and as Lawrence Chapman, who had been sailing the catboat all day, was weakening, it was decided that the best thing to do was to swim to the raft.

SHAKY NERVES

Unless you are well advanced in years, your hand should be steady. If your hand, your thumb or foot trembles—when you try to hold it still, if the lines are shaky when you write, if you have tremors of your lips or chin, your nerves need strengthening.

These signs often precede a serious nervous breakdown. In meeting this condition, it is necessary to exercise care in the diet and take a nervous tonic. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain ingredients that build up the nerves at the same time that they tone up the system in general, and their value in preventing nervous disorders from developing can not be disputed.

They are especially recommended for nervous, run-down people because they are a non-alcoholic tonic.

If you have any nervous troubles write today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for their little book "Diseases of the Nervous System." It gives methods of home treatment and directions regarding hygiene that every one should have.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by your own druggist or will be sent direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Adv.

AUTO HIT CYCLE ON E. MERRIMACK ST.

At the corner of East Merrimack and Fayette streets Sunday forenoon an auto driven by Mr. William Hiltz of Berkeley avenue struck a motorcycle and side car driven by Albert Grant of Fayette street. Grant was driving out of Fayette street and Hiltz was approaching the corner at a fair gait, going outward. He struck the motorcycle with considerable force, sending it careening to the other side of the street. Mr. Grant was thrown out, but beyond some scratches and bruises, he did not seem to be seriously injured. He had a fortunate escape. That corner is very dangerous and many accidents have occurred there.

15,000 PERSONS IN PANIC

Ten Injured by Fireworks

Explosion at Somerville Celebration

BOSTON, July 6.—Fifteen thousand men, women and children were thrown into the wildest sort of panic at Lincoln park, Somerville, last night, when ten were seriously injured and scores more trampled on and burned when a mammoth set piece of fireworks went wrong and hurled high explosives into the crowd.

Dynamite bombs threw flames and great pieces of wood into the crowd. Other sections of the huge display piece shot ball after ball of fire among the women and children who fought to escape from the field.

Screams of the injured and terrified women and youngsters sounded even above the crash of the exploding fireworks—the "volcano" eruption scheduled as the last of the display of the evening.

The park, located just above Union square, was jammed to capacity. All around the roped-off enclosure where experienced men were setting off the fireworks was a holiday throng from all over the city and hundreds from surrounding places. The applause had been great all during the long display and the crowd waited the last piece of the evening.

A huge set piece of a pinwheel sort had leads running down to a mass of buried bombs. A man lighted the fuse and the crowd applauded as the wheels began to spin. Then without the slightest warning something went wrong. The police said they believed the piece toppled over.

FIVE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

As a result of an automobile accident which occurred in Gorham street near the Edison cemetery last evening, five persons, who received minor injuries, were treated at St. John's hospital. The injured and their injuries were as follows: George L. Feldman, 50 Essex street, Chelsea, operator of the car, cut over right eye; Philip Smith, 8 Dennison street, Roxbury, cut on the head; Lillian Kanosky, 132 Blossom street, Lynn, probable fracture of the left wrist; Anna Zenas, 97 Flint street, Lynn, cut on forehead. These four people were riding in the car. The fifth party who was injured was Mary C. Canepi of 10 Union street, this city, who was walking along the sidewalk at the time of the accident and who was struck by the car. The driver, Mr. Feldman, claims he lost control of his steering gear at a point near the Edison cemetery in Gorham street and as a result the automobile climbed over the sidewalk, striking the Canepi woman.

Cox Nominated

night session. There were 22 recorded yesterday, 14 at the all-day session and eight last night.

Cox Began With 134 Votes

Cox began the fight with 134 on the first ballot and climbed steadily until the 15th, when he had 463½. His lowest vote after that was on the 35th, the first taken at last night's session when it fell to 316½.

A curious thing in the voting for McAdoo was that he received 266 on the first ballot, the lowest cast for him, and 256 on the last ballot. His high-water mark was 467 on the 40th ballot. At that time Cox had 490. Palmer opened with 256 votes. His highest vote was 267½ on the seventh ballot.

As the Cox total passed that of McAdoo and surged upward the McAdoo managers made a desperate fight to stop it in time. Their candidate twice had held the lead and lost it, however, and many delegates supporting him had given up hope that he ever could be nominated. On the last four ballots McAdoo lost steadily, several solid state delegations deserting his banner for that of the leader.

Stomped to Cox

Besides, the scattering Palmer delegates, who at first had swung to McAdoo drifted over into the Cox camp in increasing numbers and the Ohio man began to take a commanding place in the balloting. Once he had more than a majority the fight was easy. At the end of another day of furious struggle, the convention stomped to Cox, flung aside its rules and made his nomination unanimous with a roaring shout.

Terrific Uproar Follows Nomination

A terrific uproar followed. The whole mass of delegates threw themselves into a final wild demonstration, greater than any of the oracles of the day had predicted. In the midst of the din, Chairman Robinson succeeded in restoring a semblance of order to get the adjournment until noon so that Governor Cox's wishes as to his terminus could be learned.

E. M. Moore of Youngstown, national committeeman from Ohio, and leader of the tireless and uphill fight that won the nomination for the Ohio governor said it had been made without promises.

36 Ballots at Baltimore in 1912

The struggle was exceeded in voting duration in democratic annals only by the fight at Baltimore in 1912 which gave the president his first nomination on the 45th ballot.

Fresh from an over Sunday study of the 22 ballots taken last week, the convention went to work Monday apparently hopelessly tied up in a triangular deadlock between Cox, McAdoo and Palmer.

Chairman Urges Speed

Leaders had no predictions to make, although they then thought Cox, with a lead of some 69 votes over McAdoo and more than 200 over Palmer on the 22nd roll call, which events proved to be just the half way point, had a decided advantage. Neither Palmer nor McAdoo supporters were daunted, however, and the 23rd poll, first of the 22 more the convention was to go through during the day and night to follow, showed their forces relatively as strongly entrenched as ever. Time and again, the rival forces launched their noisy demonstrations in an effort to force the issue. The roll calls went through swiftly except for those interruptions. Chairman Robinson and his aides on the platform kept up constant pressure for speed. No noon recess was taken.

Galleries Again Jammed

The convention drove ahead through two new surges, one toward Palmer and the other toward McAdoo, neither of which produced any decided results. All three of the leaders were going strongly when a dinner recess gave opportunity for the final settling of lines on which the battle would be carried to a finish.

The galleries again were jammed and delegates were kept up to a point where shouts and cheers greeted changes of single votes. A slight continued gain for McAdoo on the first night ballot sent his partisans off into a roaring, postulation parade about the hall in which western and southern state standbys were prominent, but which no amount of shouting could induce New York or Pennsylvania to join. New York had reached a division of 29 for McAdoo and 70 for Cox, on which it stuck throughout, while Pennsylvania as steadily had voted 75 of its 75 delegates for Palmer.

With the 31st ballot, however, Palmer strength took another drop. Amidst wild jubilation by McAdoo supporters, Chairman Robinson fought for order and led former Representative Carlin of Virginia, Palmer's manager, up to the speaker's stand. The crowd hushed. It recognized Carlin and knew that his appearance forecast only one thing, the release of the Palmer delegates and a break up in the long deadlock. Men halted where they stood in the aisles to listen. Corridors poured back hundreds of loungers to the floor to pack the doorways and jam even the entrances to the galleries. An electric feeling of expectancy was in the air.

Carlin briefly stated that Attorney General Palmer was not willing longer to delay a nomination and authorized the complete and unconditional release of his delegates. A shout went up only to be quickly stifled, while Chairman Robinson announced a 20-minute recess so that delegations might be polled for new alignments and the change in the situation be considered before another vote was taken.

McAdoo and Cox Forces on Jump

While the recess was on the galleries sat tense, staring down into the great pit below where delegates scrambled and tumbled through the aisles conferring to appraise the situation before determining their course. McAdoo and Cox workers worked up to the maximum effort to take advantage of the break. The floor hummed like the stock exchange on a panic day. Great clusters of Cox and McAdoo workers gathered about the Palmer groups, struggling for attention and to enlist under their own standard the army about to be disbanded.

Break Up of Palmer Vote

Back in their seats again under the banging urge of the gavel, the delegates awaited the 35th roll call. The effect of Mr. Palmer's release was noticeable at once. By twos and threes and larger groups, delegates previously voting unchanging for him went to other candidates, each chance that brought gain to McAdoo or Cox let loose a new roar. The faithful Pennsylvanians insisting on casting one more vote for Palmer as a final tribute to him. The delegation chairman's statement went unheeded for the most part and the great block of votes went down for Palmer amid a surprised hush.

Cox Forces Secure Victory

The Cox forces greeted victory signs there. The Cox band trooped into the gallery and hurled the strains of the Cox battle song, "Ohio, Ohio," down into the din below. Again time was required to get quiet enough to start a new roll call.

When Pennsylvania was reached the delegation asked for a poll. One by one a big McAdoo majority in the Pennsylvania ranks was disclosed and the Cox supporters looked a little disturbed. The drift to the Ohio standard was on, however, and even the more than two score Palmer men who joined from the Pennsylvania forces could not push McAdoo back into the lead.

Fight to Adjourn Fails

A fight to adjourn for the night was started by McAdoo supporters against shouts of "No, no" all over the floor. The motion went down on a vote that left no doubt of the convention's determination to fight it out then and there. The 41st ballot was started.

Both McAdoo and Cox gained ground and McAdoo supporters dug themselves in grimly determined on a last ditch fight. The 42d roll call was started. It showed new drifts to Cox as the votes were shouted back to the platform from the unapproachable murmur among the delegates now regardless of the fatigue of the prolonged fight, although the great galleries above them were by then almost vacant. Great blocks of empty seats showed where worn out spectators had given it up by midnight and gone home expecting another day.

Georgia Deserts McAdoo

When Georgia was reached the delegation chairman leaped to his feet and shouted that his state, formerly in McAdoo ranks, would join hands to Ohio "to name the next president." He cast the solid Georgia vote for Cox and the shout that followed seemed to rock the building.

McAdoo followers were still holding grimly. Again the Texas block of 40 votes went in for him. The western states which led the way in his drives, stuck hard, and even the fact that Cox had swept beyond the first majority vote recorded for any candidate did not shake them loose.

Riot of Noise at 43d Roll Call

The 43d roll call began in a riot of noise that made the roll audible only as the surges of sound paused to let the figures reach the clerks. Little by little the drift to the Cox column continued gaining momentum as it ran. "Get into the wagon," roared a man in the galleries and the Cox rosters took it up. Votes for other candidates than Cox or McAdoo reached the platform.

LAND REVERTS TO LOCKS AND CANALS
Arent the argument advanced by Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy at this morning's meeting of the municipal council in his opposition to the creation of an addition to the Vocational school in Broadway that the city would probably take the site in question over as a playground or park, Commissioner George E. Marchand, author of the order, said after the meeting that such a project would not be possible, inasmuch as the land on which the school is located will revert to the Locks & Canals the minute the city ceases using it for schoolhouse purposes.

This is true of a number of school sites in Lowell. Mr. Marchand says. An agreement was made between the city and the Locks & Canals to this effect some time ago and still holds good.

ONE KILLED, THREE INJURED IN RIOT

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., July 6.—One man was killed and three are known to have been wounded in a night riot Sunday at Roderfield, details of which began drifting into Williamson yesterday morning, but which at noon were far from complete.

According to the stories told to the authorities, the miners at Roderfield formed a union organization on Friday, and Sunday afternoon were holding a meeting in the open air when they were fired upon from the brush on the mountain side. Many of the miners who were armed sought cover. It was asserted, and returned the fire, the shooting lasting for some time. It has not yet been made clear just who made up the attacking party.

A company of the state constabulary which was on duty here during the sessions of the special grand jury which inquired into the Matewan shooting, in which 10 men lost their lives, and which made its report Saturday night, left here for its home station at Beckley, and should have been in the neighborhood of Roderfield soon after the shooting. It was reported that this company had taken charge of the situation at Roderfield. Telephone and telegraph wires through that section were put out of order Friday by a series of storms and until communication is restored the authorities say they will know little of the details.

When the news of the Roderfield battle reached here, the authorities were notified that a party of men were preparing to march to Roderfield. B. R. Page, said to be a union organizer, was arrested, as was a deputy sheriff, and quiet was restored.

LAWRENCE STREET

BRIDGE QUESTION

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department has received a reply from Lewis E. Moore, engineering expert of the state department of public utilities, to a letter forwarded Mr. Moore about a week and a half ago asking him to assist in having the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. continue to run its cars over the Lawrence street bridge during its reconstruction this summer.

Since that time, the railway company through its engineer, Mr. Walker, has agreed to give service during the rebuilding of the bridge and consequently Mr. Moore's efforts have not been required. In his letter to Commissioner Murphy, however, Mr. Moore offers him whatever further assistance he may be able to give in connection with the reconstruction of the bridge.

GETTING BIG PUMP

IN SHAPE AGAIN

The large Allis-Chalmers pump at the West Sixth street pumping station which broke more than a month ago and seriously threatened the city's water supply, is rapidly being put in shape for use again, according to Commissioner John F. Salmon. The commissioner is eager to have the big machine pounding away as the cost of maintaining the Crook wells is eating rapidly into the finances of the department. A corps of engineers and firemen has to be kept on the job keeping these emergency wells in operation and considerable coal is being used.

The new cross-compound pump recently delivered here is also being erected rapidly at the West Sixth street station under the direction of an engineer from the Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE

The manager of the Hobson & Lawler baseball team will say that the defeat that the Saunders Market team handed his team last Thursday was a disappointment to him. When his team gets up against the market boys he will have his lineup a little stronger and will probably have Ted Hobson on the mound for he wants the next game and is confident that his team will bring home the bacon. The Hobson & Lawler team will play the A. G. Polaris team on the North common next Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

WALTER E. GUYETTE, Auctioneer
Office, 51 Central St., Lowell, Mass. Telephone 2415

At Nos. 208-210 High Street, Belvidere

THE OWNER OF THIS TWO AND ONE-HALF STORY TWO-FAMILY DWELLING, AND ABOUT 4500 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, HAS INSTRUCTED THE AUCTIONEER TO SELL AT UNRESTRICTED PUBLIC SALE TO WHOMSOEVER WILL BID THE MOST, ON

Saturday, the 10th Day of July, 1920, at 4 O'clock P. M.

On the premises regardless of any condition of the weather, we will sell to whomsoever will bid the most, this very desirable home and investment property, comprising a dwelling of two apartments, situated within eight minutes' actual and comfortable walk of Merrimack Square, and directly on the High Street line of electric, and within two minutes' walk of the Andover street and Oakland and Boston-Leading line.

The house is a full two and one-half story structure, of the double family type, containing six and seven rooms to each, respectively. The tenement at No. 208 has seven rooms. On the first floor are kitchen, dining room, parlor and living room. On the second floor are three chambers and toilet, and an unfinished attic on the floor above. In the basement, the cellar has toilet and sink and bath. The tenement is well supplied with closet room and is rented, the present tenant having occupied the premises for the past six years, at a rental of $15 per month or $125 per year. The tenement at No. 210 has six rooms, kitchen, dining room and parlor on the first floor, and three chambers and toilet on the second floor, and an unfinished attic on the floor above, has good cellar and bath, and is supplied with furnace heat, and is rented at a sum of $15 per month or $125 per year. The premises have a total income of $20 per month or $240 per year.

The building is in very good order, has front and side entrances, and it being of the double house, plan makes it very desirable, as the tenants are entirely apart from each other.

The lot has a total area of about 4500 square feet, with a frontage on High Street of about 10 feet, is fenced on either side, has concrete walks to side entrances and splendid garden space in the rear, has sewer, gas and city water connections.

In the offering of the above described, the opportunity is here given to purchase at open competition a home and investment property, where the owner could occupy one tenement and rent the other, and the income received would pay the entire running expenses of both. The house could, owing to its plan, easily be converted with a comparatively small outlay, into a dwelling of either four or six apartments, and the owner would be assured of an immediate rental, as the property is in one of the best renting locations in the city, it being within close proximity to the principal industries and also to churches of different denominations, schools, etc.

Terms—$500 must be deposited with the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale.

By Order of GEORGE G. PARKER.

ANOTHER DEFEAT FOR MILITARISTS

PEKIN, July 5.—Militarist elements received another defeat late last night when General Hsu Chu-Cheng, resident commissioner of Inner Mongolia and commander on the northwestern frontier, was relieved of those posts. The mandate by which he was retired from his duties announced that he had been made a retired generalissimo, and will receive a pension of 1000 taels monthly, but this is considered here as a step intended only to "save the face" of the general.

The dramatic dismissal of Hsu Chu-Cheng startled Peking and gave rise to apprehension of an uprising by troops under his command who are still in the city. Many people have hurriedly deposited their valuables in foreign banks, and there is a feeling akin to panic. Officials, however, are not perturbed.

GREEKS SWEEP COUNTRY WEST OF BALOUKES

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 5.—(By Associated Press)—Greek troops have swept the country west of Baloukes clear of Turks as far north as Adramit. The Greeks also have landed large forces at Chardak on the Dardanelles. Consequently they expect soon to eliminate the Turks from the province of Bithia.

Observers who accompanied the Greeks say the Turkish forces offered little resistance, except at Pergama and outside Baloukessar.

The advance was so rapid and unexpected that the Turks were unable to destroy the railway which with its rolling stock, was left intact. It was unnecessary to shell any towns as all hoisted the white flag when the Greek forces approached.

Turkish civil officers in the surrendered territory have been continued in office.

In the Baloukessar-Panderma district, the Circassian leader, Anzevour Pasha, has a large force which supported the sultan's government but was unable to resist the nationalists because of lack of military support from the Constantinople government. As a consequence, this district has suffered severe punishment from the nationalists, who have hanged many and have levied tribute on the people.

These acts have aroused great hostility toward Mustafa Kemal, the nationalist leader.

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS WILL TALK ON LEGISLATION FOR FORMER SERVICE MEN

Congressman John Jacob Rogers, a comrade of Lowell post, American Legion, will address his brother members at the next regular meeting of the post Monday evening, July 12. The congressman will speak on legislation for former service men and inasmuch as Mr. Rogers was opposed to the soldiers' bonus bill when it came before congress recently, it is expected that his talk will be listened to with interest. A large number of veterans from neighboring legion posts are to be present.

SHARP DROP IN CORN

CHICAGO, July 6.—Unusually sharp downturns took place today in the value of corn and provisions. Under heavy selling pressure, September and December delivery of corn dropped respectively 5 cents and 8 1/2 cents from Saturday's close. September touched 1.57 1/2, and December 1.42 1/2. Big receipts and good crop conditions were the chief reasons given.

Huge stocks of provisions brought about a decline of about $1 a barrel for pork and $1 a hundredweight for lard.

Opposed to School Addition

to the order and for this reason need ed four votes to be passed. The opposition of Messrs. Murphy and Salmon killed it. Commissioner Murphy was opposed because he didn't believe the city should sink $10,000 in a building in such a dilapidated condition as the present Vocational school. Mr. Salmon doubted that the addition could be made ready for occupancy by September.

Other matters of interest at this morning's meeting was the passage of a vote directing the city solicitor to re-open the matter of abolishing the Middlesex and Fletcher street grade crossings and the acceptance of the legislative act providing for pensions the police department chauffeurs.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10:20 with all members present.

An order was adopted granting permission to the Lowell Electric Light corporation to erect poles in Ingrange street, near Suffolk.

A similar order granted permission to the New England Telephone and Telegraph company to erect poles in Crawford street. Commissioners Murphy and Marchand had reported favorably on each petition.

A hearing was held on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for one pole in Woodcock street and as there was no objection the matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

Petitions of James L. Moynihan for gasoline at 35 branch street and Frank P. Wells, garage, School street, were referred for hearings July 27.

Albert W. Phinney was appointed a surveyor of Junbar.

The petition of Annie J. Devine that the sewer in Butman road be extended southerly was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Commissioner Salmon reported favorably on the petition of Robert W. Duff for gasoline at 78 Viola street and that of Thomas W. Bagley for a garage and gasoline at 305-10 Westford street and the licenses were granted.

Jeremiah Bailey, et al, sewer in Berkeley avenue, estimated at $2675, and Vincent Lipinski, sewer in Newhall street, estimated cost, $555.

Requisitions from Commissioner Murphy for one carload of white clipped oals, two tons of shocks and two bags of coarse salt.

Loan Order Killed

Commissioner Marchand introduced an order to borrow $10,000 for an addition to the old Mann school in Broadway to be used for vocational school purposes.

Mayor Thompson explained that the order was the result of a request from the school board that some accommodations be provided for the work being done at the Vocational school. A conference between officials of the school department and members of the council had been held at which it was agreed that the most feasible plan by which to meet the situation would be to build a temporary addition to the present building.

Commissioner Murphy said he was opposed to the order because he did not believe that an addition should be erected on any building in the dilapidated condition that the Mann school is in. Some day, he said, the city will want to lay out a park in that section. He didn't believe the building was safe enough to stand an addition. Greek residents were about to construct a beautiful school nearby and he did not think that further additions to the Mann school would harmonize with their building.

The mayor said that all those matters had been carefully considered by the school department and a committee of the municipal council, but it was believed that the only practical way to meet the situation was to erect an addition.

The roll was called and Commissioners Salmon and Murphy voted "No." Inasmuch as the emergency clause was attached and four votes were required, the order was lost.

The petition of William C. Morse, representing the chauffeurs of the police department, asking the council to accept cepter 115 of the acts of 1920 granting the right of pensions to police chauffeurs, was passed without dissent.

Mayor Thompson said that these men have practically the same kind of work as regular patrolmen and often are called upon to face as great danger.
